If the offender successfully completes the treatment program before the expiration of the term of confinement, the court may convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and may place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

(iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of the community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

After June 30, 1993, this subsection (b) shall cease to have effect.

(c) When an offender commits any felony sex offense on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

Except for an offender who has been convicted of a violation of RCW 9A.44.040 or 9A.44.050, if the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

(iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community supervision; the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (c) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987. This subsection (c) does not apply to any crime committed after July 1, 1990.

(d) Offenders convicted and sentenced for a sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987, may, subject to available funds, request an evaluation by the department of corrections to determine whether they are amenable to treatment. If the offender is determined to be amenable to treatment, the offender may request placement in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department. Placement in such treatment program is subject to available funds.

(8)(a) When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense or a serious violent offense committed after July 1, 1988, but before July 1, 1990, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988, the court shall in addition to the other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to a one-year term of community placement beginning either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this subsection to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of such community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence.

(b) When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense or serious violent offense committed on or after July 1, 1990, the court shall in addition to other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to community placement for two years or up to the period of earned early release awarded pursuant to RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2), whichever is longer. The community placement shall begin either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this subsection to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of the community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence. Unless a condition is waived by the court, the terms of community placement for offenders sentenced pursuant to this section shall include the following conditions:

(i) The offender shall report to and be available for contact with the assigned community corrections officer as directed;

(ii) The offender shall work at department of corrections-approved education, employment, and/or community service;

(iii) The offender shall not consume controlled substances except pursuant to lawfully issued prescriptions;

(iv) An offender in community custody shall not unlawfully possess controlled substances; and

(v) The offender shall pay supervision fees as determined by the department of corrections.

(c) The court may also order any of the following special conditions:

(i) The offender shall remain within, or outside of, a specified geographical boundary;

(ii) The offender shall not have direct or indirect contact with the victim of the crime or a specified class of individuals;

(iii) The offender shall participate in crime-related treatment or counseling services;

(iv) The offender shall not consume alcohol;

(v) The residence location and living arrangements of a sex offender shall be subject to the prior approval of the department of corrections; or

(vi) The offender shall comply with any crime-related prohibitions.

(d) Prior to transfer to, or during, community placement, any conditions of community placement may be removed or modified so as not to be more restrictive by the sentencing court, upon recommendation of the department of corrections.

(9) If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days. Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(10) If a sentence imposed includes payment of a legal financial obligation, the sentence shall specify the total amount of the legal financial obligation owed, and shall require the offender to pay a specified monthly sum toward that legal financial obligation. Restitution to victims shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations. Any legal financial obligation that is imposed by the court may be collected by the department, which shall deliver the amount paid to the county clerk for credit. The offender's compliance with payment of legal financial obligations shall be supervised by the department. All monetary payments ordered shall be paid no later than ten years after the last date of release from confinement pursuant to a felony conviction or the date the sentence was entered. Independent of the department, the party or entity to whom the legal financial obligation is owed shall have the authority to utilize any other remedies available to the party or entity to collect the legal financial obligation. Nothing in this section makes the department, the state, or any of its employees, agents, or other persons acting on their behalf liable under any circumstances for the payment of these legal financial obligations. If an order includes restitution as one of the monetary assessments, the county clerk shall make disbursements to victims named in the order.

(11) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1) and 9.94A.142(1), a court may not impose a sentence providing for a term of confinement or community supervision or community placement which exceeds the statutory maximum for the crime as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

(12) All offenders sentenced to terms involving community supervision, community service, community placement, or legal financial obligation shall be under the supervision of the secretary of the department of corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow explicitly the instructions of the secretary including reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, and notifying the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment.

(13) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(14) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400 (1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210 (2) through (6).

(15) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court's judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

(16) As a part of any sentence, the court may impose and enforce an order that relates directly to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, prohibiting the offender from having any contact with other specified individuals or a specific class of individuals for a period not to exceed the maximum allowable sentence for the crime, regardless of the expiration of the offender's term of community supervision or community placement.

(17) In any sentence of partial confinement, the court may require the defendant to serve the partial confinement in work release ((or)), in a program of home detention, on work crew, or in a combined program of work crew and home detention.

(18) All court-ordered legal financial obligations collected by the department and remitted to the county clerk shall be credited and paid where restitution is ordered. Restitution shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations.

Sec. 4. RCW 9.94A.180 and 1988 c 154 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An offender sentenced to a term of partial confinement shall be confined in the facility for at least eight hours per day or, if serving a work crew sentence shall comply with the conditions of that sentence as set forth in RCW 9.94A.030(23) and section 2 of this act. The offender shall be required as a condition of partial confinement to report to the facility at designated times. An offender may be required to comply with crime-related prohibitions during the period of partial confinement.

(2) An offender in a county jail ordered to serve all or part of a term of less than one year in work release, work crew, or a program of home detention who violates the rules of the work release facility, work crew, or program of home detention or fails to remain employed or enrolled in school may be transferred to the appropriate county detention facility without further court order but shall, upon request, be notified of the right to request an administrative hearing on the issue of whether or not the offender failed to comply with the order and relevant conditions. Pending such hearing, or in the absence of a request for the hearing, the offender shall serve the remainder of the term of confinement as total confinement. This subsection shall not affect transfer or placement of offenders committed to the state department of corrections.

Sec. 5. RCW 9.94A.190 and 1988 c 154 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A sentence that includes a term or terms of confinement totaling more than one year shall be served in a facility or institution operated, or utilized under contract, by the state. Except as provided for in subsection (3) of this section, a sentence of not more than one year of confinement shall be served in a facility operated, licensed, or utilized under contract, by the county, or if home detention or work crew has been ordered by the court, in the residence of either the defendant or a member of the defendant's immediate family.

(2) If a county uses a state partial confinement facility for the partial confinement of a person sentenced to confinement for not more than one year, the county shall reimburse the state for the use of the facility as provided for in this subsection. The office of financial management shall set the rate of reimbursement based upon the average per diem cost per offender in the facility. The office of financial management shall determine to what extent, if any, reimbursement shall be reduced or eliminated because of funds provided by the legislature to the department of corrections for the purpose of covering the cost of county use of state partial confinement facilities. The office of financial management shall reestablish reimbursement rates each even-numbered year.

(3) A person who is sentenced for a felony to a term of not more than one year, and who is committed or returned to incarceration in a state facility on another felony conviction, either under the indeterminate sentencing laws, chapter 9.95 RCW, or under this chapter shall serve all terms of confinement, including a sentence of not more than one year, in a facility or institution operated, or utilized under contract, by the state, consistent with the provisions of RCW 9.94A.400.

The following definitions are applicable in this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Custody" means restraint pursuant to a lawful arrest or an order of a court, or any period of service on a work crew: PROVIDED, That custody pursuant to chapter 13.34 RCW and RCW 74.13.020 and 74.13.031 and chapter 13.32A RCW shall not be deemed custody for purposes of this chapter;

(2) "Detention facility" means any place used for the confinement of a person (a) arrested for, charged with or convicted of an offense, or (b) charged with being or adjudicated to be a juvenile offender as defined in RCW 13.40.020 as now existing or hereafter amended, or (c) held for extradition or as a material witness, or (d) otherwise confined pursuant to an order of a court, except an order under chapter 13.34 RCW or chapter 13.32A RCW, or (e) in any work release, furlough, or other such facility or program;

(3) "Contraband" means any article or thing which a person confined in a detention facility is prohibited from obtaining or possessing by statute, rule, regulation, or order of a court.

FIRST REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

SHB 1956

April 24, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Changing provisions for plant protection.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1956, Plant protection, have had the same under consideration and we recommend that:

The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Water Resources amendment adopted 4/15/91 be not adopted; and

That the following Conference Committee striking amendment be adopted: Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 15.09.080 and 1982 c 153 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the horticultural pest and disease control board finds that an owner of land has failed to control and prevent the spread of horticultural pests and diseases on his land, as is his duty under RCW 15.09.060, it shall provide such person with written notice, which notice shall identify the pests and diseases found to be present and shall order prompt control or disinfection action to be taken within a specified and reasonable time period.

(2) If the person to whom the notice is directed fails to take action in accordance with this notice, then the board shall perform or cause to be performed such measures as are necessary to control and prevent the spread of the pests and diseases on such property and the expense of this work shall be charged to such person. Any action that the board determines requires the destruction of infested plants, absent the consent of the owner, shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (3) of this section.

(3) In the event the owner of land fails to control and prevent the spread of horticultural pests and diseases as required by RCW 15.09.060, and the county horticultural pest and disease board determines that actions it has taken to control and prevent the spread of such pests or diseases has not been effective or the county horticultural pest and disease board determines that no reasonable measures other than removal of the plants will control and prevent the spread of such pests or diseases, the county horticultural pest and disease board may petition the superior court of the county in which the property is situated for an order directing the owner to show cause why the plants should not be removed at the owner's expense and for an order authorizing removal of said infested plants. The petition shall state: (a) The legal description of the property on which the plants are located; (b) the name and place of residence, if known, of the owners of said property; (c) that the county horticultural pest and disease board has, through its officers or agents, inspected said property and that the plants thereon, or some of them, are infested with a horticultural pest or disease as defined by RCW 15.08.010; (d) the dates of all notices and orders delivered to the owners pursuant to this section; (e) that the owner has failed to control and prevent the spread of said horticultural pest or disease; and (f) that the county horticultural pest and disease board has determined that the measures taken by it have not controlled or prevented the spread of the pest or disease or that no reasonable measure can be taken that will control and prevent the spread of such pest or disease except removal of the plants. The petition shall request an order directing the owner to appear and show cause why the plants on said property shall not be removed at the expense of the owner, to be collected as provided in this chapter. The order to show cause shall direct the owner to appear on a date certain and show cause, if any, why the plants on the property described in the petition should not be removed at the owner's expense. The order to show cause and petition shall be served on the owner not less than five days before the hearing date specified in the order in the same manner as a summons and complaint. In the event the owner fails to appear or fails to show by competent evidence that the horticultural pest or disease has been controlled, then the court shall authorize the county horticultural pest and disease board to remove the plants at the owner's expense, to be collected as provided by this chapter. If the procedure provided herein is followed, no action for damages for removal of the plants shall lie against the county horticultural pest and disease board, its officers or agents, or the county in which it is situated.

Sec. 2. RCW 15.26.155 and 1983 c 281 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The producers of tree fruit subject to the provisions of this chapter may at any time, by referendum conducted by the department and approved by a majority of the producers voting, establish an additional assessment for programs including but not limited to sanitation programs and the reregistration of plant protection products for use on minor crops. ~~((The total amount assessed for any specific industry service program under this section shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars in any single crop year.))~~ The members of the commission may, subject to approval by two-thirds of the voting members of the commission, suspend all or part of the assessments on tree fruit under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. PURPOSE. The purpose of this chapter is to provide a strong system for the exclusion of plant and bee pests and diseases through regulation of movement and quarantines of infested areas to protect the forest, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, and apiary industries of the state; plants and shrubs within the state; and the environment of the state from the impact of insect pests, plant pathogens, noxious weeds, and bee pests and the public and private costs that result when these infestations become established.

(20) "Emergency" means a situation where there is an imminent danger of an infestation of plant pests or disease that seriously threatens the state's agricultural or horticultural industries or environment and that cannot be adequately addressed with normal procedures or existing resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. REGULATION OF PLANT, PLANT PRODUCT, AND BEE MOVEMENT. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 8 of this act, the director may:

(1) Make rules under which plants, plant products, bees, hives and beekeeping equipment, and noxious weeds may be brought into this state from other states, territories, or foreign countries; and

(2) Make rules with reference to plants, plant products, bees, bee hives and equipment, and genetically engineered organisms while in transit through this state as may be deemed necessary to prevent the introduction into and dissemination within this state of plant and bee pests and noxious weeds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. INSPECTION AND INVESTIGATION. (1) The director may intercept and hold or order held for inspection, or cause to be inspected while in transit or after arrival at their destination, all plants, plant products, bees, or other articles likely to carry plant pests, bee pests, or noxious weeds being moved into this state from another state, territory, or a foreign country or within or through this state for plant and bee pests and disease.

(2) The director may enter upon public and private premises at reasonable times for the purpose of carrying out this chapter. If the director be denied access, the director may apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for a search warrant authorizing access to such premises. The court may upon such application issue the search warrant for the purposes requested.

(3) The director may adopt rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. DETERMINATION OF ORIGIN. The director may demand of a person who has in his or her possession or under his or her control, plants, bees, plant products, or other articles that may carry plant pests, bee pests, or noxious weeds, full information as to the origin and source of these items. Failure to provide that information, if known, may subject the person to a civil penalty.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. POWER TO ADOPT QUARANTINE MEASURES--RULES. If determined to be necessary to protect the forest, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, beekeeping, or environmental interests of this state, the director may declare a quarantine against an area, place, nursery, orchard, vineyard, apiary, or other agricultural establishment, county or counties within the state, or against other states, territories, or foreign countries, or a portion of these areas, in reference to plant pests, or bee pests, or noxious weeds, or genetically engineered plant or plant pest organisms. The director may prohibit the movement of all regulated articles from such quarantined places or areas that are likely to contain such plant pests or noxious weeds or genetically engineered plant, plant pest, or bee pest organisms. The quarantine may be made absolute or rules may be adopted prescribing the conditions under which the regulated articles may be moved into, or sold, or otherwise disposed of in the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. INTRODUCTION OF PLANT PESTS, NOXIOUS WEEDS, OR ORGANISMS AFFECTING PLANT LIFE. The introduction into or release within the state of a plant pest, noxious weeds, bee pest, or any other organism that may directly or indirectly affect the plant life of the state as an injurious pest, parasite, predator, or other organism is prohibited, except under special permit issued by the department under rules adopted by the director. A special permit is not required for the introduction or release within the state of a genetically engineered plant or plant pest organism if the introduction or release has been approved under provisions of federal law and the department has been notified of the planned introduction or release. The department shall be the sole issuing agency for the permits. Except for research projects approved by the department, no permit for a biological control agent shall be issued unless the department has determined that the parasite, predator, or plant pathogen is target organism or plant specific and not likely to become a pest of nontarget plants or other beneficial organisms. The director may also exclude biological control agents that are infested with parasites determined to be detrimental to the biological control efforts of the state. The department may rely upon findings of the United States department of agriculture or any experts that the director may deem appropriate in making a determination about the threat posed by such organisms. In addition, the director may request confidential business information subject to the conditions in section 10 of this act.

Plant pests, noxious weeds, or other organisms introduced into or released within this state in violation of this section shall be subject to detention and disposition as otherwise provided in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. PROTECTION OF PRIVILEGED OR CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION--PROCEDURE--NOTICE--DECLARATORY JUDGMENT. (1) In submitting data required by this chapter, the applicant may: (a) Mark clearly portions of data which in his or her opinion are trade secrets or commercial or financial information; and (b) submit the marked material separately from other material required to be submitted under this chapter.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter or other law, the director shall not make information submitted by an applicant or registrant under this chapter available to the public if, in the judgment of the director, the information is privileged or confidential because it contains or relates to trade secrets or commercial or financial information. Where necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter, information relating to unpublished formulas of products acquired by authorization of this chapter may be revealed to any state or federal agency consulted and may be revealed at a public hearing or in findings of fact issued by the director.

(3) If the director proposes to release for inspection or to reveal at a public hearing or in findings of fact issued by the director, information that the applicant or registrant believes to be protected from disclosure under subsection (2) of this section, he or she shall notify the applicant or registrant in writing, by certified mail. The director may not make this data available for inspection nor reveal the information at a public hearing or in findings of fact issued by the director until thirty days after receipt of the notice by the applicant or registrant. During this period, the applicant or registrant may withdraw the application or may institute an action in the superior court of Thurston county for a declaratory judgment as to whether the information is subject to protection under subsection (2) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. COMPLIANCE AGREEMENTS. The director may enter into compliance agreements with a person engaged in growing, handling, or moving articles, bees, plants, or plant products regulated under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. PROHIBITED ACTS. It shall be unlawful for a person to:

(1) Sell, offer for sale, or distribute a noxious weed or a plant or plant product or regulated article infested or infected with a plant pest declared by rule to be a threat to the state's forest, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, or beekeeping industries or environment;

(2) Knowingly receive a noxious weed, or a plant, plant product, bees, bee hive or appliances, or regulated article sold, given away, carried, shipped, or delivered for carriage or shipment within this state, in violation of the provisions of this chapter or the rules adopted under this chapter;

(3) Fail to immediately notify the department and isolate and hold the noxious weed, bees, bee hives or appliances, plants or plant products, or other thing unopened or unused subject to inspection or other disposition as may be provided by the department, where the item has been received without knowledge of the violation and the receiver has become subsequently aware of the potential problem;

(4) Knowingly conceal or willfully withhold available information regarding an infected or infested plant, plant product, regulated article, or noxious weed;

(5) Introduce or move into this state, or to move or dispose of in this state, a plant, plant product, or other item included in a quarantine, except under rules as may be prescribed by the department, after a quarantine order has been adopted under this chapter against a place, nursery, orchard, vineyard, apiary, other agricultural establishment, county of this state, another state, territory, or a foreign country as to a plant pest, bee pest, or noxious weed or genetically engineered plant or plant pest organism, until such quarantine is removed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. IMPOUND AND DISPOSITION. (1) If upon inspection, the director finds that an inspected plant or plant product or bees are infected or infested or that a regulated article is being held or transported in violation of a rule or quarantine of the department, the director shall notify the owner that a violation of this chapter exists. The director may impound or order the impounding of the infected or infested or regulated article in such a manner as may be necessary to prevent the threat of infestation. The notice shall be in writing and sent by certified mail or personal service identifying the impounded article and giving notice that the articles will be treated, returned to the shipper or to a quarantined area, or destroyed in a manner as to prevent infestation. The impounded article shall not be destroyed unless the director determines that (a) no effective treatment can be carried out; and (b) the impounded article cannot be returned to the shipper or shipped back to a quarantine area without threat of infestation to this state; and (c) mere possession by the owner constitutes an emergency.

(2) Before taking action to treat, return, or destroy the impounded article, the director shall notify the owner of the owner's right to a hearing before the director under chapter 34.05 RCW. Within ten days after the notice has been given the owner may request a hearing. The request must be in writing.

STATE-WIDE SURVEY AND CONTROL ACTIVITY. If there is reason to believe that a plant or bee pest may adversely impact the forestry, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, or related industries of the state; or may cause harm to the environment of the state; or such information is needed to facilitate or allow the movement of forestry, agricultural, horticultural, or related products to out-of-state, foreign and domestic markets, the director may conduct, or cause to be conducted, surveys to determine the presence, absence, or distribution of a pest.

The director may take such measures as may be required to control or eradicate such pests where such measures are determined to be in the public interest, are technically feasible, and for which funds are appropriated or provided through cooperative agreements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. DIRECTOR'S COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES. The director may enter into cooperative arrangements with a person, municipality, county, Washington State University or any of its experiment stations, or other agencies of this state, and with boards, officers, and authorities of other states and the United States, including the United States department of agriculture, for the inspection of bees, plants and plant parts and products and the control or eradication of plant pests, bee pests, or noxious weeds and to carry out other provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. ACQUISITION OF LANDS, WATER SUPPLY, OR OTHER PROPERTIES FOR QUARANTINE LOCATIONS. The director may acquire, in fee or in trust, by gift, or whenever funds are appropriated for such purposes, by purchase, easement, lease, or condemnation, lands or other property, water supplies, as may be deemed necessary for use by the department for establishing quarantine stations for the purpose of the isolation, prevention, eradication, elimination, and control of insect pests or plant pathogens that affect the agricultural or horticultural products of the state; for the propagation of biological control agents; or the isolation of genetically engineered plants or plant pests; or the isolation of bee pests.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. REQUESTED INSPECTIONS--FEE FOR SERVICE. To facilitate the movement or sale of forest, agricultural, floricultural, horticultural and related products, or bees and related products, the director may provide, if requested by farmers, growers, or other interested persons, special inspections, pest identifications, plant identifications, plant diagnostic services, other special certifications and activities not otherwise authorized by statute and to prescribe a fee for that service. The fee shall, as closely as practical, cover the cost of the service rendered, including the salaries and expenses of the personnel involved. Moneys collected shall be deposited in the plant pest account, which is hereby created within the agricultural local fund. No appropriation is required for disbursement from the plant pest account to provide the services authorized by this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. PENALTIES--CRIMINAL AND CIVIL PENALTY. Whenever the director finds that a person has committed a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, and that violation has not been punished pursuant to RCW 17.24.100, the director may impose upon and collect from the violator a civil penalty not exceeding five thousand dollars per violation. Each violation shall be a separate and distinct offense. A person who knowingly, through an act of commission or omission, procures or aids or abets in the violation shall be considered to have violated this section and may be subject to the civil penalty.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. VIOLATIONS--COSTS OF CONTROL. A person who, through a knowing and willful violation of a quarantine established under this chapter, causes an infestation to become established, may be required to pay the costs of public control or eradication measures caused as a result of that violation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. FUNDS FOR TECHNICAL AND SCIENTIFIC SERVICES. The director may, at the director's discretion, provide funds for technical or scientific services, labor, materials and supplies, and biological control agents for the control of plant pests, bee pests, and noxious weeds.

The committee shall include representatives of the agricultural industries, state and local government, public health interests, technical service providers, and environmental organizations.

(3) Upon the order of the governor of the use of emergency measures, the director is authorized to implement the emergency measures to prevent, control, or eradicate plant pests or plant diseases that are the subject of the emergency order. Such measures, after thorough evaluation of all other alternatives, may include the aerial application of pesticides.

(4) Upon the order of the governor of the use of emergency measures, the director is authorized to enter into agreements with individuals or companies, or both, to accomplish the prevention, control, or eradication of plant pests or plant diseases, notwithstanding the provisions of chapter 15.58 or 17.21 RCW, or any other statute.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Second Conference Committee, to whom was referred SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1956, Plant protection, have had the same under consideration and we recommend that:

The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Water Resources amendment adoptd 4/15/91 be not adopted; and

That the following Second Conference Committee striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 15.09.080 and 1982 c 153 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the horticultural pest and disease control board finds that an owner of land has failed to control and prevent the spread of horticultural pests and diseases on his land, as is his duty under RCW 15.09.060, it shall provide such person with written notice, which notice shall identify the pests and diseases found to be present and shall order prompt control or disinfection action to be taken within a specified and reasonable time period.

(2) If the person to whom the notice is directed fails to take action in accordance with this notice, then the board shall perform or cause to be performed such measures as are necessary to control and prevent the spread of the pests and diseases on such property and the expense of this work shall be charged to such person. Any action that the board determines requires the destruction of infested plants, absent the consent of the owner, shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (3) of this section.

(3) In the event the owner of land fails to control and prevent the spread of horticultural pests and diseases as required by RCW 15.09.060, and the county horticultural pest and disease board determines that actions it has taken to control and prevent the spread of such pests or diseases has not been effective or the county horticultural pest and disease board determines that no reasonable measures other than removal of the plants will control and prevent the spread of such pests or diseases, the county horticultural pest and disease board may petition the superior court of the county in which the property is situated for an order directing the owner to show cause why the plants should not be removed at the owner's expense and for an order authorizing removal of said infected plants. The petition shall state: (a) The legal description of the property on which the plants are located; (b) the name and place of residence, if known, of the owners of said property; (c) that the county horticultural pest and disease board has, through its officers or agents, inspected said property and that the plants thereon, or some of them, are infested with a horticultural pest or disease as defined by RCW 15.08.010; (d) the dates of all notices and orders delivered to the owners pursuant to this section; (e) that the owner has failed to control and prevent the spread of said horticultural pest or disease; and (f) that the county horticultural pest and disease board has determined that the measures taken by it have not controlled or prevented the spread of the pest or disease or that no reasonable measure can be taken that will control and prevent the spread of such pest or disease except removal of the plants. The petition shall request an order directing the owner to appear and show cause why the plants on said property shall not be removed at the expense of the owner, to be collected as provided in this chapter. The order to show cause shall direct the owner to appear on a date certain and show cause, if any, why the plants on the property described in the petition should not be removed at the owner's expense. The order to show cause and petition shall be served on the owner not less than five days before the hearing date specified in the order in the same manner as a summons and complaint. In the event the owner fails to appear or fails to show by competent evidence that the horticultural pest or disease has been controlled, then the court shall authorize the county horticultural pest and disease board to remove the plants at the owner's expense, to be collected as provided by this chapter. If the procedure provided herein is followed, no action for damages for removal of the plants shall lie against the county horticultural pest and disease board, its officers or agents, or the county in which it is situated.

Sec. 2. RCW 15.26.155 and 1983 c 281 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The producers of tree fruit subject to the provisions of this chapter may at any time, by referendum conducted by the department and approved by a majority of the producers voting, establish an additional assessment for programs including but not limited to sanitation programs and the reregistration of plant protection products for use on minor crops. ~~((The total amount assessed for any specific industry service program under this section shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars in any single crop year.))~~ The members of the commission may, subject to approval by two-thirds of the voting members of the commission, suspend all or part of the assessments on tree fruit under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. PURPOSE. The purpose of this chapter is to provide a strong system for the exclusion of plant and bee pests and diseases through regulation of movement and quarantines of infested areas to protect the forest, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, and apiary industries of the state; plants and shrubs within the state; and the environment of the state from the impact of insect pests, plant pathogens, noxious weeds, and bee pests and the public and private costs that result when these infestations become established.

(20) "Emergency" means a situation where there is an imminent danger of an infestation of plant pests or disease that seriously threatens the state's agricultural or horticultural industries or environment and that cannot be adequately addressed with normal procedures or existing resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. REGULATION OF PLANT, PLANT PRODUCT, AND BEE MOVEMENT. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 8 of this act, the director may:

(1) Make rules under which plants, plant products, bees, hives and beekeeping equipment, and noxious weeds may be brought into this state from other states, territories, or foreign countries; and

(2) Make rules with reference to plants, plant products, bees, bee hives and equipment, and genetically engineered organisms while in transit through this state as may be deemed necessary to prevent the introduction into and dissemination within this state of plant and bee pests and noxious weeds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. INSPECTION AND INVESTIGATION. (1) The director may intercept and hold or order held for inspection, or cause to be inspected while in transit or after arrival at their destination, all plants, plant products, bees, or other articles likely to carry plant pests, bee pests, or noxious weeds being moved into this state from another state, territory, or a foreign country or within or through this state for plant and bee pests and disease.

(2) The director may enter upon public and private premises at reasonable times for the purpose of carrying out this chapter. If the director be denied access, the director may apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for a search warrant authorizing access to such premises. The court may upon such application issue the search warrant for the purposes requested.

(3) The director may adopt rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. DETERMINATION OF ORIGIN. The director may demand of a person who has in his or her possession or under his or her control, plants, bees, plant products, or other articles that may carry plant pests, bee pests, or noxious weeds, full information as to the origin and source of these items. Failure to provide that information, if known, may subject the person to a civil penalty.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. POWER TO ADOPT QUARANTINE MEASURES-RULES. If determined to be necessary to protect the forest, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, beekeeping, or environmental interests of this state, the director may declare a quarantine against an area, place, nursery, orchard, vineyard, apiary, or other agricultural establishment, county or counties within the state, or against other states, territories, or foreign countries, or a portion of these areas, in reference to plant pests, or bee pests, or noxious weeds, or genetically engineered plant or plant pest organisms. The director may prohibit the movement of all regulated articles from such quarantined places or areas that are likely to contain such plant pests or noxious weeds or genetically engineered plant, plant pest, or bee pest organisms. The quarantine may be made absolute or rules may be adopted prescribing the conditions under which the regulated articles may be moved into, or sold, or otherwise disposed of in the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. INTRODUCTION OF PLANT PESTS, NOXIOUS WEEDS, OR ORGANISMS AFFECTING PLANT LIFE. The introduction into or release within the state of a plant pest, noxious weeds, bee pest, or any other organism that may directly or indirectly affect the plant life of the state as an injurious pest, parasite, predator, or other organism is prohibited, except under special permit issued by the department under rules adopted by the director. A special permit is not required for the introduction or release within the state of a genetically engineered plant or plant pest organism if the introduction or release has been approved under provisions of federal law and the department has been notified of the planned introduction or release. The department shall be the sole issuing agency for the permits. Except for research projects approved by the department, no permit for a biological control agent shall be issued unless the department has determined that the parasite, predator, or plant pathogen is target organism or plant specific and not likely to become a pest of nontarget plants or other beneficial organisms. The director may also exclude biological control agents that are infested with parasites determined to be detrimental to the biological control efforts of the state. The department may rely upon findings of the United States department of agriculture or any experts that the director may deem appropriate in making a determination about the threat posed by such organisms. In addition, the director may request confidential business information subject to the conditions in section 10 of this act.

Plant pests, noxious weeds, or other organisms introduced into or released within this state in violation of this section shall be subject to detention and disposition as otherwise provided in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. PROTECTION OF PRIVILEGED OR CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION--PROCEDURE--NOTICE--DECLARATORY JUDGMENT. (1) In submitting data required by this chapter, the applicant may: (a) Mark clearly portions of data which in his or her opinion are trade secrets or commercial or financial information; and (b) submit the marked material separately from other material required to be submitted under this chapter.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter or other law, the director shall not make information submitted by an applicant or registrant under this chapter available to the public if, in the judgment of the director, the information is privileged or confidential because it contains or relates to trade secrets or commercial or financial information. Where necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter, information relating to unpublished formulas of products acquired by authorization of this chapter may be revealed to any state or federal agency consulted and may be revealed at a public hearing or in findings of fact issued by the director.

(3) If the director proposes to release for inspection or to reveal at a public hearing or in findings of fact issued by the director, information that the applicant or registrant believes to be protected from disclosure under subsection (2) of this section, he or she shall notify the applicant or registrant in writing, by certified mail. The director may not make this data available for inspection nor reveal the information at a public hearing or in findings of fact issued by the director until thirty days after receipt of the notice by the applicant or registrant. During this period, the applicant or registrant may withdraw the application or may institute an action in the superior court of Thurston county for a declaratory judgment as to whether the information is subject to protection under subsection (2) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. COMPLIANCE AGREEMENTS. The director may enter into compliance agreements with a person engaged in growing, handling, or moving articles, bees, plants, or plant products regulated under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. PROHIBITED ACTS. It shall be unlawful for a person to:

(1) Sell, offer for sale, or distribute a noxious weed or a plant or plant product or regulated article infested or infected with a plant pest declared by rule to be a threat to the state's forest, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, or beekeeping industries or environment;

(2) Knowingly receive a noxious weed, or a plant, plant product, bees, bee hive or appliances, or regulated article sold, given away, carried, shipped, or delivered for carriage or shipment within this state, in violation of the provisions of this chapter or the rules adopted under this chapter;

(3) Fail to immediately notify the department and isolate and hold the noxious weed, bees, bee hives or appliances, plants or plant products, or other thing unopened or unused subject to inspection or other disposition as may be provided by the department, where the item has been received without knowledge of the violation and the receiver has become subsequently aware of the potential problem;

(4) Knowingly conceal or willfully withhold available information regarding an infested or infested plant, plant product, regulated article, or noxious weed;

(5) Introduce or move into this state, or to move or dispose of in this state, a plant, plant product, or other item included in a quarantine, except under rules as may be prescribed by the department, after a quarantine order has been adopted under this chapter against a place, nursery, orchard, vineyard, apiary, other agricultural establishment, county of this state, another state, territory, or a foreign country as to a plant pest, bee pest, or noxious weed or genetically engineered plant or plant pest organism, until such quarantine is removed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. IMPOUND AND DISPOSITION. (1) If upon inspection, the director finds that an inspected plant or plant product or bees are infested or infested or that a regulated article is being held or transported in violation of a rule or quarantine of the department, the director shall notify the owner that a violation of this chapter exists. The director may impound or order the impounding of the infested or infested or regulated article in such a manner as may be necessary to prevent the threat of infestation. The notice shall be in writing and sent by certified mail or personal service identifying the impounded article and giving notice that the articles will be treated, returned to the shipper or to a quarantined area, or destroyed in a manner as to prevent infestation. The impounded article shall not be destroyed unless the director determines that (a) no effective treatment can be carried out; and (b) the impounded article cannot be returned to the shipper or shipped back to a quarantine area without threat of infestation to this state; and (c) mere possession by the owner constitutes an emergency.

(2) Before taking action to treat, return, or destroy the impounded article, the director shall notify the owner of the owner's right to a hearing before the director under chapter 34.05 RCW. Within ten days after the notice has been given the owner may request a hearing. The request must be in writing.

(3) The cost to impound articles along with the cost, if any, to treat, return, or destroy the articles shall be at the owner's expense. The owner is not entitled to compensation for infested or infested articles destroyed by the department under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. STATE-WIDE SURVEY AND CONTROL ACTIVITY. If there is reason to believe that a plant or bee pest may adversely impact the forestry, agricultural, horticultural, floricultural, or related industries of the state; or may cause harm to the environment of the state; or such information is needed to facilitate or allow the movement of forestry, agricultural, horticultural, or related products to out-of-state, foreign and domestic markets, the director may conduct, or cause to be conducted, surveys to determine the presence, absence, or distribution of a pest.

The director may take such measures as may be required to control or eradicate such pests where such measures are determined to be in the public interest, are technically feasible, and for which funds are appropriated or provided through cooperative agreements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. DIRECTOR'S COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES. The director may enter into cooperative arrangements with a person, municipality, county, Washington State University or any of its experiment stations, or other agencies of this state, and with boards, officers, and authorities of other states and the United States, including the United States department of agriculture, for the inspection of bees, plants and plant parts and products and the control or eradication of plant pests, bee pests, or noxious weeds and to carry out other provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. ACQUISITION OF LANDS, WATER SUPPLY, OR OTHER PROPERTIES FOR QUARANTINE LOCATIONS. The director may acquire, in fee or in trust, by gift, or whenever funds are appropriated for such purposes, by purchase, easement, lease, or condemnation, lands or other property, water supplies, as may be deemed necessary for use by the department for establishing quarantine stations for the purpose of the isolation, prevention, eradication, elimination, and control of insect pests or plant pathogens that affect the agricultural or horticultural products of the state; for the propagation of biological control agents; or the isolation of genetically engineered plants or plant pests; or the isolation of bee pests.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. REQUESTED INSPECTIONS--FEE FOR SERVICE.
To facilitate the movement or sale of forest, agricultural, floricultural, horticultural and related products, or bees and related products, the director may provide, if requested by farmers, growers, or other interested persons, special inspections, pest identifications, plant identifications, plant diagnostic services, other special certifications and activities not otherwise authorized by statute and to prescribe a fee for that service. The fee shall, as closely as practical, cover the cost of the service rendered, including the salaries and expenses of the personnel involved. Moneys collected shall be deposited in the plant pest account, which is hereby created within the agricultural local fund. No appropriation is required for disbursement from the plant pest account to provide the services authorized by this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. PENALTIES--CRIMINAL AND CIVIL PENALTY.
Whenever the director finds that a person has committed a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, and that violation has not been punished pursuant to RCW 17.24.100, the director may impose upon and collect from the violator a civil penalty not exceeding five thousand dollars per violation. Each violation shall be a separate and distinct offense. A person who knowingly, through an act of commission or omission, procures or aids or abets in the violation shall be considered to have violated this section and may be subject to the civil penalty.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. VIOLATIONS--COSTS OF CONTROL. A person who, through a knowing and willful violation of a quarantine established under this chapter, causes an infestation to become established, may be required to pay the costs of public control or eradication measures caused as a result of that violation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. FUNDS FOR TECHNICAL AND SCIENTIFIC SERVICES. The director may, at the director's discretion, provide funds for technical or scientific services, labor, materials and supplies, and biological control agents for the control of plant pests, bee pests, and noxious weeds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. DETERMINATION OF IMMINENT DANGER OF INFESTATION OF PLANT PESTS OR PLANT DISEASES--EMERGENCY MEASURES--CONDITIONS--PROCEDURES. (1) If the director determines that there exists an imminent danger of an infestation of plant pests or plant diseases that seriously endangers the agricultural or horticultural industries of the state, or that seriously threatens life, health, or economic well-being, the director shall request the governor to order emergency measures to control the pests or plant diseases under RCW 43.06.010(14). The director's findings shall contain an evaluation of the affect of the emergency measures on public health.

(2) If an emergency is declared pursuant to RCW 43.06.010(14), the director may appoint a committee to advise the governor through the director and to review emergency measures necessary under the authority of RCW 43.06.010(14) and this section and make subsequent recommendations to the governor. The committee shall include representatives of the agricultural industries, state and local government, public health interests, technical service providers, and environmental organizations.

(3) Upon the order of the governor of the use of emergency measures, the director is authorized to implement the emergency measures to prevent, control, or eradicate plant pests or plant diseases that are the subject of the emergency order. Such measures, after thorough evaluation of all other alternatives, may include the aerial application of pesticides.

(4) Upon the order of the governor of the use of emergency measures, the director is authorized to enter into agreements with individuals or companies, or both, to accomplish the prevention, control, or eradication of plant pests or plant diseases, notwithstanding the provisions of chapter 15.58 or 17.21 RCW, or any other statute.

(5) The director shall continually evaluate the emergency measures taken and report to the governor at intervals of not less than ten days. The director shall immediately advise the governor if he or she finds that the emergency no longer exists or if certain emergency measures should be discontinued.

(13) The governor shall, when appropriate, submit to the select joint committee created by RCW 43.131.120, lists of state agencies, as defined by RCW 43.131.030, which agencies might appropriately be scheduled for termination by a bill proposed by the select joint committee;

(14) The governor may, after finding that there exists within this state an imminent danger of infestation of plant pests as defined in (~~RCW 17.24.005~~) section 4 of this act or plant diseases which seriously endangers the agricultural or horticultural industries of the state of Washington, or which seriously threatens life, health, or economic well-being, order emergency measures to prevent or abate the infestation or disease situation, which measures, after thorough evaluation of all other alternatives, may include the aerial application of pesticides.

MOTION

Senator Barr moved that the Second Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1956 be adopted.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Williams: "A point of order, Mr. President. I would like to ask you to rule on scope and object of the Conference Committee Report. The report and the underlying bill, as I understand it, deals with the protection of plants. It deals with the Department of Agriculture and its enforcement of the various rules and regs and so forth related to the protection of plants. Section 24 in the Conference Committee Report deals with new subject matter which brings in the Department of Labor and Industries and eliminates the requirement that records be kept by that department under that statute. It eliminates the Department of Labor and Industries rule making for record keeping requirements and makes other changes which is legislation that is related to protection of farm workers and I believe it is outside the scope and object and ask for your ruling."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Newhouse, further consideration of Substitute House Bill No. 1956 was deferred.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

SB 5475

April 24, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Authorizing honorary degrees.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred SENATE BILL NO. 5475, authorizing honorary degrees, have had the same under consideration and we recommend that:

All previous amendments not be adopted and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the quality of undergraduate education is enhanced by association with graduate assistants from other countries who can effectively communicate their knowledge and diverse cultural backgrounds.

It is the intent of the legislature to assist the institutions in their effort to improve the quality of undergraduate education at the state's four-year colleges and universities. Attainment of an excellent education is facilitated when communication is clear, concise, sensitive to cultural differences, and demonstrative of proven pedagogical skills. It is the further intent of the legislature to assure students and parents that graduate teaching assistants at our state institutions of higher education are able to communicate effectively and understandably with undergraduate students.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The Washington state legislature affirms the following principles:

(1) Washington's college and university students are entitled to excellent instruction at the state's institutions of higher education. Excellent education requires the ability to communicate effectively in college classrooms and laboratories.

(2) The presence of students, faculty, and staff from other countries on Washington's college campuses enriches the educational experience of Washington's students and enhances scholarship and research at the state's colleges and universities.

(3) With the exception of courses designed to be taught primarily in a foreign language, undergraduate students shall be provided with classroom instruction, laboratory instruction, clinics, seminars, studios, and other participatory and activity courses by a person fluent in both the spoken and written English language.

(4) Persons of all nationalities, races, religions, and ethnic backgrounds are welcome and valued in the state of Washington.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The governing board of each state university, regional university, state college, and community college shall ensure that the principles in section 1 of this act are implemented at its institution of higher education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The council of presidents, in consultation with the higher education coordinating board, shall convene a task force of representatives from the four-year universities and colleges. The task force shall:

(1) Review institutional policies and procedures designed to ensure that faculty and teaching assistants are able to communicate effectively with undergraduate students in classrooms and laboratories;

(2) Research methods and procedures designed to improve the communication and teaching skills of any person funded by state money who instructs undergraduate students in classrooms and laboratories;

(3) Share the results of that research with each participating university and college; and

(4) Work with each participating university and college to assist the institution in its efforts to improve the communication and pedagogical skills of faculty and teaching assistants instructing undergraduate students.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The legislature finds that sick leave policies for faculty members and administrators at the state's institutions of higher education are inconsistent. The legislature further finds that sick leave policies for faculty and administrators at some institutions of higher education differ substantially from policies for other state employees. It is the intent of the legislature that sick leave policies are uniform and consistent for all faculty and administrators hired after May 1, 1992, at the state's community colleges, regional universities, state college and research universities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The higher education coordinating board, in consultation with the state board for community college education, shall study institutional sick leave policies and shall recommend a mandated uniform and consistent policy for all faculty and administrators hired after May 1, 1992, at all public higher education institutions. By December 1, 1991, the uniform policy, and proposed legislation to implement that policy, shall be submitted to the senate and house committees on higher education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The higher education coordinating board shall establish an advisory committee on access to higher education for students with disabilities. The committee shall include but need not be limited to representation from the following: Students with disabilities, coordinators of services for students with disabilities, the governor's committee on disability issues and employment, and agencies and organizations that work with or represent persons with disabilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. In consultation with the advisory committee on access to higher education for students with disabilities the board shall:

(1) Inventory existing campus and agency resources available to address the accommodation needs of students with disabilities;

(2) Distribute the inventory to institutions of higher education and to the superintendent of public instruction for further distribution to appropriate personnel in the K-12 system;

(3) Survey institutions of higher education and students with disabilities to identify specific services that have been requested but not provided;

(4) Report the results of the survey, with recommendations on a phased plan to meet identified needs in priority order, to the governor, the house of representatives and senate higher education and fiscal committees, and the institutions of higher education;

(5) In coordination with the state board for community college education, conduct a state-wide training workshop for coordinators of services for students with disabilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Sections 7 and 8 of this act are each added to chapter 28B.80 RCW.

Sec. 10. RCW 28B.108.010 and 1990 c 287 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

The criteria shall include a priority for upper-division or graduate students. The criteria may include a priority for students who are majoring in program areas in which expertise is needed by the state's American Indians.

Sec. 12. RCW 28B.108.070 and 1990 c 287 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

The higher education coordinating board may request that the treasurer deposit ~~((five hundred))~~ fifty thousand dollars of state matching funds into the American Indian scholarship endowment fund when the board can match the state funds with an equal amount of private cash donations. Private cash donations means moneys from nonstate sources that include, but are not limited to, federal moneys, tribal moneys, and assessments by commodity commissions authorized to conduct research activities, including but not limited to research studies authorized under RCW 15.66.030 and 15.65.040.

Sec. 5. RCW 82.08.065 and 1990 c 171 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

In the collection of the sales tax on mobile homes (~~and the fee imposed in RCW 59.21.060(1)~~), the department of revenue may designate the county auditors of the several counties of the state as its collecting agents. Upon such designation, it shall be the duty of each county auditor to collect the tax and the fee at the time the mobile home dealer or selling agent applies for a new certificate of ownership for such mobile home in the instance where transfer of ownership was from a mobile home dealer or person deemed a selling agent under RCW 82.04.480, except where the applicant presents a written statement signed by the department of revenue or its duly authorized agent showing that no retail sales tax or use tax is legally due. The term "mobile home" as used in this section means a mobile home as defined in RCW 46.04.302. It shall be the duty of every mobile home dealer or selling agent to declare upon the application for a new certificate of ownership the selling price paid for the mobile home. Any person willfully misrepresenting, or failing or refusing to declare upon the application, such selling price shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Each county auditor who acts as agent of the department of revenue shall at the time of remitting license fee receipts on motor vehicles subject to the provisions of

RCW 82.12.045 pay over and account to the state treasurer for all sales tax revenue collected under this section, after first deducting as his or her collection fee the sum of two dollars for each mobile home upon which the tax has been collected.

Any applicant who has paid sales tax to a county auditor under this section may apply to the department of revenue for refund thereof if he has reason to believe that such tax was not legally due and owing. No refund is allowed unless application therefor is received by the department of revenue within four years after payment of the tax. Upon receipt of an application for refund the department of revenue shall consider the same and issue its order either granting or denying it and if refund is denied the taxpayer shall have the right of appeal as provided in RCW 82.32.170, 82.32.180, and 82.32.190.

The provisions of this section shall be construed as cumulative of other methods prescribed in chapters 82.04 to 82.32 RCW, inclusive, for the collection of the tax imposed by this chapter. The department of revenue shall have power to adopt such rules as may be necessary to administer the provisions of this section. Any duties required by this section to be performed by the county auditor may be performed by the director of licensing but no collection fee shall be deductible by the director of licensing in remitting sales tax revenue to the state treasurer.

Sec. 6. RCW 82.45.090 and 1990 c 171 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

The tax imposed by this chapter (~~and the fee imposed in RCW 59.21.060(1)~~) shall be paid to and collected by the treasurer of the county within which is located the real property which was sold, said treasurer acting as agent for the state. The county treasurer shall cause a stamp evidencing satisfaction of the lien to be affixed to the instrument of sale or conveyance prior to its recording or to the real estate excise tax affidavit in the case of used mobile home sales and used floating home sales. A receipt issued by the county treasurer for the payment of the tax imposed under this chapter shall be evidence of the satisfaction of the lien imposed hereunder and may be recorded in the manner prescribed for recording satisfactions of mortgages. No instrument of sale or conveyance evidencing a sale subject to the tax shall be accepted by the county auditor for filing or recording until the tax shall have been paid and the stamp affixed thereto; in case the tax is not due on the transfer, the instrument shall not be so accepted until suitable notation of such fact has been made on the instrument by the treasurer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The fifteen-dollar fee imposed in section 1 of this act on the transfer or elimination of mobile home titles for deposit in the mobile home affairs account, shall supersede the fifteen dollars collected in RCW 59.21.060 for deposit into the mobile home affairs account on July 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 59.21 RCW to read as follows:

The legislature recognizes that it is quite costly to move a mobile home. Many mobile home tenants need financial assistance in order to move their mobile homes from a mobile home park. The purpose of this chapter is to provide a mechanism for assisting mobile home tenants to relocate to suitable alternative sites when the mobile home park in which they reside is closed or converted to another use.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 59.21 RCW to read as follows:

Each mobile home park-owner shall pay an annual fee of five dollars for each occupied lot in the mobile home park. Lots that are occupied by mobile homes or recreational vehicles owned by the park-owner are exempt from this fee requirement. The fee shall be due on October 1 of each year. The fee shall be remitted by the park-owner to the department of revenue under rules as the department shall prescribe. The fee imposed under this section shall be forwarded by the department of revenue to the state treasurer for deposit into the mobile home park relocation fund. The provisions of chapter 82.32 RCW shall apply to the collection and enforcement of this fee.

Sec. 10. RCW 59.21.010 and 1990 c 171 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 11. RCW 59.21.020 and 1990 c 171 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If a mobile home park is closed or converted to another use, all ~~((affected))~~ low-income park tenants owning a mobile home are entitled to relocation assistance from the park-owner or the fund at the time the tenant relocates as follows: (a) For a single-wide mobile home, four thousand five hundred dollars; and (b) for a double-wide or larger mobile home, seven thousand five hundred dollars. ~~((No park tenant shall receive relocation assistance from the park owner or the fund for relocation of a recreational vehicle))~~ The park-owner shall pay the actual relocation expenses, not to exceed two thousand dollars, for the relocation of recreational vehicles used as residences. The relocation assistance costs shall be adjusted annually by the housing component of the consumer price index for the Washington state area.

(2) When a tenant is forced to relocate before July 1, 1991, the payment of relocation assistance as provided by this section shall be paid by the park-owner. However, if the tenant has been given notice to vacate prior to April 1, 1989, and the tenant has not yet relocated as of April 28, 1989, the payment of relocation assistance by the park-owner shall be required only if the tenant is low income.

(3) When a tenant is forced to relocate after June 30, 1991, the payment of relocation assistance to low-income park tenants as provided in this section shall be ~~((shared as follows: The landlord or park owner shall provide one third and the fund shall provide two thirds.~~

(4) ~~After July 1, 1992, (a) if twenty four months' notice of closure is given, the landlord or park owner shall provide five hundred dollars for a single wide home or one thousand dollars for a double wide or larger home and the fund shall provide the balance of the relocation assistance to low income park tenants; (b) if the park owner gives less than twenty four months' notice the park owner shall provide one third and the fund shall provide two thirds of the relocation assistance to low income park tenants.~~

~~(5))~~ made from the mobile home park relocation fund unless there are insufficient moneys in the fund.

(4) The park-owner shall be responsible for paying up to the full amount of relocation assistance to low-income park tenants if there are insufficient moneys in the fund until July 1, 1992. The department shall adopt rules governing disbursements of assistance from the fund and park-owner payments when there are insufficient moneys to meet the demand for relocation assistance.

(5) The tenant may recover court costs and a reasonable attorney's fee in any action brought to require the park-owner to pay relocation assistance in which the tenant prevails.

(6) If the park-owner does not pay his or her portion of the relocation assistance when required by this chapter, the department shall have a lien on the real property on which the park is located. Such lien shall be collected as delinquent general property taxes and shall be forwarded to the department by the county treasurer.

(7) All tenants eligible for relocation assistance shall apply for verification of eligibility to the department. The department shall issue a document to each tenant signifying the tenant's low-income status, or status other than low income to be given to the park-owner by the tenant.

~~((6) The park owner shall be responsible for paying up to the full amount of relocation assistance to low income park tenants if there are insufficient moneys in the fund. The department shall adopt rules governing disbursements of assistance from the fund and park owner payments when there are insufficient moneys to meet the demand for relocation assistance.~~

~~(7) The park owner shall pay park tenants who do not qualify as low income tenants the same amount of relocation assistance that low income park tenants are entitled to from the park owners under this section. The landlord shall pay the relocation assistance directly to the tenant if the tenant submits to the landlord a copy of the contract entered into for the purpose of relocating the mobile home, which includes the date of relocation. The tenant may recover court costs and a reasonable attorney's fee in any action brought to require the landlord to pay relocation assistance under this subsection in which the tenant prevails.~~

~~(8) The park owner shall make any payment to the department required by this chapter when demanded by the department; however, the department shall not demand such payment earlier than thirty days prior to the expected relocation date of the tenant. If the landlord does not pay his or her portion of the relocation assistance to the department when required by this chapter, the department shall have a lien on the real property on which the park is located. Such lien shall be collected as delinquent general property taxes and shall be forwarded to the department by the county treasurer.~~

~~(9))~~ (8) The director or his or her designee shall approve all expenditures from the fund.

~~((10))~~ (9) Relocation assistance contributions required from landlords or park-owners by this section shall be reduced by the amount paid or required to be paid under any other law for the same mobile home park tenant for the same relocation.

~~((11))~~ (10) Notwithstanding RCW 59.21.100, it is a violation of this chapter to request or require as a condition of initiating or renewing a tenancy in a mobile home park, a waiver of relocation assistance under this section or any other law or ordinance. Sec. 12. RCW 59.21.050 and 1990 c 171 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The mobile home park relocation fund is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All legislative appropriations for mobile home relocation assistance, receipts from fees collected under this chapter, and amounts required to be paid by park-owners to low-income park tenants when there are insufficient moneys in the fund shall be deposited into the fund. Expenditures from the fund may be used only for relocation assistance under RCW 59.21.020, or transfer to the mobile home park purchase fund under subsection (2) of this section. Only the director of community development or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the fund. All relocation payments to low-income park tenants, including those due from the park-owner shall be made from the fund. The fund is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for expenditures.

(2) The state treasurer shall maintain the fund and shall invest the fund moneys. Moneys earned on these investments shall be deposited in the fund and shall be used for the same purposes as other fund moneys. Unexpended and unencumbered moneys that remain in the fund at the end of the fiscal year do not revert to the state general fund but remain in the fund, separately accounted for, as a contingency reserve, or if the director determines at the end of any fiscal year beginning after December 31, 1991, that the fund contains a surplus over the projected amount needed for relocation during the upcoming year(s), any surplus may be transferred to the mobile home park purchase fund created by chapter 59.22 RCW. However, the director may cause any uncommitted funds in the mobile home park purchase fund which were transferred from the mobile home park relocation fund to be transferred back to the mobile home park relocation fund if that fund cannot otherwise meet its current obligations.

(3) A low-income park tenant who is entitled to relocation assistance under this chapter is entitled to payment only after submitting an application which includes: (a) A copy of the notice from the park-owner that the tenancy is terminated due to closure of the park; (b) a copy of the rental agreement currently in force; and (c) a copy of the contract entered into for the purpose of relocating the mobile home, which includes the date of relocation.

Sec. 13. RCW 59.21.060 and 1990 c 171 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) There is hereby imposed a fee of sixty-five dollars on every transfer of title issued pursuant to chapter 46.12 RCW on new or used mobile homes where ownership of the mobile home is changed ((by any transaction including but not limited to sales and gift transactions and transfers of ownership which involve)) and on each application for the elimination of title under chapter 65.20 (([RCW])) RCW. The ((county auditor or county treasurer)) department of licensing or its agents shall collect the fee ((as provided in chapter 82.08 or 82.45 RCW)) when processing the application for transfer or elimination of title. The fee collected under this section shall be forwarded to the state treasurer. The state treasurer shall deposit fifty dollars of each fee collected in the mobile home park relocation fund created under RCW 59.21.050 and the remaining fifteen dollars of each fee collected in the mobile home affairs account created by RCW 59.22.070.

(2) The ((department of revenue, the)) department of licensing((s)) and the state treasurer may enact any rules necessary to carry out this section.

(3) This section shall expire July 1, 1992.

Sec. 14. RCW 59.21.110 and 1989 c 201 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:

Any person who intentionally violates, intentionally attempts to evade, or intentionally evades the provisions of this ((aet)) chapter is guilty of a misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. A new section is added to chapter 59.21 RCW to read as follows:

The department shall waive the requirement for a park-owner to pay relocation assistance under this chapter when the mobile home park is involuntarily closed. A park-owner may not avoid the responsibility to pay relocation assistance by failing to provide necessary maintenance to the park. The department shall adopt rules for the granting of waivers under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 59.21 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that existing older mobile homes provide affordable housing to many persons of low income, and that requiring these homes that are legally located in mobile home parks to meet new fire, safety, and construction codes because they are relocating due to the closure or conversion of the mobile home park, compounds the economic burden facing these tenants.

(2) Mobile homes that are relocated due to either the closure or conversion of a mobile home park, may not be required by any city or county to comply with the requirements of any applicable fire, safety, or construction code for the sole reason of its relocation. This section shall only apply if the original occupancy classification of the building is not changed as a result of the move.

(3) This section shall not apply to mobile homes that are substantially remodeled or rehabilitated, nor to any work performed in compliance with installation requirements. For the purpose of determining whether a moved mobile home has been substantially remodeled or rebuilt, any cost relating to preparation for relocation or installation shall not be considered.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. This act shall not be construed as affecting any existing right acquired or liability or obligation incurred under the sections amended or repealed in this act or under any rule or order adopted under those sections, nor as affecting any proceeding instituted under those sections.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. RCW 59.22.900 and 1987 c 482 s 12 are each repealed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect July 1, 1991.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

ESHB 2071

April 26, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Giving the governor the authority to appoint the medical disciplinary board.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2071, Medical disciplinary board, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate Committee on Health and Long-Term Care amendment adopted 4/18/91 be not adopted; and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 18.72 RCW to read as follows:

There is hereby created the Washington state medical disciplinary board. The board shall be composed of one holder of a valid license to practice medicine and surgery under this chapter from each congressional district now existing or hereafter created in the state, four members representing the public, and one physician assistant authorized to practice under chapter 18.71A RCW. The physician assistant member shall vote only on matters relating to the discipline of physician assistants. The members of the board shall be appointed by the governor. The governor may stagger initial terms of appointment and thereafter all terms of appointment shall be for four years. The governor shall consider such physician and physician assistant members who are recommended for appointment by the appropriate professional associations in the state. The members representing the public shall be persons whose occupations are other than the administration of health activities or the providing of health services, who have no fiduciary obligations to a health facility or other health agency, and who have no material financial interest in the rendering of health services.

Nothing in this section shall affect the current terms of members of the board who are serving on the board on the effective date of this act.

Vacancies on the board shall be filled promptly by the governor, and a member appointed to fill a vacancy on the board shall continue to serve until his or her successor is appointed.

Sec. 3. RCW 18.130.180 and 1989 c 270 s 33 are each amended to read as follows:

The following conduct, acts, or conditions constitute unprofessional conduct for any license holder or applicant under the jurisdiction of this chapter:

(1) The commission of any act involving moral turpitude, dishonesty, or corruption relating to the practice of the person's profession, whether the act constitutes a crime or not. If the act constitutes a crime, conviction in a criminal proceeding is not a condition precedent to disciplinary action. Upon such a conviction, however, the judgment and sentence is conclusive evidence at the ensuing disciplinary hearing of the guilt of the license holder or applicant of the crime described in the indictment or information, and of the person's violation of the statute on which it is based. For the purposes of this section, conviction includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for the conviction and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended. Nothing in this section abrogates rights guaranteed under chapter 9.96A RCW;

(2) Misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact in obtaining a license or in reinstatement thereof;

(3) All advertising which is false, fraudulent, or misleading;

(4) Incompetence, negligence, or malpractice which results in injury to a patient or which creates an unreasonable risk that a patient may be harmed;

(5) Suspension, revocation, or restriction of the individual's license to practice the profession by competent authority in any state, federal, or foreign jurisdiction, a certified copy of the order, stipulation, or agreement being conclusive evidence of the revocation, suspension, or restriction;

(6) The possession, use, prescription for use, or distribution of controlled substances or legend drugs in any way other than for legitimate or therapeutic purposes, diversion of controlled substances or legend drugs, the violation of any drug law, or prescribing controlled substances for oneself;

(7) Violation of any state or federal statute or administrative rule regulating the profession in question, including any statute or rule defining or establishing standards of patient care or professional conduct or practice;

(8) Failure to cooperate with the disciplining authority by:

(a) Not furnishing any papers or documents;

(b) Not furnishing in writing a full and complete explanation covering the matter contained in the complaint filed with the disciplining authority; or

(c) Not responding to subpoenas issued by the disciplining authority, whether or not the recipient of the subpoena is the accused in the proceeding;

(9) Failure to comply with an order issued by the disciplining authority or an assurance of discontinuance entered into with the disciplining authority;

(10) Aiding or abetting an unlicensed person to practice when a license is required;

(11) Violations of rules established by any health agency;

(12) Practice beyond the scope of practice as defined by law or rule;

A transfer of ownership in a motor vehicle is perfected by compliance with the requirements of this section.

(1) If an owner transfers his or her interest in a vehicle, other than by the creation, deletion, or change of a security interest, the owner shall, at the time of the delivery of the vehicle, execute an assignment to the transferee and provide an odometer disclosure statement under RCW 46.12.124 on the certificate of ownership or as the department otherwise prescribes, and cause the certificate and assignment to be transmitted to the transferee. Within five days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and state and federal holidays, the owner shall notify the department in writing, on the appropriate form, of the date of the sale or transfer (~~(giving the date thereof)~~), the name and address of the owner and of the transferee, and such description of the vehicle, including the vehicle identification number, the license plate number, or both, as may be required in the appropriate form provided for that purpose by the department.

(2) The requirements of subsection (1) of this section to provide an odometer disclosure statement apply to the transfer of vehicles held for lease when transferred to a lessee and then to the lessor at the end of the leasehold and to vehicles held in a fleet when transferred to a purchaser.

(4) Upon request of the owner or transferee, a secured party in possession of the certificate of ownership shall, unless the transfer was a breach of its security agreement, either deliver the certificate to the transferee for transmission to the department or, when the secured party receives the owner's assignment from the transferee, it shall transmit the transferee's application for a new certificate, the existing certificate, and the required fee to the department. Compliance with this section does not affect the rights of the secured party.

(5) If a security interest is reserved or created at the time of the transfer, the certificate of ownership shall be retained by or delivered to the person who becomes the secured party, and the parties shall comply with the provisions of RCW 46.12.170.

The director may by rule establish conditions under which the penalty will not be assessed when an application for transfer is delayed for reasons beyond the control of the purchaser. (7) Upon receipt of an application for reissue or replacement of a certificate of ownership and transfer of license registration, accompanied by the endorsed certificate of ownership or other documentary evidence as is deemed necessary, the department shall, if the application is in order and if all provisions relating to the certificate of ownership and license registration have been complied with, issue new certificates of title and license registration as in the case of an original issue and shall transmit the fees together with an itemized detailed report to the state treasurer, to be deposited in the motor vehicle fund.

(8) Once each quarter the department shall report to the department of revenue a list of those vehicles for which a seller's report has been received but no transfer of title has taken place.

Public transportation authorities, nursing homes, senior citizen centers, and private nonprofit agencies are responsible for insuring that the special ~~((cards))~~ placards and license plates are not used improperly and are responsible for all fines and penalties for improper use.

(3) Whenever the disabled person transfers or assigns his or her interest in the vehicle, the special ~~((decals or))~~ license plates shall be removed from the motor vehicle. ~~((The person shall immediately surrender the decal to the director together with a notice of the transfer of interest in the vehicle. If another vehicle is not acquired by the disabled person, the removed plate shall be immediately ~~((forwarded))~~ surrendered to the director ~~((to be reissued later upon payment of the regular registration fee)).~~

(5) Additional fees shall not be charged for the issuance of the special ~~((card and decal, and, at the time the vehicle is originally licensed in this state,))~~ placards. No additional fee may be charged for the issuance of the special license plates except the regular motor vehicle registration fee and any other fees and taxes required to be paid upon ~~((initial))~~ registration of a motor vehicle.

(6) Any unauthorized use of the special ~~((card, the decal,))~~ placard or the special license plate is a ~~((traffic infraction))~~ misdemeanor.

(7) It is a traffic infraction, with a monetary penalty of not less than fifteen and not more than fifty dollars for any person to park a vehicle in a parking place provided on private property without charge or on public property reserved for physically disabled persons without a special license plate ~~((, card, or decal))~~ or placard. If a person is charged with a violation, the person shall not be determined to have committed an infraction if the person produces in court or before the court appearance the special license plate ~~((, card, or decal))~~ or placard required under this section ~~((or demonstrates that the person was entitled to the special license plate, card, or decal)).~~

(8) It is a misdemeanor for any person to willfully obtain a special ~~((decal,))~~ license plate ~~((, or card))~~ or placard in a manner other than that established under this section.

Sec. 22. RCW 46.16.390 and 1984 c 51 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

A special license plate~~(s)~~ or card~~(s or decal)~~ issued by another state or country that indicates an occupant of the vehicle is disabled, entitles the vehicle on or in which it is displayed and being used to transport the disabled person to lawfully park in a parking place reserved for physically disabled persons pursuant to chapter 70.92 RCW or authority implemental thereof.

Sec. 23. RCW 46.20.308 and 1989 c 337 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person who operates a motor vehicle within this state is deemed to have given consent, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of his or her breath or blood if arrested for any offense where, at the time of the arrest, the arresting officer has reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(2) The test or tests of breath shall be administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person to have been driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. However, in those instances where: (a) The person is incapable due to physical injury, physical incapacity, or other physical limitation, of providing a breath sample; or (b) as a result of a traffic accident the person is being treated for a medical condition in a hospital, clinic, doctor's office, or other similar facility in which a breath testing instrument is not present, a blood test shall be administered by a qualified person as provided in RCW 46.61.506(4). The officer shall inform the person of his or her right to refuse the breath or blood test, and of his or her right to have additional tests administered by any qualified person of his or her choosing as provided in RCW 46.61.506. The officer shall warn the driver that (a) his or her privilege to drive will be revoked or denied if he or she refuses to submit to the test, and (b) that his or her refusal to take the test may be used in a criminal trial.

(3) Except as provided in this section, the test administered shall be of the breath only. If an individual is unconscious or is under arrest for the crime of vehicular homicide as provided in RCW 46.61.520 or vehicular assault as provided in RCW 46.61.522, or if an individual is under arrest for the crime of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs as provided in RCW 46.61.502, which arrest results from an accident in which another person has been injured and there is a reasonable likelihood that such other person may die as a result of injuries sustained in the accident, a breath or blood test may be administered without the consent of the individual so arrested.

(4) Any person who is dead, unconscious, or who is otherwise in a condition rendering him or her incapable of refusal, shall be deemed not to have withdrawn the consent provided by subsection (1) of this section and the test or tests may be administered, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, and the person shall be deemed to have received the warnings required under subsection (2) of this section.

(5) If, following his or her arrest and receipt of warnings under subsection (2) of this section, the person arrested refuses upon the request of a law enforcement officer to submit to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood, no test shall be given except as authorized under subsection (3) or (4) of this section.

(6) The department of licensing, upon the receipt of a sworn report of the law enforcement officer that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe the arrested person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and that the person had refused to submit to the test or tests upon the request of the law enforcement officer after being informed that refusal would result in the revocation of the person's privilege to drive, shall revoke the person's license or permit to drive or any nonresident operating privilege.

(7) Upon revoking the license or permit to drive or the nonresident operating privilege of any person, the department shall immediately notify the person involved in writing by personal service or by certified mail of its decision and the grounds therefor, and of the person's right to a hearing, specifying the steps he or she must take to obtain a hearing. Within fifteen days after the notice has been given, the person may, in writing, request a formal hearing. Upon receipt of such request, the department shall afford the person an opportunity for a hearing as provided in RCW 46.20.329 and 46.20.332. The hearing shall be conducted in the county of the arrest. For the purposes of this section, the scope of such hearing shall cover the issues of whether a law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, whether the person was placed under arrest, and whether the person refused to submit to the test or tests upon request of the officer after having been informed that such refusal would result in the revocation of the person's privilege to drive. The department shall order that the revocation either be rescinded or sustained. Any decision by the department revoking a person's driving privilege shall be stayed and shall not take effect while a formal hearing is pending as provided in this section or during the pendency of a subsequent appeal to superior court so long as there is no conviction for a moving violation or no finding that the person has committed a traffic infraction that is a moving violation during pendency of the hearing and appeal.

(8) If the revocation is sustained after such a hearing, the person whose license, privilege, or permit is revoked has the right to file a petition in the superior court of the county of arrest to review the final order of revocation by the department in the manner provided in RCW 46.20.334.

(9) The department shall rescind the revocation of a person's driving privilege under this section upon notification from the court of record that, for the incident upon which the department based its administrative action:

(a)(i) The officer's grounds for believing that the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor were based solely on a nonalcohol or nondrug-related medical condition or (ii) the person's refusal or inability to submit to a breath test was based solely on a nonalcohol or nondrug-related medical condition; and

(b) The person has been found not guilty of driving or being in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug including any drug prescribed for the medical condition. Upon notification from the court of record of a not guilty finding, the department shall expunge the implied consent violation from the person's driving record.

(10) When it has been finally determined under the procedures of this section that a nonresident's privilege to operate a motor vehicle in this state has been revoked, the department shall give information in writing of the action taken to the motor vehicle administrator of the state of the person's residence and of any state in which he or she has a license.

Sec. 24. RCW 46.30.020 and 1989 c 353 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No person may operate a motor vehicle subject to registration under chapter 46.16 RCW in this state unless the person is insured under a motor vehicle liability policy with liability limits of at least the amounts provided in RCW 46.29.090, is self-insured as provided in RCW 46.29.630, is covered by a certificate of deposit in conformance with RCW 46.29.550, or is covered by a liability bond of at least the amounts provided in RCW 46.29.090.

(2) A violation of this section constitutes a traffic infraction punishable by a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars unless a court determines that in the interest of justice the fine should be reduced. In lieu of the fine, a court may permit the defendant to perform community service designated by the court.

(3) If a person cited for a violation of this section appears in person before the court and provides written evidence that at the time the person was cited, he or she was in compliance with this section, the citation shall be dismissed. In lieu of personal appearance, a person cited for a violation of this section may, before the date scheduled for the person's appearance before the court, submit by mail to the court written evidence that at the time the person was cited, he or she was in compliance with this section, in which case the citation shall be dismissed.

(4) The provisions of this chapter shall not govern:

(a) The operation of a motor vehicle registered under RCW (~~46.16.310 or 46.16.315~~) 46.16.305(1), governed by RCW 46.16.020, or registered with the Washington utilities and transportation commission as common or contract carriers; or

(b) The operation of a motorcycle as defined in RCW 46.04.330, a motor-driven cycle as defined in RCW 46.04.332, or a moped as defined in RCW 46.04.304.

(5) RCW 46.29.490 shall not be deemed to govern all motor vehicle liability policies required by this chapter but only those certified for the purposes stated in chapter 46.29 RCW.

Sec. 25. RCW 46.61.582 and 1984 c 154 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

Any person who meets the criteria for special parking privileges under RCW 46.16.381 shall be allowed free of charge to park a vehicle being used to transport that person for unlimited periods of time in parking zones or areas including zones or areas with parking meters which are otherwise restricted as to the length of time parking is permitted. This section does not apply to those zones or areas in which the stopping, parking, or standing of all vehicles is prohibited or which are reserved for special types of vehicles. The person shall obtain and display a special (~~card, decal,~~) placard or license plate under RCW 46.16.381 to be eligible for the privileges under this section.

Sec. 26. RCW 46.61.583 and 1984 c 51 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

A special license plate(~~s~~) or card(~~, or decal~~) issued by another state or country that indicates an occupant of the vehicle is disabled, entitles the vehicle on or in which it is displayed and being used to transport the disabled person to the same overtime parking privileges granted under this chapter to a vehicle with a similar special license plate(~~s~~) or card(~~, or decal~~) issued by this state.

Sec. 27. RCW 46.63.020 and 1990 c 250 s 59 and 1990 c 95 s 3 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

Failure to perform any act required or the performance of any act prohibited by this title or an equivalent administrative regulation or local law, ordinance, regulation, or resolution relating to traffic including parking, standing, stopping, and pedestrian offenses, is designated as a traffic infraction and may not be classified as a criminal offense, except for an offense contained in the following provisions of this title or a violation of an equivalent administrative regulation or local law, ordinance, regulation, or resolution:

Sec. 28. RCW 46.70.023 and 1989 c 301 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An "established place of business" requires a permanent, enclosed commercial building located within the state of Washington easily accessible at all reasonable times. An established place of business shall have an improved display area of not less than three thousand square feet in or immediately adjoining the building, or a display area large enough to display six or more vehicles of the type the dealer is licensed to sell, whichever area is larger. The business of a vehicle dealer, including the display and repair of vehicles, may be lawfully carried on at an established place of business in accordance with the terms of all applicable building code, zoning, and other land-use regulatory ordinances. The dealer shall keep the building open to the public so that they may contact the vehicle dealer or the dealer's salespersons at all reasonable times. The books, records, and files necessary to conduct the business shall be kept and maintained at that place. The established place of business shall display an exterior sign with the ~~((business))~~ business name and nature of the business, such as auto sales, permanently affixed to the land or building, with letters clearly visible to the major avenue of traffic. In no event may a room or rooms in a hotel, rooming house, or apartment house building or part of a single or multiple-unit dwelling house be considered an "established place of business" unless the ground floor of such a dwelling is devoted principally to and occupied for commercial purposes and the dealer offices are located on the ground floor. A mobile office or mobile home may be used as an office if it is connected to utilities and is set up in accordance with state law. This subsection does not apply to auction companies that do not own vehicle inventory or sell vehicles from an auction yard.

(2) An auction company shall have office facilities within the state. The books, records, and files necessary to conduct the business shall be maintained at the office facilities. All storage facilities for inventory shall be listed with the department, and shall meet local zoning and land use ordinances. An auction company shall maintain a telecommunications system.

(3) Auction companies shall post their vehicle dealer license at each auction where vehicles are offered, and shall provide the department with the address of the auction at least three days before the auction.

(4) If a dealer maintains a place of business at more than one location or under more than one name in this state, he or she shall designate one location as the principal place of business of the firm, one name as the principal name of the firm, and all other locations or names as subagencies. A subagency license is required for each and every subagency: PROVIDED, That the department may grant an exception to the subagency requirement in the specific instance where a licensed ~~((new motor vehicle))~~ dealer is unable to locate their used vehicle sales facilities adjacent to or at the established place of business. This exception shall be granted and defined under the promulgation of rules consistent with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(5) All vehicle dealers shall maintain ownership or leasehold throughout the license year of the real property from which they do business. The dealer shall provide the department with evidence of ownership or leasehold whenever the ownership changes or the lease is terminated.

(6) A subagency shall comply with all requirements of an established place of business, except that auction companies shall comply with the requirements in subsection (2) of this section.

(7) A temporary subagency shall meet all local zoning and building codes for the type of merchandising being conducted. The dealer license certificate shall be posted at the location. No other requirements of an established place of business apply to a temporary subagency. Auction companies are not required to obtain a temporary subagency license.

(8) A wholesale vehicle dealer shall have office facilities in a commercial building within this state, and all storage facilities for inventory shall be listed with the department, and shall meet local zoning and land use ordinances. A wholesale vehicle dealer shall maintain a telecommunications system. An exterior sign visible from the nearest street shall identify the business name and the nature of business. A wholesale dealer need not maintain a display area as required in this section. When two or more vehicle dealer businesses share a location, all records, office facilities, and inventory, if any, must be physically segregated and clearly identified.

(9) A retail vehicle dealer shall be open during normal business hours, maintain office and display facilities in a commercially zoned location or in a location complying with all applicable building and land use ordinances, and maintain a business telephone listing in the local directory. When two or more vehicle dealer businesses share a location, all records, office facilities, and inventory shall be physically segregated and clearly identified.

(10) A listing dealer need not have a display area if the dealer does not physically maintain any vehicles for display.

(11) A subagency license is not required for a mobile home dealer to display an on-site display model, a consigned mobile home not relocated from its site, or a repossessed mobile home if sales are handled from a principal place of business or subagency. A mobile home dealer shall identify on-site display models, repossessed mobile homes, and those consigned at their sites with a sign that includes the dealer's name and telephone number.

(12) Every vehicle dealer shall advise the department of the location of each and every place of business of the firm and the name or names under which the firm is doing business at such location or locations. If any name or location is changed, the dealer shall notify the department of such change within ten days. The license issued by the department shall reflect the name and location of the firm and shall be posted in a conspicuous place at that location by the dealer.

(13) A vehicle dealer's license shall upon the death or incapacity of an individual vehicle dealer authorize the personal representative of such dealer, subject to payment of license fees, to continue the business for a period of six months from the date of the death or incapacity.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

ESHB 1608

April 26, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Improving services for children.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1608, Children's services, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate Committee on Children and Family Services amendment(s) adopted 4/19/91 be not adopted and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The department of social and health services shall conduct an assessment of the children in its care to determine the appropriate level of residential and treatment services required by these children. Prior to performing the assessment, the department shall, in conjunction with the private sector, develop a comprehensive, multidisciplinary diagnostic/assessment tool to be used in conducting the assessment. Any such assessment shall be based on a statistically valid sample of all children in the department's care. The department shall report the results of the assessment to the appropriate standing committees of the legislature by September 15, 1992. The department shall submit recommendations to the appropriate standing committees of the legislature on reallocating funds for children's services by December 1, 1992.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

The department of social and health services may implement a therapeutic family home program for up to fifteen youth in the custody of the department under chapter 13.34 RCW. The program shall strive to develop and maintain a mutually reinforcing relationship between the youth and the therapeutic staff associated with the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The legislature finds that a destructive lifestyle of drug and street gang activity is rapidly becoming prevalent among some of the state's youths. Gang and drug activity may be a culturally influenced phenomenon which the legislature intends public and private agencies to consider and address in prevention and treatment programs. Gang and drug-involved youths are more likely to become addicted to drugs or alcohol, live in poverty, experience high unemployment, be incarcerated, and die of violence than other youths.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 13.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of social and health services may contract with a community-based nonprofit organization to establish a three-step transitional treatment program for gang and drug-involved juvenile offenders committed to the custody of the department under chapter 13.40 RCW. Any such program shall provide six to twenty-four months of treatment. The program shall emphasize the principles of self-determination, unity, collective work and responsibility, cooperative economics, and creativity. The program shall be culturally relevant and appropriate and shall include:

(a) A culturally relevant and appropriate institution-based program that provides comprehensive drug and alcohol services, individual and family counseling, and a wilderness experience of constructive group living, rigorous physical exercise, and academic studies;

(b) A culturally relevant and appropriate community-based structured group living program that focuses on individual goals, positive community involvement, coordinated drug and alcohol treatment, coordinated individual and family counseling, academic and vocational training, and employment in apprenticeship, internship, and entrepreneurial programs; and

(c) A culturally relevant and appropriate transitional group living program that provides support services, academic services, and coordinated individual and family counseling.

(2) Participation in any such program shall be on a voluntary basis.

(3) The department shall adopt rules as necessary to implement any such program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The department of social and health services may contract with an independent research organization to conduct an evaluation of any program that is established under section 4 of this act. The evaluation shall include an analysis of the race and ethnicity of juvenile offenders served, the offenses for which the youths were committed, the services provided, the effects of the program on educational and vocational achievement, and the rate of recidivism for these youth.

(2) Any organization selected shall provide a preliminary report on the program to appropriate standing committees of the senate and house of representatives by September 15, 1992. Any final report shall be submitted to appropriate standing committees of the senate and house of representatives by January 15, 1993.

Sec. 6. RCW 13.34.030 and 1988 c 176 s 901 are each amended to read as follows:

For purposes of this chapter:

(1) "Child" and "juvenile" means any individual under the age of eighteen years;

(2) "Dependent child" means any child:

(a) Who has been abandoned; that is, where the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian has evidenced either by statement or conduct, a settled intent to forego, for an extended period, all parental rights or all parental responsibilities despite an ability to do so;

(b) Who is abused or neglected as defined in chapter 26.44 RCW by a person legally responsible for the care of the child;

(c) Who has no parent, guardian, or custodian capable of adequately caring for the child, such that the child is in circumstances which constitute a danger of substantial damage to the child's psychological or physical development; or

(d) Who has a developmental disability, as defined in RCW 71A.10.020 and whose parent, guardian, or legal custodian together with the department determines that services appropriate to the child's needs can not be provided in the home. However, (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection may still be applied if other reasons for removal of the child from the home exist.

(3) "Permanency planning" means the process by which a child is diagnostically assessed and provided treatment services based on his or her unique individual and developmental needs to facilitate the attainment of successful maturity as an adult. Permanency planning should occur in the least restrictive setting appropriate and available and with minimum placement disruption.

(4) "Transitional living programs" means programs that provide shelter and services designed to promote transition to self-sufficient living, development of independent living skills, and to minimize the incidence of long-term dependency on social services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Out-of-home placement services become necessary whenever voluntary or court-ordered out-of-home placement of a child is imminent or has already occurred. In striving to meet the objective of permanency for every child, a continuum of services must encompass the full range of possible alternatives. A variety of services are available to prevent out-of-home placement or address the needs of the child and family when out-of-home placement becomes necessary, however, the continuum of care is severely lacking in providing transitional living services for older youth.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:

The department of social and health services shall contract, using the request for proposal process, with independent qualified agencies to provide transitional living services to minors.

Persons sixteen to eighteen years old or sixteen years old until emancipation are eligible for transitional living services. The population eligible for transitional living services are those for whom returning to their parents' or guardians' home is not possible and for whom foster care or adoption is not likely or appropriate. An assessment shall be done of each minor, including the minor's family situation, before receiving transitional living services. The assessment shall include input from the agency that would be providing the transitional living services to the minor, the agency currently providing services to the minor, and the caseworker for the minor. The assessment shall seek to determine whether the most appropriate plan for the minor is preparation for emancipation. The assessment shall also determine whether the minor is motivated to participate in a transitional living program that requires significant commitment from the minor. A primary goal of transitional living services shall be the acquisition by the youth of basic educational and/or vocational skills that are compatible with the individual's treatment plan. If a youth demonstrates a consistent unwillingness to participate in the acquisition of such skills, a reassessment shall be done of the youth's appropriateness for the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

April 25, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Prohibiting unauthorized acts against animal facilities.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5629, Animal facilities/illegal acts, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That all previous amendments not be adopted, and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 9.08 RCW to read as follows:

There has been an increasing number of illegal acts committed against animal production and research facilities involving injury or loss of life to animals or humans, criminal trespass, and damage to property. These actions not only abridge the property rights of the owners, operators, and employees of the facility, they may also damage the public interest by jeopardizing crucial animal production or agricultural, scientific, or biomedical research. These actions may also threaten the public safety by exposing communities to public health concerns and creating traffic hazards. These actions substantially disrupt or damage research and result in the potential loss of physical and intellectual property. While the criminal code, particularly the malicious mischief crimes, adequately covers those who intentionally and without authority damage or destroy farm animals, the code does not adequately cover similar misconduct directed against research and educational facilities. Therefore, it is in the interest of the people of the state of Washington to protect the welfare of humans and animals, as well as the productive use of private or public funds, to promote and protect scientific and medical research, foster education, and preserve and enhance agricultural production.

It is the intent of the legislature that the courts in deciding applications for injunctive relief under section 5 of this act give full consideration to the constitutional rights of persons to speak freely, to picket, and to conduct other lawful activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 9.08 RCW to read as follows:

A person is guilty of a class C felony: If he or she, without authorization, knowingly takes, releases, destroys, contaminates, or damages any animal or animals kept in a research or educational facility where the animal or animals are used or to be used for medical research purposes or other research purposes or for educational purposes; or if he or she, without authorization, knowingly destroys or damages any records, equipment, research product, or other thing pertaining to such animal or animals.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Joint and several liability for damages shall apply to persons and organizations that commit an intentional tort by (a) taking, releasing, destroying, contaminating, or damaging any animal or animals kept in a research or educational facility, where the animal or animals are used or to be used for medical research or other research purposes, or for educational purposes; or (b) destroying or damaging any records, equipment, research product, or other thing pertaining to such animal or animals.

(2) Any person or organization that plans or assists in the development of a plan to commit an intentional tort covered by subsection (1) of this section is liable for damages to the same extent as a person who has committed the tort. However, a person or organization that assists in the development of a plan is not liable under this subsection, if, at the time of providing the assistance the person or organization does not know, or have reason to know, that the assistance is promoting the commission of the tort. Membership in a liable organization does not in itself establish the member's liability under this subsection. The common law defense of prior renunciation is allowed in actions brought under this subsection.

(3) In any case where damages are awarded under this section, the court shall award to the plaintiff all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorneys' fees, investigation costs, and court costs, and shall impose on any liable party a civil fine of not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars to be paid to the plaintiff.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Joint and several liability for damages shall apply to persons and organizations that commit an intentional tort by taking, releasing, destroying or damaging any animal or animals kept by a person for agricultural production purposes or by a veterinarian for veterinary purposes; or by destroying or damaging any farm or veterinary equipment or supplies pertaining to such animal or animals.

(2) Any person or organization that plans or assists in the development of a plan to commit an intentional tort covered by subsection (1) of this section is liable for damages to the same extent as a person who has committed the tort. However, a person or organization that assists in the development of a plan is not liable under this subsection, if, at the time of providing the assistance the person or organization does not know, or have reason to know, that the assistance is promoting the commission of the tort. Membership in a liable organization does not in itself establish the member's liability under this subsection. The common law defense of prior renunciation is allowed in actions brought under this subsection.

(3) In any case where damages are awarded under this section, the court shall award to the plaintiff all costs of the litigation, including reasonable attorneys' fees, investigation costs, and court costs, and shall impose on any liable party a civil fine of not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars to be paid to the plaintiff.

(4) "Agricultural production," for purposes of this section, means all activities associated with the raising of animals for agricultural purposes, including but not limited to animals raised for wool or fur. Agricultural production also includes the exhibiting or marketing of live animals raised for agricultural purposes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

Any individual having reason to believe that he or she may be injured by the commission of an intentional tort under section 3 or 4 of this act may apply for injunctive relief to prevent the occurrence of the tort. Any individual who owns or is employed at a research or educational facility or an agricultural production facility where animals are used for research, educational, or agricultural purposes who is harassed, or believes that he or she is about to be harassed, by an organization, person, or persons whose intent is to stop or modify the facility's use or uses of an animal or animals, may apply for injunctive relief to prevent the harassment.

For the purposes of this section:

(1) "Agricultural production" means all activities associated with the raising of animals for agricultural purposes, including but not limited to animals raised for wool or fur. Agricultural production also includes the exhibiting or marketing of live animals raised for agricultural purposes; and

(2) "Harassment" means any threat, without lawful authority, that the recipient has good reason to fear will be carried out, that is knowingly made for the purpose of stopping or modifying the use of animals, and that either (a) would cause injury to the person or property of the recipient, or result in the recipient's physical confinement or restraint, or (b) is a malicious threat to do any other act intended to substantially cause harm to the recipient's mental health or safety.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "facilities;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding new sections to chapter 9.08 RCW; adding new sections to chapter 4.24 RCW; prescribing penalties; and declaring an emergency.", and the bill do pass as recommended by the Conference Committee.

MR. PRESIDENT:

The House has adopted the Report of the Conference Committee on ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 5824 and has passed the bill as recommended by the Conference Committee, and the same are herewith transmitted.

ALAN THOMPSON, Chief Clerk

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

ESB 5824

April 26, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": NO

Changing provisions relating to the funding of community college summer courses.

MR. SPEAKER:

MR. PRESIDENT:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 5824, Community college summer courses, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That all previous amendments not be adopted, and the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 28B.15 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The boards of trustees of the community college districts may operate summer schools on either a self-supporting or a state-funded basis.

If summer school is operated on a self-supporting basis, the fees charged shall be retained by the colleges, and shall be sufficient to cover the direct costs, which are instructional salaries and related benefits, supplies, publications, and records.

Community colleges that have self-supporting summer schools shall continue to receive general fund state support for vocational programs that require that students enroll in a four quarter sequence of courses that includes summer quarter due to clinical or laboratory requirements and for ungraded courses limited to adult basic education, vocational apprenticeship, aging and retirement, small business management, industrial first aid, and parent education.

(2)(a) The board of trustees of a community college district may permit the district's state-funded, full-time equivalent enrollment level, as provided in the operating budget appropriations act, to vary by plus or minus two percent each fiscal year unless otherwise authorized in the operating budget appropriations act. If the variance is above the state-funded level, the district may charge those students above the state-funded level a fee equivalent to the amount of tuition and fees that are charged students enrolled in state-funded courses. These fees shall be retained by the colleges.

(b) Any community college that in 1990-91 has an enrollment above the state-funded level but below the authorized variance may increase its excess enrollments to within the variance.

(c) Community colleges that currently have excess enrollments more than the authorized variance, by means of enrollments that would have otherwise been eligible for state funding, shall reduce those excess enrollments to within the authorized variance by September 1, 1995, in at least equal annual reductions, commencing with the 1991-92 fiscal year.

(d) Except as permitted by (c) of this subsection, should the number of student-supported, full-time equivalent enrollments in any fiscal year fall outside the authorized variance, the college shall return by September 1st to the state general fund, an amount equal to the college's full average state appropriations per full-time equivalent student for such student-funded full-time equivalent outside the variance, unless otherwise provided in the operating budget appropriations act.

(3) The state board for community college education shall ensure compliance with this section.

Sec. 2. RCW 28B.15.502 and 1985 c 390 s 25 are each amended to read as follows:

Tuition fees and services and activities fees at each community college other than at summer quarters shall be as follows:

(1) For full time resident students, the total tuition fees shall be twenty-three percent of the per student educational costs at the community colleges computed as provided in RCW 28B.15.067 and 28B.15.070: PROVIDED, That the building fees for each academic year shall be one hundred and twenty-seven dollars and fifty cents.

(2) For full time nonresident students, the total tuition fees shall be one hundred percent of the per student educational costs at the community colleges computed as provided in RCW 28B.15.067 and 28B.15.070: PROVIDED, That the building fees for each academic year shall be four hundred and three dollars and fifty cents.

(3) The boards of trustees of each of the state community colleges shall charge and collect equally from each of the students registering at the particular institution and included in subsections (1) and (2) hereof a services and activities fee which for each year of the 1981-83 biennium shall not exceed sixty-four dollars and fifty cents. In subsequent biennia the board of trustees may increase the existing fee, consistent with budgeting procedures set forth in RCW 28B.15.045, by a percentage not to exceed the percentage increase in tuition fees authorized in subsection (1) above: PROVIDED, That such percentage increase shall not apply to that portion of the services and activities fee previously committed to the repayment of bonded debt. The services and activities fee committee provided for in RCW 28B.15.045 may initiate a request to the governing board for a fee increase.

(4) Tuition and services and activities fees consistent with the above schedule will be fixed by the state board for community colleges for summer school students unless the community college charges fees in accordance with section 1 of this 1991 act.

The board of trustees shall charge such fees for ungraded courses, noncredit courses, community services courses, and self-supporting short courses as it, in its discretion, may determine, not inconsistent with the rules and regulations of the state board for community college education.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect June 15, 1991., and the bill do pass as recommended by the Conference Committee.

There being no objection, the Senate resumed consideration of the pending Second Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1956, deferred earlier today.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Williams, the President finds that Substitute House Bill No. 1956 is a measure which, among other things, addresses infested plants, provides a system for exclusion of plant and bee pests and, under certain circumstances, allows for the aerial application of pesticides.

"The proposed Second Conference Committee Report, beginning with Section 23, adds several provisions dealing with the application, notice and record keeping requirements of pesticide use.

"The President, therefore, finds that the proposed Conference Committee Report does not change the scope and object of the bill and that the point of order is not well taken."

The Second Report of the Conference Committee Report on Substitute House Bill No. 1956 was ruled in order.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the motion by Senator Barr, made earlier today that the Senate do adopt the Second Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1956.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

April 15, 1991

MR. PRESIDENT:

The House has passed ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5121 with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 42.40.020 and 1989 c 284 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

As used in this chapter, the terms defined in this section shall have the meanings indicated unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Auditor" means the office of the state auditor.

(2) "Employee" means any individual employed or holding office in any department or agency of state government.

(3)(a) "Improper governmental action" means any action by an employee:

(i) Which is undertaken in the performance of the employee's official duties, whether or not the action is within the scope of the employee's employment; and

(ii) Which is in violation of any state law or rule, is an abuse of authority, is of substantial and specific danger to the public health or safety, or is a gross waste of public funds.

(b) "Improper governmental action" does not include personnel actions including but not limited to employee grievances, complaints, appointments, promotions, transfers, assignments, reassignments, reinstatements, restorations, reemployments, performance evaluations, reductions in pay, dismissals, suspensions, demotions, violations of the state civil service law, alleged labor agreement violations, reprimands, or any action which may be taken under chapter 41.06 or 28B.16 RCW, or other disciplinary action except as provided in RCW 42.40.030.

(4) "Use of official authority or influence" includes taking, directing others to take, recommending, processing, or approving any personnel action such as an appointment, promotion, transfer, assignment, reassignment, reinstatement, restoration, reemployment, performance evaluation, or any adverse action under chapter 41.06 or 28B.16 RCW, or other disciplinary action.

(5) "Whistleblower" means an employee who in good faith reports alleged improper governmental action to the auditor, initiating an investigation under RCW 42.40.040. For purposes of the provisions of this chapter and chapter 49.60 RCW relating to reprisals and retaliatory action, the term "whistleblower" also means an employee who in good faith provides information to the auditor in connection with an investigation under RCW 42.40.040 and an employee who is believed to have reported alleged improper governmental action to the auditor or to have provided information to the auditor in connection with an investigation under RCW 42.40.040 but who, in fact, has not reported such action or provided such information.

Sec. 2. RCW 42.40.040 and 1989 c 284 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Upon receiving specific information that an employee has engaged in improper governmental action, the auditor shall, within five working days of receipt of the information, mail written acknowledgement to the whistleblower at the address provided. For a period not to exceed thirty days, the auditor shall conduct such preliminary investigation of the matter as the auditor deems appropriate. In conducting the investigation, the identity of the ~~((person providing the information which initiated the investigation))~~ whistleblower shall be kept confidential.

(2) In addition to the authority under subsection (1) of this section, the auditor may, on its own initiative, investigate incidents of improper state governmental action.

(3)(a) If it appears to the auditor, upon completion of the preliminary investigation, that the matter is so unsubstantiated that no further investigation, prosecution, or administrative action is warranted, the auditor shall so notify the ~~((person, if known, who provided the information initiating the investigation))~~ whistleblower.

(b) The notification shall be by memorandum containing a summary of the information received, a summary of the results of the preliminary investigation with regard to each allegation of improper governmental action, and any determination made by the auditor under (c) of this subsection.

(c) In any case to which this section applies, the identity of the (~~person who provided the information initiating the investigation~~) whistleblower shall be kept confidential unless the auditor determines that the information has been provided other than in good faith.

(d) If it appears to the auditor that the matter does not meet the definition of an "improper governmental action" under RCW 42.40.020(3), or is other than a gross waste of public funds, the auditor may forward a summary of the allegations to the appropriate agency for investigation and require a response by memorandum containing a summary of the investigation with regard to each allegation and any determination of corrective action taken. The auditor will keep the identity of the (~~person who provided the information initiating the investigation~~) whistleblower confidential. Upon receipt of the results of the investigation from the appropriate agency, the auditor will notify the (~~provider~~) whistleblower as prescribed under (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection.

(4) If it appears to the auditor after completion of the preliminary investigation that further investigation, prosecution, or administrative action is warranted, the auditor shall so notify the (~~party, if known, who provided the information initiating the investigation~~) whistleblower and either conduct further investigations or issue a report under subsection (6) of this section. Within sixty days after the thirty-day period in subsection (1) of this section, the auditor shall complete the investigation and report its findings to the whistleblower unless written justification for the delay is furnished to the whistleblower. In all such cases, the report of the auditor's investigation and findings shall be sent to the whistleblower within one year after the information was filed under subsection (1) of this section.

(5)(a) At any stage of an investigation under this section the auditor may require by subpoena the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary or other evidence relating to the investigation at any designated place in the state. The auditor may issue subpoenas, administer oaths, examine witnesses, and receive evidence. In the case of contumacy or failure to obey a subpoena, the superior court for the county in which the person to whom the subpoena is addressed resides or is served may issue an order requiring the person to appear at any designated place to testify or to produce documentary or other evidence. Any failure to obey the order of the court may be punished by the court as a contempt thereof.

(b) The auditor may order the taking of depositions at any stage of a proceeding or investigation under this chapter. Depositions shall be taken before an individual designated by the auditor and having the power to administer oaths. Testimony shall be reduced to writing by or under the direction of the individual taking the deposition and shall be subscribed by the deponent.

(6)(a) If the auditor determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that an employee has engaged in any improper activity, the auditor shall report the nature and details of the activity to:

(i) The employee and the head of the employing agency; and

(ii) If appropriate, the attorney general or such other authority as the auditor determines appropriate.

(b) The auditor has no enforcement power except that in any case in which the auditor submits a report of alleged improper activity to the head of an agency, the attorney general, or any other individual to which a report has been made under this section, the individual shall report to the auditor with respect to any action taken by the individual regarding the activity, the first report being transmitted no later than thirty days after the date of the auditor's report and monthly thereafter until final action is taken. If the auditor determines that appropriate action is not being taken within a reasonable time, the auditor shall report the determination to the governor and to the legislature.

(7) This section does not limit any authority conferred upon the attorney general or any other agency of government to investigate any matter.

Sec. 3. RCW 42.40.050 and 1989 c 284 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((1) Any employee (a) who provides his or her name and specific information to the auditor on any matter which is found to warrant further investigation or other action, or which is provided by the employee in good faith, as determined by the auditor, whether or not further action is warranted and (b) who is subjected to any reprisal or retaliatory action undertaken during the period beginning on the day after the date on which the specific information is received by the auditor alleging improper governmental action, may seek judicial review of the reprisal or retaliatory action in superior court, whether or not there has been an administrative review of the action. In such an action, the reviewing court may award reasonable attorney's fees.~~

~~(2) The employee who provided specific information shall notify the state auditor in writing if any changes in the employee's work situation exist which are related to the employee's having provided information. If the auditor has reason to believe that such a change in work situation has occurred, the auditor shall investigate and report on the matter in accordance with this chapter.~~

~~(3)) Any person who is a whistleblower, as defined in RCW 42.40.020, and who as a result of being a whistleblower has been subjected to workplace reprisal or retaliatory action has the remedies provided under chapter 49.60 RCW. For the purpose of this section "reprisal or retaliatory action" means but is not limited to:~~

~~((a)) (1) Denial of adequate staff to perform duties;~~

~~((b)) (2) Frequent staff changes;~~

~~((c)) (3) Frequent and undesirable office changes;~~

~~((d)) (4) Refusal to assign meaningful work;~~

~~((e)) (5) Unwarranted and unsubstantiated letters of reprimand or unsatisfactory performance evaluations;~~

~~((f)) (6) Demotion;~~

~~((g)) (7) Reduction in pay;~~

~~((h)) (8) Denial of promotion;~~

~~((i)) (9) Suspension; ~~and~~~~

~~(j)) (10) Dismissal;~~

~~(11) Denial of employment; and~~

~~(12) A supervisor or superior encouraging coworkers to behave in a hostile manner toward the whistleblower.~~

Nothing in this section prohibits an agency from making any decision exercising its authority to terminate, suspend, or discipline an employee who engages in workplace reprisal or retaliatory action against a whistleblower. However, the agency also shall implement any order under chapter 49.60 RCW (other than an order of suspension if the agency has terminated the retaliator).

Sec. 4. RCW 49.60.210 and 1985 c 185 s 18 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is an unfair practice for any employer, employment agency, labor union, or other person to discharge, expel, or otherwise discriminate against any person because he or she has opposed any practices forbidden by this chapter, or because he or she has filed a charge, testified, or assisted in any proceeding under this chapter.

(2) It is an unfair practice for a government agency or government manager or supervisor to retaliate against a whistleblower as defined in chapter 42.40 RCW.

Sec. 5. RCW 49.60.250 and 1989 c 175 s 115 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In case of failure to reach an agreement for the elimination of such unfair practice, and upon the entry of findings to that effect, the entire file, including the complaint and any and all findings made, shall be certified to the chairperson of the commission. The chairperson of the commission shall thereupon request the appointment of an administrative law judge under Title 34 RCW to hear the complaint and shall cause to be issued and served in the name of the commission a written notice, together with a copy of the complaint, as the same may have been amended, requiring the respondent to answer the charges of the complaint at a hearing before the administrative law judge, at a time and place to be specified in such notice.

(2) The place of any such hearing may be the office of the commission or another place designated by it. The case in support of the complaint shall be presented at the hearing by counsel for the commission: PROVIDED, That the complainant may retain independent counsel and submit testimony and be fully heard. No member or employee of the commission who previously made the investigation or caused the notice to be issued shall participate in the hearing except as a witness, nor shall the member or employee participate in the deliberations of the administrative law judge in such case. Any endeavors or negotiations for conciliation shall not be received in evidence.

(3) The respondent shall file a written answer to the complaint and appear at the hearing in person or otherwise, with or without counsel, and submit testimony and be fully heard. The respondent has the right to cross-examine the complainant.

(4) The administrative law judge conducting any hearing may permit reasonable amendment to any complaint or answer. Testimony taken at the hearing shall be under oath and recorded.

(5) If, upon all the evidence, the administrative law judge finds that the respondent has engaged in any unfair practice, the administrative law judge shall state findings of fact and shall issue and file with the commission and cause to be served on such respondent an order requiring such respondent to cease and desist from such unfair practice and to take such affirmative action, including, (but not limited to) hiring, reinstatement or upgrading of employees, with or without back pay, an admission or restoration to full membership rights in any respondent organization, or to take such other action as, in the judgment of the administrative law judge, will effectuate the purposes of this chapter, including action that could be ordered by a court, except that damages for humiliation and mental suffering shall not exceed one thousand dollars, and including a requirement for report of the matter on compliance.

(6) If a determination is made that retaliatory action, as defined in RCW 42.40.050, has been taken against a whistleblower, as defined in RCW 42.40.020, the administrative law judge may, in addition to any other remedy, impose a civil penalty upon the retaliator of up to three thousand dollars and issue an order to the state employer to suspend the retaliator for up to thirty days without pay. At a minimum, the administrative law judge shall require that a letter of reprimand be placed in the retaliator's personnel file. All penalties recovered shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the general fund.

(7) The final order of the administrative law judge shall include a notice to the parties of the right to obtain judicial review of the order by appeal in accordance with the provisions of RCW 34.05.510 through 34.05.598, and that such appeal must be served and filed within thirty days after the service of the order on the parties.

~~((7))~~ (8) If, upon all the evidence, the administrative law judge finds that the respondent has not engaged in any alleged unfair practice, the administrative law judge shall state findings of fact and shall similarly issue and file an order dismissing the complaint.

~~((8))~~ (9) An order dismissing a complaint may include an award of reasonable attorneys' fees in favor of the respondent if the administrative law judge concludes that the complaint was frivolous, unreasonable, or groundless.

~~((9))~~ (10) The commission shall establish rules of practice to govern, expedite, and effectuate the foregoing procedure.

Sec. 6. RCW 43.09.050 and 1979 c 151 s 91 are each amended to read as follows:

The auditor shall:

(1) Except as otherwise specifically provided by law, audit the accounts of all collectors of the revenue and other holders of public money required by law to pay the same into the treasury;

Sec. 7. RCW 43.88.160 and 1987 c 505 s 36 are each amended to read as follows:

This section sets forth the major fiscal duties and responsibilities of officers and agencies of the executive branch. The regulations issued by the governor pursuant to this chapter shall provide for a comprehensive, orderly basis for fiscal management and control, including efficient accounting and reporting therefor, for the executive branch of the state government and may include, in addition, such requirements as will generally promote more efficient public management in the state.

(1) Governor; director of financial management. The governor, through the director of financial management, shall devise and supervise a modern and complete accounting system for each agency to the end that all revenues, expenditures, receipts, disbursements, resources and obligations of the state shall be properly and systematically accounted for. The accounting system shall include the development of accurate, timely records and reports of all financial affairs of the state. The system shall also provide for central accounts in the office of financial management at the level of detail deemed necessary by the director to perform central financial management. The director of financial management shall adopt and periodically update an accounting procedures manual. Any agency maintaining its own accounting and reporting system shall comply with the updated accounting procedures manual and the rules of the director adopted under this chapter. An agency may receive a waiver from complying with this requirement if the waiver is approved by the director. Waivers expire at the end of the fiscal biennium for which they are granted. The director shall forward notice of waivers granted to the legislative fiscal committees. The director of financial management may require such financial, statistical, and other reports as the director deems necessary from all agencies covering any period.

The director of financial management is responsible for quarterly reporting of primary budget drivers such as applicable workloads, caseload estimates, and appropriate unit cost data. These reports shall be transmitted to the legislative fiscal committees or by electronic means to the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee. Quarterly reports shall include actual monthly data and the variance between actual and estimated data to date. The reports shall also include estimates of these items for the remainder of the budget period.

In addition, the director of financial management, as agent of the governor, shall:

(a) Make surveys and analyses of agencies with the object of determining better methods and increased effectiveness in the use of manpower and materials; and the director shall authorize expenditures for employee training to the end that the state may benefit from training facilities made available to state employees;

(b) Report to the governor with regard to duplication of effort or lack of coordination among agencies;

(c) Review any pay and classification plans, and changes thereunder, developed by any agency for their fiscal impact: PROVIDED, That none of the provisions of this subsection shall affect merit systems of personnel management now existing or hereafter established by statute relating to the fixing of qualifications requirements for recruitment, appointment, or promotion of employees of any agency. The director shall advise and confer with agencies including appropriate standing committees of the legislature as may be designated by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate regarding the fiscal impact of such plans and may amend or alter said plans, except that for the following agencies no amendment or alteration of said plans may be made without the approval of the agency concerned: Agencies headed by elective officials;

(d) Fix the number and classes of positions or authorized man years of employment for each agency and during the fiscal period amend the determinations previously fixed by the director except that the director shall not be empowered to fix said number or said classes for the following: Agencies headed by elective officials;

(e) Provide for transfers and repayments between the budget stabilization account and the general fund as directed by appropriation and RCW 43.88.525 through 43.88.540;

(f) Promulgate regulations to effectuate provisions contained in ~~((subsections))~~ (a) through (e) ~~((hereof))~~ of this subsection.

(2) The treasurer shall:

(a) Receive, keep and disburse all public funds of the state not expressly required by law to be received, kept and disbursed by some other persons: PROVIDED, That this subsection shall not apply to those public funds of the institutions of higher learning which are not subject to appropriation;

(b) Disburse public funds under the treasurer's supervision or custody by warrant or check;

(c) Keep a correct and current account of all moneys received and disbursed by the treasurer, classified by fund or account;

(d) Perform such other duties as may be required by law or by regulations issued pursuant to this law.

It shall be unlawful for the treasurer to issue any warrant or check for public funds in the treasury except upon forms duly prescribed by the director of financial management. Said forms shall provide for authentication and certification by the agency head or the agency head's designee that the services have been rendered or the materials have been furnished; or, in the case of loans or grants, that the loans or grants are authorized by law; or, in the case of payments for periodic maintenance services to be performed on state owned equipment, that a written contract for such periodic maintenance services is currently in effect and copies thereof are on file with the office of financial management; and the treasurer shall not be liable under the treasurer's surety bond for erroneous or improper payments so made: PROVIDED, That when services are lawfully paid for in advance of full performance by any private individual or business entity other than as provided for by RCW 42.24.035, such individual or entity other than central stores rendering such services shall make a cash deposit or furnish surety bond coverage to the state as shall be fixed in an amount by law, or if not fixed by law, then in such amounts as shall be fixed by the director of the department of general administration but in no case shall such required cash deposit or surety bond be less than an amount which will fully indemnify the state against any and all losses on account of breach of promise to fully perform such services: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That no payments shall be made in advance for any equipment maintenance services to be performed more than three months after such payment. Any such bond so furnished shall be conditioned that the person, firm or corporation receiving the advance payment will apply it toward performance of the contract. The responsibility for recovery of erroneous or improper payments made under this section shall lie with the agency head or the agency head's designee in accordance with regulations issued pursuant to this chapter. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit a public body to advance funds to a private service provider pursuant to a grant or loan before services have been rendered or material furnished.

(3) The state auditor shall:

(a) Report to the legislature the results of current post audits that have been made of the financial transactions of each agency; to this end the auditor may, in the auditor's discretion, examine the books and accounts of any agency, official or employee charged with the receipt, custody or safekeeping of public funds. The current post audit of each agency may include a section on recommendations to the legislature as provided in (c) of this subsection (~~((3)(e) of this section~~)).

(b) Give information to the legislature, whenever required, upon any subject relating to the financial affairs of the state.

(c) Make the auditor's official report on or before the thirty-first of December which precedes the meeting of the legislature. The report shall be for the last complete fiscal period and shall include at least the following:

Determinations as to whether agencies, in making expenditures, complied with the laws of this state: PROVIDED, That nothing in this act shall be construed to grant the state auditor the right to perform performance audits. A performance audit for the purpose of this act shall be the examination of the effectiveness of the administration, its efficiency and its adequacy in terms of the programs of departments or agencies as previously approved by the legislature. The authority and responsibility to conduct such an examination shall be vested in the legislative budget committee as prescribed in RCW 44.28.085 as now or hereafter amended.

(d) Be empowered to take exception to specific expenditures that have been incurred by any agency or to take exception to other practices related in any way to the agency's financial transactions and to cause such exceptions to be made a matter of public record, including disclosure to the agency concerned and to the director of financial management. It shall be the duty of the director of financial management to cause corrective action to be taken promptly, such action to include, as appropriate, the withholding of funds as provided in RCW 43.88.110.

(e) Promptly report any irregularities to the attorney general.

(f) Investigate improper governmental activity under chapter 42.40 RCW.

(4) The legislative budget committee may:

(a) Make post audits of the financial transactions of any agency and management surveys and program reviews as provided for in RCW 44.28.085 as now or hereafter amended. To this end the committee may in its discretion examine the books, accounts, and other records of any agency, official, or employee.

(b) Give information to the legislature or any legislative committee whenever required upon any subject relating to the performance and management of state agencies.

(c) Make a report to the legislature which shall include at least the following:

(i) Determinations as to the extent to which agencies in making expenditures have complied with the will of the legislature and in this connection, may take exception to specific expenditures or financial practices of any agencies; and

(ii) Such plans as it deems expedient for the support of the state's credit, for lessening expenditures, for promoting frugality and economy in agency affairs and generally for an improved level of fiscal management.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 42.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Each local government is encouraged to adopt a whistleblower program so that its employees can disclose improper governmental actions without fear of retaliation. Each local government and its employees also shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter as if the local government were a state agency and its employees state employees. However, the auditor may decline to investigate a report of improper governmental action from a local government employee if the local government has a whistleblower program that has been approved under subsection (2) of this section and if the local government has agreed to conduct an investigation of the report. For purposes of applying the provisions of this chapter to a local government and its employees, the reference to a "state law or rule" in RCW 42.40.020(3)(a)(ii) also shall include local government laws or rules; and the term "improper governmental action" in RCW 42.40.020(3)(b) also does not include actions covered by a local government civil service system, personnel system, or collective bargaining system or law. A local government employee who is a whistleblower as a result of this subsection is also a whistleblower under chapter 49.60 RCW.

(2) Any local government may submit its whistleblower program to the state auditor and request the auditor to approve the program. The state auditor shall approve any local government program that the auditor finds accomplishes the purposes of the provisions of the state whistleblower program. In considering whether or not to approve a local government whistleblower program, the state auditor shall take into consideration the degree to which local government whistleblower complaints will be investigated and the amount of protection offered to local government whistleblowers against retaliatory actions.

(3) Any person who is a whistleblower under an approved local government whistleblower program also is a whistleblower under RCW 42.40.020 for purposes of the application of chapter 49.60 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Sections 8 and 11 of this act shall become effective on July 1, 1992.

(2) Prior to July 1, 1992, the state auditor shall establish and consult with a committee to develop model whistleblower programs that meet the intent and requirements of this act and that conform to the structure and procedures of the different types and sizes of affected local governments. The committee will include but not be limited to representatives from cities, counties, school districts, special purpose districts, and at least two employee organizations which represent local government employees. The state auditor shall also consult with the state human rights commission with respect to the development of the model programs.

(3) The committee established in subsection (2) of this section and the state auditor may make recommendations to the legislature by December 1, 1991, on amendments to this act that are necessary to develop workable local government programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 42.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) No local government or local government official or supervisory employee may take any retaliatory action against an employee of the local government as a result of the employee's good faith report of improper governmental action by the local government or by any of its officials or employees. Any person who is retaliated against in violation of this section has a right of action for damages against the offending local government, official, or employee. In any such action, the court also may require the defendants to cease and desist from such retaliatory action, and to take such affirmative action as the court believes appropriate, including but not limited to reinstatement or upgrading of the employment position. For purposes of this section, the following definitions apply: (a) "Good faith report" means a good faith report to a governmental official or employee who the reporting employee believes possesses authority to investigate the matter reported; (b) "improper governmental action" has the meaning prescribed under RCW 42.40.020(3) except that the reference to "state law or rule" in RCW 42.40.020(3)(a)(ii) also includes local government laws or rules and that "improper governmental action" does not include any action taken under a local government civil service system, personnel system, or collective bargaining system or law; and (c) "retaliatory action" has the meaning prescribed under RCW 42.40.050 for "reprisal or retaliatory action."

(2) This section expires on July 1, 1992. However, any right of action authorized under this section and arising before July 1, 1992, shall not be affected or impaired by the expiration of this section, regardless of whether a complaint is filed before, on, or after July 1, 1992.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 43.09 RCW to read as follows:

The expense of approving local government whistleblower programs and investigating improper local governmental activity as provided in chapter 42.40 RCW shall be borne by each entity submitting a program for approval or subject to such investigation. Procedures established by the division of municipal corporations concerning the municipal revolving fund shall be made applicable to these investigations and their expenses.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The sum of twenty thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 1993, from the general fund to the human rights commission for the purposes of this act.

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "action;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 42.40.020, 42.40.040, 42.40.050, 49.60.210, 49.60.250, 43.09.050, and 43.88.160; adding new sections to chapter 42.40 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 43.09 RCW; prescribing penalties; making an appropriation; and providing an effective date.", and the same are herewith transmitted.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

ESHB 1938

April 27, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Creating a state-wide enhanced 911 network.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1938, State-wide 911 network, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate Committee on Ways and Means striking amendment(s) adopted 4/19/91 be not adopted; and that the following striking amendment(s) be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that a state-wide emergency communications network of enhanced 911 telephone service, which allows an immediate display of a caller's identification and location, would serve to further the safety, health, and welfare of the state's citizens, and would save lives. The legislature, after reviewing the study outlined in section 1, chapter 260, Laws of 1990, further finds that state-wide implementation of enhanced 911 telephone service is feasible and should be accomplished as soon as practicable.

Sec. 2. RCW 38.52.030 and 1986 c 266 s 25 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director may employ such personnel and may make such expenditures within the appropriation therefor, or from other funds made available for purposes of emergency management, as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

(2) The director, subject to the direction and control of the governor, shall be responsible to the governor for carrying out the program for emergency management of this state. The director shall coordinate the activities of all organizations for emergency management within the state, and shall maintain liaison with and cooperate with emergency management agencies and organizations of other states and of the federal government, and shall have such additional authority, duties, and responsibilities authorized by this chapter, as may be prescribed by the governor.

(3) The director shall develop and maintain a comprehensive, all-hazard emergency plan for the state which shall include an analysis of the natural and man-caused hazards which could affect the state of Washington, and shall include the procedures to be used during emergencies for coordinating local resources, as necessary, and the resources of all state agencies, departments, commissions, and boards. The comprehensive, all-hazard emergency plan authorized under this subsection may not include preparation for emergency evacuation or relocation of residents in anticipation of nuclear attack. This plan shall be known as the comprehensive emergency management plan.

(4) In accordance with the comprehensive emergency management plans and the programs for the emergency management of this state, the director shall procure supplies and equipment, institute training programs and public information programs, and shall take all other preparatory steps, including the partial or full mobilization of emergency management organizations in advance of actual disaster, to insure the furnishing of adequately trained and equipped forces of emergency management personnel in time of need.

(5) The director shall make such studies and surveys of the industries, resources, and facilities in this state as may be necessary to ascertain the capabilities of the state for emergency management, and shall plan for the most efficient emergency use thereof.

(6) The director may appoint a communications coordinating committee consisting of six to eight persons with the director, or his or her designee, as chairman thereof. Three of the members shall be appointed from qualified, trained and experienced telephone communications administrators or engineers actively engaged in such work within the state of Washington at the time of appointment, and three of the members shall be appointed from qualified, trained and experienced radio communication administrators or engineers actively engaged in such work within the state of Washington at the time of appointment. This committee shall advise the director on all aspects of the communications and warning systems and facilities operated or controlled under the provisions of this chapter.

(7) The director, through the state enhanced 911 coordinator, shall coordinate and facilitate implementation and operation of a state-wide enhanced 911 emergency communications network.

(8) The director shall appoint a state coordinator of search and rescue operations to coordinate those state resources, services and facilities (other than those for which the state director of aeronautics is directly responsible) requested by political subdivisions in support of search and rescue operations, and on request to maintain liaison with and coordinate the resources, services, and facilities of political subdivisions when more than one political subdivision is engaged in joint search and rescue operations.

~~((8))~~ (9) The director, subject to the direction and control of the governor, shall prepare and administer a state program for emergency assistance to individuals within the state who are victims of a natural or man-made disaster, as defined by RCW 38.52.010(6). Such program may be integrated into and coordinated with disaster assistance plans and programs of the federal government which provide to the state, or through the state to any political subdivision thereof, services, equipment, supplies, materials, or funds by way of gift, grant, or loan for purposes of assistance to individuals affected by a disaster. Further, such program may include, but shall not be limited to, grants, loans, or gifts of services, equipment, supplies, materials, or funds of the state, or any political subdivision thereof, to individuals who, as a result of a disaster, are in need of assistance and who meet standards of eligibility for disaster assistance established by the department of social and health services: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That nothing herein shall be construed in any manner inconsistent with the provisions of Article VIII, section 5 or section 7 of the Washington state Constitution.

~~((9))~~ (10) The director shall appoint a state coordinator for radioactive and hazardous waste emergency response programs. The coordinator shall consult with the state radiation control officer in matters relating to radioactive materials. The duties of the state coordinator for radioactive and hazardous waste emergency response programs shall include:

- (a) Assessing the current needs and capabilities of state and local radioactive and hazardous waste emergency response teams on an ongoing basis;
- (b) Coordinating training programs for state and local officials for the purpose of updating skills relating to emergency response;
- (c) Utilizing appropriate training programs such as those offered by the federal emergency management agency, the department of transportation and the environmental protection agency; and
- (d) Undertaking other duties in this area that are deemed appropriate by the director.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. By December 31, 1998, each county, singly or in combination with adjacent counties, shall implement district-wide, county-wide, or multicounty-wide enhanced 911 emergency communications systems so that enhanced 911 is available throughout the state. The county shall provide funding for the enhanced 911 communication system in the county or district in an amount equal to the amount the maximum tax under RCW 82.14B.030(1) would generate in the county or district or the amount necessary to provide full funding of the system in the county or district, whichever is less. The state enhanced 911 coordination office established by section 4 of this act shall assist and facilitate enhanced 911 implementation throughout the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A state enhanced 911 coordination office, headed by the state enhanced 911 coordinator, is established in the emergency management division of the department. Duties of the office shall include:

- (1) Coordinating and facilitating the implementation and operation of enhanced 911 emergency communications systems throughout the state;
- (2) Seeking advice and assistance from, and providing staff support for, the enhanced 911 advisory committee; and

(3) Recommending to the utilities and transportation commission by August 31st of each year the level of the state enhanced 911 excise tax for the following year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The enhanced 911 advisory committee is created to advise and assist the state enhanced 911 coordinator in coordinating and facilitating the implementation and operation of enhanced 911 throughout the state. ### MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

MR. PRESIDENT:

The Speaker ruled the Senate amendments to SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1268 on page 33, line 1, and page 46, line 18, beyond the scope and object of the bill and refuses to concur in all of the Senate amendments, and the same are herewith transmitted.

ALAN THOMPSON, Chief Clerk

MOTION

Senator McDonald moved that the Senate do recede from the Senate amendments to Substitute House Bill No. 1268.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator McDonald, what do we have in position that we could be assured that we would pass a COLA for all the retired employees, so they wouldn't have to lose sixty percent of their income before they would begin to get a minor cost of living raise?"

Senator McDonald: "Senator Rasmussen, as you know, as the budget was passed out, there is some twenty million dollars set aside for COLA. That is going to be spent in exactly the same way as this amendment would have it spent. I think the question is really more of one of money than the language. Certainly, as it has been passed out of here, it would have been preferably to have it in law, but I think that the underlying bill is one that has merit. I don't think we will win this fight this year and I think it is worthwhile having this bill passed."

Senator Rasmussen: "Well, the main bill, yes, I understand that, but I'm interested in--can the COLA be written into the budget?"

Senator McDonald: "Exactly and that is what is going to happen. We have enough dollars to bring it down--the age--down to sixty years old, so that people that are sixty and if you retired at fifty-five, you would only have to wait until sixty in order for it to start counting--the clock to start ticking--as far as the reduction and your buying power."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the motion by Senator McDonald that the Senate do recede from its amendments to Substitute House Bill No. 1268.

The motion by Senator McDonald carried and the Senate receded from its amendments to Substitute House Bill No. 1268.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute House Bill No. 1268, without the Senate amendments.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Substitute House Bill No. 1268, without the Senate amendments, and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 46; Nays, 2; Absent, 0; Excused, 1.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Barr, Bauer, Bluechel, Cantu, Conner, Craswell, Erwin, Gaspard, Hansen, Hayner, Jesernig, Johnson, M. Kreidler, Madsen, Matson, McCaslin, McDonald, McMullen, Metcalf, Moore, Murray, Nelson, Newhouse, Niemi, Oke, Owen, Patterson, Pelz, Rasmussen, Rinehart, Roach, Skratek, A. Smith, L. Smith, Snyder, Stratton, Sutherland, Talmadge, Thorsness, Vognil, von Reichbauer, Williams, Wojahn - 46.

Voting nay: Senators Saling, West - 2.

Excused: Senator Sellar - 1.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

SHB 1401

April 27, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Enacting the Washington taxpayers' rights and responsibilities act.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1401, Taxpayers' rights/responsibilities, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate Ways and Means striking amendment(s) adopted 4/18/91 be not adopted; and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This chapter shall be known and cited as "Washington taxpayers' rights and responsibilities."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The legislature finds that taxes are one of the most sensitive points of contact between citizens and their government, and that there is a delicate balance between revenue collection and taxpayers' rights and responsibilities. The rights, privacy, and property of Washington taxpayers should be protected adequately during the process of the assessment and collection of taxes.

(2) The legislature further finds that the Washington tax system is based largely on voluntary compliance and that taxpayers have a responsibility to inform themselves about applicable tax laws. The legislature also finds that the rights of the taxpayers and their attendant responsibilities are best implemented where the department of revenue provides accurate tax information, instructions, forms, administrative policies, and procedures to assist taxpayers to voluntarily comply with the provisions of the revenue act, Title 82 RCW, and where taxpayers cooperate in the administration of these provisions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The department of revenue shall administer this chapter. The department of revenue shall adopt or amend rules as may be necessary to fully implement this chapter and the rights established under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The taxpayers of the state of Washington have:

(1) The right to a written explanation of the basis for any tax deficiency assessment, interest, and penalties at the time the assessments are issued;

(2) The right to rely on specific, official written advice and written tax reporting instructions from the department of revenue to that taxpayer, and to have interest, penalties, and in some instances, tax deficiency assessments waived where the taxpayer has so relied to their proven detriment;

(3) The right to redress and relief where tax laws or rules are found to be unconstitutional by the final decision of a court of record and the right to prompt administrative remedies in such cases;

(4) The right to confidentiality and protection from public inquiry regarding financial and business information in the possession of the department of revenue in accordance with the requirements of RCW 82.32.330;

(5) The right to receive, upon request, clear and current tax instructions, rules, procedures, forms, and other tax information; and

(6) The right to a prompt and independent administrative review by the department of revenue of a decision to revoke a tax registration, and to a written determination that either sustains the revocation or reinstates the registration.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. To ensure consistent application of the revenue laws, taxpayers have certain responsibilities under chapter 82.32 RCW, including, but not limited to, the responsibility to:

- (1) Register with the department of revenue;
- (2) Know their tax reporting obligations, and when they are uncertain about their obligations, seek instructions from the department of revenue;
- (3) Keep accurate and complete business records;
- (4) File accurate returns and pay taxes in a timely manner;
- (5) Ensure the accuracy of the information entered on their tax returns;
- (6) Substantiate claims for refund;
- (7) Timely pay all taxes after closing a business and request cancellation of registration number; and

(8) Timely respond to communications from the department of revenue.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The director of revenue shall appoint a taxpayer rights advocate. The advocate shall be responsible for directly assisting taxpayers and their representatives to assure their understanding and utilization of the policies, processes, and procedures available to them in the resolution of problems.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The department of revenue shall maintain a taxpayer services program consisting of, but not limited to:

- (1) Providing taxpayer assistance in the form of information, education, and instruction in person, by telephone, or by correspondence;
- (2) Conducting tax workshops at locations most conveniently accessible to the majority of taxpayers affected; and
- (3) Publishing written bulletins, instructions, current revenue laws, rules, court decisions, and interpretive rulings of the department of revenue.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Sections 1 through 7 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 82 RCW.

Sec. 9. RCW 82.32.050 and 1989 c 378 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If upon examination of any returns or from other information obtained by the department it appears that a tax or penalty has been paid less than that properly due, the department shall assess against the taxpayer such additional amount found to be due and shall add thereto interest at the rate of nine percent per annum from the last day of the year in which the deficiency is incurred until date of payment for tax liabilities arising before January 1, 1992. For tax liabilities arising after December 31, 1991, until the date of payment, the rate of interest shall be variable and computed as provided in subsection (2) of this section. The rate so computed shall be adjusted on the first day of January of each year. The department shall notify the taxpayer by mail of the additional amount and the same shall become due and shall be paid within thirty days from the date of the notice, or within such further time as the department may provide. ((If payment is not received by the department by the due date specified in the notice, or any extension thereof, the department shall add a penalty of ten percent of the amount of the additional tax found due. If the department finds that all or any part of the deficiency resulted from an intent to evade the tax payable hereunder, a further penalty of fifty percent of the additional tax found to be due shall be added.))

(2) For the purposes of this section, the rate of interest to be charged to the taxpayer shall be an average of the federal short-term rate as defined in 26 U.S.C. Sec. 1274(d) plus two percentage points. The rate shall be computed by taking an arithmetical average to the nearest percentage point of the federal short-term rate, compounded annually, for the months of January, April, July, and October of the immediately preceding calendar year as published by the United States secretary of the treasury.

(3) No assessment or correction of an assessment for additional taxes due may be made by the department more than four years after the close of the tax year, except ((+)) (a) against a taxpayer who has not registered as required by this chapter, ((2)) (b) upon a showing of fraud or of misrepresentation of a material fact by the taxpayer, or ((3)) (c) where a taxpayer has executed a written waiver of such limitation.

Sec. 10. RCW 82.32.060 and 1990 c 69 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

If, upon receipt of an application by a taxpayer for a refund or for an audit of the taxpayer's records, or upon an examination of the returns or records of any taxpayer, it is determined by the department that within the statutory period for assessment of taxes prescribed by RCW 82.32.050 a tax has been paid in excess of that properly due, the excess amount paid within such period shall be credited to the taxpayer's account or shall be refunded to the taxpayer, at the taxpayer's option. No refund or credit shall be made for taxes paid more than four years prior to the beginning of the calendar year in which the refund application is made or examination of records is completed.

Notwithstanding the foregoing limitations there shall be refunded or credited to taxpayers engaged in the performance of United States government contracts or subcontracts the amount of any tax paid, measured by that portion of the amounts received from the United States, which the taxpayer is required by contract or applicable federal statute to refund or credit to the United States, if claim for such refund is filed by the taxpayer with the department within one year of the date that the amount of the refund or credit due to the United States is finally determined and filed within four years of the date on which the tax was paid: PROVIDED, That no interest shall be allowed on such refund.

Any such refunds shall be made by means of vouchers approved by the department and by the issuance of state warrants drawn upon and payable from such funds as the legislature may provide. However, taxpayers who are required to pay taxes by electronic funds transfer under RCW 82.32.080 shall have any refunds paid by electronic funds transfer.

Any judgment for which a recovery is granted by any court of competent jurisdiction, not appealed from, for tax, penalties, and interest which were paid by the taxpayer, and costs, in a suit by any taxpayer shall be paid in like manner, upon the filing with the department of a certified copy of the order or judgment of the court. Except as to the credits in computing tax authorized by RCW 82.04.435, interest at the rate of three percent per annum shall be allowed by the department and by any court on the amount of any refund or recovery allowed to a taxpayer for taxes, penalties, or interest paid by the taxpayer before January 1, 1992. For refunds of amounts paid or other recovery allowed to a taxpayer after December 31, 1991, the rate of interest shall be the rate as computed for assessments under RCW 82.32.050(2), less one percentage point.

Sec. 11. RCW 82.32.090 and 1987 c 502 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If payment of any tax due on a return to be filed by a taxpayer is not received by the department of revenue by the due date, there shall be assessed a penalty of five percent of the amount of the tax; and if the tax is not received within thirty days after the due date, there shall be assessed a total penalty of ten percent of the amount of the tax; and if the tax is not received within sixty days after the due date, there shall be assessed a total penalty of twenty percent of the amount of the tax. No penalty so added shall be less than ((two)) five dollars.

(2) If payment of any tax assessed by the department of revenue is not received by the department by the due date specified in the notice, or any extension thereof, the department shall add a penalty of ten percent of the amount of the additional tax found due. No penalty so added shall be less than five dollars.

(3) If a warrant be issued by the department of revenue for the collection of taxes, increases, and penalties, there shall be added thereto a penalty of five percent of the amount of the tax, but not less than ~~((five))~~ ten dollars.

~~((Notwithstanding the foregoing,))~~ (4) If the department finds that all or any part of a deficiency resulted from the disregard of specific written instructions as to reporting or tax liabilities, the department shall add a penalty of ten percent of the amount of the additional tax found due because of the failure to follow the instructions. A taxpayer disregards specific written instructions when the department of revenue has informed the taxpayer in writing of the taxpayer's tax obligations and the taxpayer fails to act in accordance with those instructions unless the department has not issued final instructions because the matter is under appeal pursuant to this chapter or departmental regulations. The department shall not assess the penalty under this section upon any taxpayer who has made a good faith effort to comply with the specific written instructions provided by the department to that taxpayer. Specific written instructions may be given as a part of a tax assessment, audit, determination, or closing agreement, provided that such specific written instructions shall apply only to the taxpayer addressed or referenced on such documents. Any specific written instructions by the department of revenue shall be clearly identified as such and shall inform the taxpayer that failure to follow the instructions may subject the taxpayer to the penalties imposed by this subsection.

(5) If the department finds that all or any part of the deficiency resulted from an intent to evade the tax payable hereunder, a further penalty of fifty percent of the additional tax found to be due shall be added.

(6) The aggregate of penalties imposed under this ~~((chapter))~~ section for failure to ~~((file))~~ pay a tax due on a return, late payment of any tax, increase, or penalty, or issuance of a warrant shall not exceed ~~((twenty-five))~~ thirty-five percent of the tax due, or ~~((seven))~~ twenty dollars, whichever is greater.

(7) The department of revenue may not impose both the evasion penalty and the penalty for disregarding specific written instructions on the same tax found to be due.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. Sections 9 through 11 of this act shall take effect January 1, 1992.

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "responsibilities;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 82.32.050, 82.32.060, and 82.32.090; adding a new chapter to Title 82 RCW; and providing an effective date.", and the bill do pass as recommended by the Conference Committee.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Murray: "Mr. President, actually I would like to raise two points of order. The Conference Committee Report has not been on our desks for twenty-four hours and secondly, I don't believe that we adopted the Conference Committee Report before we voted on the final passage."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "I'm sorry, but your motions are not timely. You have to make those before we vote. I believe we did move the measure."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Vognild: "Mr. President, in regard to the point of order as to whether we adopted the Conference Report, I believe that would be in order even though we have voted, because if we did not adopt it, we then need to know what we voted on."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Senator Vognild, I think, technically, if you go to final passage, it precludes it, but I am happy to back up if I made an error. It won't be the first one, but I will be happy to go back and we will move the motion and we will go through the process. We are not in that great of rush."

REMARKS BY SENATOR VOGNILD

Senator Vognild: "Mr. President, my concern would be as to the legality of the bill after it passed. Whatever the attorneys and yourself decide on the legality issue, I will certainly accept."

President Pritchard: "Well, the attorneys came up with one opinion, but I want everyone to feel that, you know, we are giving everybody a fair shot at it and we are not in that great of rush, so I will go back and put the motion that was made by Senator Bailey that the Senate adopt the Report of the Conference Committee."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Murray: "Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. The bill that we are considering has not been on our desks for twenty-four hours and I believe that we are still under the twenty-four hour rule."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "You are right. It will take a suspension of the rules."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the suspension of the rules and moving to adopt the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1885.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator von Reichbauer: "A point of order, Mr. President. Who made the motion to suspend the rules?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Senator Bailey."

Senator von Reichbauer: "To be made after the President's ruling, please."

President Pritchard: "All right, do you want to start over on this?"

MOTION

Senator Bailey moved that the twenty-four hour rule be suspended and the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1885 be adopted.

Debate ensued.

The President declared the motion before the Senate to be the motion by Senator Bailey to suspend the twenty-four hour rule and adopt the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1885.

The motion to suspend the rules and adopt the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1885 failed to receive a two-thirds majority on a rising vote.

MOTION

The Senate was called to order at 3:57 p.m. by President Pritchard.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

April 26, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Removing references to county classes.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1201, County class references, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations striking amendment(s) adopted 4/11/91 not be adopted; and that the following striking amendments be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The purposes of this act are to eliminate the use of formal county classes and substitute the use of the most current county population figures to distinguish counties. In addition, certain old statutes that reference county class, but no longer are followed, are repealed or amended to conform with current practices.

Sec. 2. RCW 2.32.180 and 1990 c 186 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be and is the duty of each and every superior court judge in counties or judicial districts in the state of Washington having a population of over thirty-five thousand inhabitants to appoint, or said judge may, in any county or judicial district having a population of over twenty-five thousand and less than thirty-five thousand, appoint a stenographic reporter to be attached to the judge's court (~~held by him~~) who shall have had at least three years' experience as a skilled, practical reporter, or who upon examination shall be able to report and transcribe accurately one hundred and seventy-five words per minute of the judge's charge or two hundred words per minute of testimony each for five consecutive minutes; said test of proficiency, in event of inability to meet qualifications as to length of time of experience, to be given by an examining committee composed of one judge of the superior court and two official reporters of the superior court of the state of Washington, appointed by the president judge of the superior court judges association of the state of Washington: PROVIDED, That a stenographic reporter shall not be required to be appointed for the seven additional judges of the superior court authorized for appointment by section 1, chapter 323, Laws of 1987, the additional superior court judge authorized by section 1, chapter 66, Laws of 1988, the additional superior court judges authorized by sections 2 and 3, chapter 328, Laws of 1989, or the additional superior court judges authorized by sections 1 and 2, chapter 186, Laws of 1990. The initial judicial appointee shall serve for a period of six years; the two initial reporter appointees shall serve for a period of four years and two years, respectively, from September 1, 1957; thereafter on expiration of the first terms of service, each newly appointed member of said examining committee to serve for a period of six years. In the event of death or inability of a member to serve, the president judge shall appoint a reporter or judge, as the case may be, to serve for the balance of the unexpired term of the member whose inability to serve caused such vacancy. The examining committee shall grant certificates to qualified applicants. Administrative and procedural rules and regulations shall be promulgated by said examining committee, subject to approval by the said president judge.

The stenographic reporter upon appointment shall thereupon become an officer of the court and shall be designated and known as the official reporter for the court or judicial district for which he or she is appointed: PROVIDED, That in no event shall there be appointed more official reporters in any one county or judicial district than there are superior court judges in such county or judicial district; the appointments in each (~~class AA~~) county with a population of one million or more shall be made by the majority vote of the judges in said county acting en banc; the appointments in (~~class A counties and counties of the first class~~) each county with a population of from one hundred twenty-five thousand to less than one million may be made by each individual judge therein or by the judges in said county acting en banc. Each official reporter so appointed shall hold office during the term of office of the judge or judges appointing him or her, but may be removed for incompetency, misconduct or neglect of duty, and before entering upon the discharge of his or her duties shall take an oath to perform faithfully the duties of his or her office, and file a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars for the faithful discharge of his or her duties. Such reporter in each court is hereby declared to be a necessary part of the judicial system of the state of Washington.

Sec. 3. RCW 2.32.280 and 1957 c 244 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

In all counties or judicial districts, except in (~~class AA counties and class A counties and counties of the first class~~) any county with a population of one hundred twenty-five thousand or more, the official reporter shall act as amanuensis to the court for which he or she is appointed.

Sec. 4. RCW 3.30.020 and 1987 c 202 s 110 are each amended to read as follows:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 99. PURPOSE. Voters of the unincorporated areas of the state are authorized to establish community councils as provided in this chapter.

It is the purpose of this chapter to provide voters of unincorporated areas in counties with a population of over thirty thousand that are made up entirely of islands with direct input on the planning and zoning of their community by establishing a governmental mechanism to adopt proposed community comprehensive plans and proposed community zoning ordinances that are consistent with an overall guide and framework adopted by the county legislative authority. In addition, it is the purpose of this chapter to have community councils serve as forums for the discussion of local issues.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 100. DEFINITIONS. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Community" means a portion of the unincorporated area for which a community council has been established and which is located in a county with a population of over thirty thousand that is made up entirely of islands.

(2) "Community comprehensive plan" means a comprehensive plan adopted by a community council.

(3) "Community council" means the governing body established under this chapter to adopt community comprehensive plans and community zoning ordinances for a community.

(4) "Community zoning ordinances" means the zoning ordinances adopted by a community council to implement a community comprehensive plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR A COMMUNITY COUNCIL. A community for which a community council is created may include only unincorporated territory located in a single county with a population of over thirty thousand that is made up entirely of islands and not included within a city or town. A community council must have at least one thousand persons residing within the community when the community council is created or, where the community only includes an entire island, at least three hundred persons must reside on the island when the community council is created. Any portion of such a community that is annexed by a city or town, or is incorporated as a city or town, shall be removed from the community upon the effective date of the annexation or the official date of the incorporation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 102. CREATION. (1) The process to create a community council shall be initiated by the filing of petitions with the county auditor of the county in which the community is located which: (a) Call for the creation of a community council; (b) set forth the boundaries for the community; (c) indicate the number of community councilmembers, which shall be five, seven, nine, or eleven; and (d) contain signatures of voters residing within the community equal in number to at least ten percent of the voters residing in the community who voted at the last state general election. The county auditor shall determine if the petitions contain a sufficient number of valid signatures and certify the sufficiency of the petitions within fifteen days of when the petitions were filed. If the petitions are certified as having sufficient valid signatures, the county auditor shall transmit the petitions and certificate to the county legislative authority.

(2) The county legislative authority shall hold a public hearing within the community on the creation of the proposed community council no later than sixty days after the petitions and certificate of sufficiency were transmitted to the county legislative authority. Notice of the public hearing shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the community for at least once a week for two consecutive weeks, with the last date of publication no more than ten days prior to the date of the public hearing. At least ten days before the public hearing, additional notice shall be posted conspicuously in at least five places within the proposed community in a manner designed to attract public attention.

(3) After receiving testimony on the creation of the proposed community council, the county legislative authority may alter the boundaries of the community, but the boundaries may not be altered to reduce the number of persons living within the community by more than ten percent or below the minimum number of residents who must reside within the community at the time of the creation of the community council. If territory is added to the community, another public hearing on the proposal shall be held.

(4) The county legislative authority shall call a special election within the community to determine whether the proposed community council shall be created, and to elect the initial community councilmembers, at the next state general election occurring seventy-five or more days after the initial public hearing on the creation of the proposed community council. The community council shall be created if the ballot proposition authorizing the creation of the community is approved by a simple majority vote of the voters voting on the proposition.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. ELECTION OF INITIAL COMMUNITY COUNCILMEMBERS. The initial members of the community council shall be elected at the same election as the ballot proposition is submitted authorizing the creation of the community council. However, the election of the initial community councilmembers shall be null and void if the ballot proposition authorizing the creation of the community council is not approved.

No primary election shall be held to nominate candidates for initial council positions. The initial community council shall consist of the candidate for each council position who receives the greatest number of votes for that council position. Staggering of terms of office shall be accomplished by having the majority of the winning candidates who receive the greatest number of votes being elected to four-year terms of office, and the remaining winning candidates being elected to two-year terms of office, if the election was held in an even-numbered year, or the majority of the winning candidates who receive the greatest number of votes being elected to three-year terms of office, and the remaining winning candidates being elected to one-year terms of office, if the election was held in an odd-numbered year, with the term computed from the first day of January in the year following the election. The number of council positions shall be five, seven, nine, or eleven, as specified in the petition calling for the creation of the community council.

Community councilmembers shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections pursuant to general election laws, except the elections shall be held in even-numbered years, unless the county operates under a charter and members of the county legislative authority are elected in odd-numbered years, in which case, community councilmembers shall be elected in odd-numbered years.

The provisions of this section apply to the election and terms of office of the initial community councilmembers, except as provided in section 103 of this act.

A councilmember shall lose his or her council position if his or her primary residence no longer is located within the community. Vacancies on a community council shall be filled by action of the remaining councilmembers.

The unamended community comprehensive plans and unamended community zoning ordinances shall remain in effect in the community until the proposed amendment has been approved as provided in this subsection.

(4) If the county legislative authority amends the ordinance it adopted under subsection (1) of this section, a community council shall be given at least one hundred twenty days to amend its community comprehensive plans and community zoning ordinances to be consistent with this amended ordinance. However, the county legislative authority may amend the community comprehensive plans and community zoning ordinances to achieve consistency with this amended ordinance. Nothing in this subsection shall preclude a community council from subsequently obtaining approval of its proposed community comprehensive plans and proposed community zoning ordinances.

(5) Approved community comprehensive plans and approved community zoning ordinances shall be enforced by the county as if they had been adopted by the county legislative authority. All quasi-judicial actions and permits relating to these plans and ordinances shall be made and decided by the county legislative authority or otherwise as provided by the county legislative authority.

A ballot proposition authorizing the annexation shall be submitted to the voters of the area that is proposed to be annexed at a primary or general election in either an odd-numbered or even-numbered year, if the community council initiated the annexation by resolution or if the community council concurs in an annexation that was initiated by the submission of annexation petitions containing sufficient valid signatures. The annexation shall occur if the ballot proposition authorizing the creation of the community is approved by a simple majority vote of the voters voting on the proposition. The county's comprehensive plan, and where applicable to the county's subarea plan, and zoning ordinances shall continue in effect in the annexed area until proposed amendments to the approved community comprehensive plans and approved community zoning ordinance have been approved that apply to the annexed area.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 108. DISSOLUTION. A community council shall be dissolved if the population of the community is reduced to less than five hundred persons, or less than two hundred persons if the community only includes an entire island.

(b) In the event a county transportation authority shall impose a sales and use tax pursuant to this section, no city, county which has created an unincorporated transportation benefit area, public transportation benefit area, or metropolitan municipal corporation, located within the territory of the authority, shall be empowered to levy or collect taxes pursuant to RCW 35.58.273, 35.95.040, or 82.14.045.

(1) The director of licensing shall, on the twenty-fifth day of February, May, August, and November of each year, advise the state treasurer of the total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes remitted to the department during the preceding calendar quarter ending on the last day of March, June, September, and December, respectively, except for those payable under RCW 82.44.030, from motor vehicle owners residing within each municipality which has levied a tax under RCW 35.58.273, which amount of excise taxes shall be determined by the director as follows:

The total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes remitted to the department, except those payable under RCW 82.44.030, from each county shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the population of the municipality residing in such county, and the denominator of which is the total population of the county in which such municipality or portion thereof is located. The product of this computation shall be the amount of excise taxes from motor vehicle owners residing within such municipality or portion thereof. Where the municipality levying a tax under RCW 35.58.273 is located in more than one county, the above computation shall be made by county, and the combined products shall provide the total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes from motor vehicle owners residing in the municipality as a whole. Population figures required for these computations shall be supplied to the director by the office of financial management, who shall adjust the fraction annually.

(2) On the first day of the months of January, April, July, and October of each year, the state treasurer based upon information provided by the department shall, from motor vehicle excise taxes deposited in the general fund, under RCW 82.44.110(7), make the following deposits:

(a) To the high capacity transportation account created in RCW 47.78.010, a sum equal to four and five-tenths percent of the special excise tax levied under RCW 35.58.273 by those municipalities authorized to levy a special excise tax within a ~~(class AA county, or within a class A county contiguous to a class AA county, or within a second class county contiguous to a class A county that is contiguous to a~~ class AA county)) county with a population of one million or more, or within a county with a population of from two hundred ten thousand to less than one million bordering a county with a population of one million or more, or within a county with a population of from one hundred twenty-five thousand to less than two hundred thousand that both borders a county with a population of five hundred thousand or more and has a portion of its common boundary with that county intersected by an interstate highway;

(b) To the central Puget Sound public transportation account created in RCW 82.44.180, for revenues distributed after December 31, 1992, within a (~~class AA county or within a class A county contiguous to a class AA~~) county with a population of one million or more and a county with a population of from two hundred thousand to less than one million bordering a county with a population of one million or more, a sum equal to the difference between (i) the special excise tax levied and collected under RCW 35.58.273 by those municipalities authorized to levy and collect a special excise tax subject to the requirements of subsections (3) and (4) of this section and (ii) the special excise tax that the municipality would otherwise have been eligible to levy and collect at a tax rate of .815 percent and been able to match with locally generated tax revenues, other than the excise tax imposed under RCW 35.58.273, budgeted for any public transportation purpose. Before this deposit, the sum shall be reduced by an amount equal to the amount distributed under (a) of this subsection for each of the municipalities within the counties to which this subsection (2)(b) applies; however, any transfer under this subsection (2)(b) must be greater than zero;

(c) To the public transportation systems account created in RCW 82.44.180, for revenues distributed after December 31, 1992, within counties not described in (b) of this subsection, a sum equal to the difference between (i) the special excise tax levied and collected under RCW 35.58.273 by those municipalities authorized to levy and collect a special excise tax subject to the requirements of subsections (3) and (4) of this section and (ii) the special excise tax that the municipality would otherwise have been eligible to levy and collect at a tax rate of .815 percent and been able to match with locally generated tax revenues, other than the excise tax imposed under RCW 35.58.273, budgeted for any public transportation purpose. Before this deposit, the sum shall be reduced by an amount equal to the amount distributed under (a) of this subsection for each of the municipalities within the counties to which this subsection (2)(c) applies; however, any transfer under this subsection (2)(c) must be greater than zero; and

(d) To the transportation fund created in RCW 82.44.180, for revenues distributed after June 30, 1991, a sum equal to the difference between (i) the special excise tax levied and collected under RCW 35.58.273 by those municipalities authorized to levy and collect a special excise tax subject to the requirements of subsections (3) and (4) of this section and (ii) the special excise tax that the municipality would otherwise have been eligible to levy and collect at a tax rate of .815 percent notwithstanding the requirements set forth in subsections (3) through (6) of this section, reduced by an amount equal to distributions made under (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection.

(3) On the first day of the months of January, April, July, and October of each year, the state treasurer, based upon information provided by the department, shall remit motor vehicle excise tax revenues imposed and collected under RCW 35.58.273 as follows:

(a) The amount required to be remitted by the state treasurer to the treasurer of any municipality levying the tax shall not exceed in any calendar year the amount of locally-generated tax revenues, excluding the excise tax imposed under RCW 35.58.273 for the purposes of this section, which shall have been budgeted by the municipality to be collected in such calendar year for any public transportation purposes including but not limited to operating costs, capital costs, and debt service on general obligation or revenue bonds issued for these purposes; and

(b) In no event may the amount remitted in a single calendar quarter exceed the amount collected on behalf of the municipality under RCW 35.58.273 during the calendar quarter next preceding the immediately preceding quarter.

(4) At the close of each calendar year accounting period, but not later than April 1, each municipality that has received motor vehicle excise taxes under subsection (3) of this section shall transmit to the director of licensing and the state auditor a written report showing by source the previous year's budgeted tax revenues for public transportation purposes as compared to actual collections. Any municipality that has not submitted the report by April 1 shall cease to be eligible to receive motor vehicle excise taxes under subsection (3) of this section until the report is received by the director of licensing. If a municipality has received more or less money under subsection (3) of this section for the period covered by the report than it is entitled to receive by reason of its locally-generated collected tax revenues, the director of licensing shall, during the next ensuing quarter that the municipality is eligible to receive motor vehicle excise tax funds, increase or decrease the amount to be remitted in an amount equal to the difference between the locally-generated budgeted tax revenues and the locally-generated collected tax revenues. In no event may the amount remitted for a calendar year exceed the amount collected on behalf of the municipality under RCW 35.58.273 during that same calendar year. At the time of the next fiscal audit of each municipality, the state auditor shall verify the accuracy of the report submitted and notify the director of licensing of any discrepancies.

(5) The motor vehicle excise taxes imposed under RCW 35.58.273 and required to be remitted under this section shall be remitted without legislative appropriation.

(6) Any municipality levying and collecting a tax under RCW 35.58.273 which does not have an operating, public transit system or a contract for public transportation services in effect within one year from the initial effective date of the tax shall return to the state treasurer all motor vehicle excise taxes received under subsection (3) of this section.

Signed by Senators Roach, Madsen, Oke; Representatives Haugen, Cooper, Ferguson.

MOTION

Senator Roach moved that the rules be suspended and the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1201 be adopted.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Murray: "Senator Roach, on page fifty-seven, Section 60, the way I read that, does that mean that if a school district determines that they want to put a school on a wetlands, that they will be able to do that despite the fact the county rules say they can't?"

Senator Roach: "It does not mean that. It means that counties will need to issue a conditional use permit or a permit, but all other restrictions would be in place in terms of dealing with wetlands."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Skratek: "Senator Roach, as I read this language, it would also require the county to permit siting of schools outside of the urban growth areas and therefore encourage the leap frog affect of allowing schools to go in rural areas when, for example, King County has made it clear that that is only appropriate in certain circumstances. Is that what this language is saying?"

Senator Roach: "The language is, Senator Skratek, merely saying that each county that plans and zones must authorize the siting of schools in all areas within its planning jurisdiction by either outright permitted uses or conditional use permits. And, Senator Skratek, I might add that for one hundred years, in the state of Washington, this is exactly the system that we went under and we sited our schools just fine. This was under a process, Senator Skratek, where numerous--numerous--meetings, by school boards--elected school board officials--and residents in the area made the decision."

Senator Skratek: "You didn't answer my question. Does this allow for the siting of schools in rural areas even though a county, under its comprehensive plan, may not desire such sitings to occur?"

Senator Roach: "It authorizes zoning; it authorizes that all planning areas must include, by conditional use or by regular permit process."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1201.

The motion by Senator Roach carried and the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute House Bill No. 1201, under suspension of the rules, was adopted.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute House Bill No. 1201, as recommended by the Conference Committee, under suspension of the rules.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Substitute House Bill No. 1201, as recommended by the Conference Committee, under suspension of the rules, and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 38; Nays, 9; Absent, 0; Excused, 2.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Barr, Bauer, Bluechel, Cantu, Conner, Craswell, Erwin, Hansen, Hayner, Jesernig, Johnson, M. Kreidler, Madsen, Matson, McCaslin, McDonald, Metcalf, Nelson, Newhouse, Oke, Owen, Patterson, Rasmussen, Roach, Saling, L. Smith, Snyder, Stratton, Sutherland, Thorsness, Vognild, von Reichbauer, West, Williams, Wojahn - 38.

Voting nay: Senators McMullen, Moore, Murray, Niemi, Pelz, Rinehart, Skratek, A. Smith, Talmadge - 9.

Excused: Senators Gaspard, Sellar - 2.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1201, as recommended by the Conference Committee, under suspension of the rules, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED HOUSE BILL NO. 2093, Lodging excise tax uses, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate Committee on Ways and Means striking amendment(s) adopted 4/17/91 not be adopted; and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 67.28.180 and 1987 c 483 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the conditions set forth in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the legislative body of any county or any city, is authorized to levy and collect a special excise tax of not to exceed two percent on the sale of or charge made for the furnishing of lodging by a hotel, rooming house, tourist court, motel, trailer camp, and the granting of any similar license to use real property, as distinguished from the renting or leasing of real property: PROVIDED, That it shall be presumed that the occupancy of real property for a continuous period of one month or more constitutes a rental or lease of real property and not a mere license to use or to enjoy the same.

(2) Any levy authorized by this section shall be subject to the following:

(a) Any county ordinance or resolution adopted pursuant to this section shall contain, in addition to all other provisions required to conform to this chapter, a provision allowing a credit against the county tax for the full amount of any city tax imposed pursuant to this section upon the same taxable event.

(b) In the event that any county has levied the tax authorized by this section and has, prior to June 26, 1975, either pledged the tax revenues for payment of principal and interest on city revenue or general obligation bonds authorized and issued pursuant to RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160 or has authorized and issued revenue or general obligation bonds pursuant to the provisions of RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160, such county shall be exempt from the provisions of subsection (a), to the extent that the tax revenues are pledged for payment of principal and interest on bonds issued at any time pursuant to the provisions of RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160: PROVIDED, That so much of such pledged tax revenues, together with any investment earnings thereon, not immediately necessary for actual payment of principal and interest on such bonds may be used: (i) In class AA counties, for repayment either of limited tax levy general obligation bonds or of any county fund or account from which a loan was made, the proceeds from the bonds or loan being used to pay for constructing, installing, improving, and equipping stadium capital improvement projects, and to pay for any engineering, planning, financial, legal and professional services incident to the development of such stadium capital improvement projects, regardless of the date the debt for such capital improvement projects was or may be incurred; or (ii) in counties other than class AA counties, for county-owned facilities for agricultural promotion. A county is exempt under this subsection in respect to city revenue or general obligation bonds issued after April 1, 1991, only if such bonds mature before January 1, 2013.

As used in this subsection (2)(b), "capital improvement projects" may include, but not be limited to a stadium restaurant facility, restroom facilities, artificial turf system, seating facilities, parking facilities and scoreboard and information system adjacent to or within a county owned stadium, together with equipment, utilities, accessories and appurtenances necessary thereto. The stadium restaurant authorized by this subsection (2)(b) shall be operated by a private concessionaire under a contract with the county.

(c) No city within a county exempt under subsection (2)(b) of this section may levy the tax authorized by this section so long as said county is so exempt: PROVIDED, That in the event that any city in such county has levied the tax authorized by this section and has, prior to June 26, 1975, authorized and issued revenue or general obligation bonds pursuant to the provisions of RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160, such city may levy the tax so long as and to the extent that the tax revenues are pledged for payment of principal and interest on bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160.

(3) Any levy authorized by this section by a county that has levied the tax authorized by this section and has, prior to June 26, 1975, either pledged the tax revenues for payment of principal and interest on city revenue or general obligation bonds authorized and issued pursuant to RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160 or has authorized and issued revenue or general obligation bonds pursuant to the provisions of RCW 67.28.150 through 67.28.160 shall be subject to the following:

(a) Taxes collected under this section in any calendar year in excess of five million three hundred thousand dollars shall only be used as follows:

(i) Seventy-five percent from January 1, 1992, through December 31, 2000, and seventy percent from January 1, 2001, through December 31, 2012, for art museums, cultural museums, heritage museums, the arts, ((and/or)) and the performing arts. Moneys spent under this subsection (3)(a)(i) shall be used for the purposes of this subsection (3)(a)(i) in all parts of the county.

((b)) (ii) Twenty-five percent from January 1, 1992, through December 31, 2000, and thirty percent from January 1, 2001, through December 31, 2012, for the following purposes and in a manner reflecting the following order of priority: Stadium capital improvements, as defined in subsection (2)(b) of this section; acquisition of open space lands; youth sports activities; and tourism promotion.

(b) At least seventy percent of moneys spent under (a)(i) of this subsection for the period January 1, 1992, through December 31, 2000, shall be used only for the purchase, design, construction, and remodeling of performing arts, visual arts, heritage, and cultural facilities, and for the purchase of fixed assets that will benefit art, heritage, and cultural organizations. For purposes of this subsection, fixed assets are tangible objects such as machinery and other equipment intended to be held or used for ten years or more. Moneys received under this subsection (3)(b) may be used for payment of principal and interest on bonds issued for capital projects. Qualifying organizations receiving moneys under this subsection (3)(b) must be financially stable and have at least the following:

(i) A legally constituted and working board of directors;

(ii) A record of artistic, heritage, or cultural accomplishments;

(iii) Been in existence and operating for at least two years;

(iv) Demonstrated ability to maintain net current liabilities at less than thirty percent of general operating expenses;

(v) Demonstrated ability to sustain operational capacity subsequent to completion of projects or purchase of machinery and equipment; and

(vi) Evidence that there has been independent financial review of the organization.

(c) At least forty percent of the revenues distributed pursuant to (a)(i) of this subsection for the period January 1, 2001, through December 31, 2012, shall be deposited in an account and shall be used to establish an endowment. Principal in the account shall remain permanent and irreducible. The earnings from investments of balances in the account may only be used for the purposes of (a)(i) of this subsection.

(d) Schools districts and schools shall not receive revenues distributed pursuant to (a)(i) of this subsection.

(e) Moneys distributed to art museums, cultural museums, heritage museums, the arts, and the performing arts, and moneys distributed for tourism promotion shall be in addition to and may not be used to replace or supplant any other funding by the legislative body of the county.

(f) As used in this section, "tourism promotion" includes activities intended to attract visitors for overnight stays, arts, heritage, and cultural events, and recreational, professional, and amateur sports events. Moneys allocated to tourism promotion in a class AA county shall be allocated to nonprofit organizations formed for the express purpose of tourism promotion in the county. Such organizations shall use moneys from the taxes to promote events in all parts of the class AA county.

(g) No taxes collected under this section may be used for the operation or maintenance of a public stadium that is financed directly or indirectly by bonds to which the tax is pledged. Expenditures for operation or maintenance include all expenditures other than expenditures that directly result in new fixed assets or that directly increase the capacity, life span, or operating economy of existing fixed assets.

((e)) (h) No ad valorem property taxes may be used for debt service on bonds issued for a public stadium that is financed by bonds to which the tax is pledged, unless the taxes collected under this section are or are projected to be insufficient to meet debt service requirements on such bonds.

((e)) (i) If a substantial part of the operation and management of a public stadium that is financed directly or indirectly by bonds to which the tax is pledged is performed by a nonpublic entity or if a public stadium is sold that is financed directly or indirectly by bonds to which the tax is pledged, any bonds to which the tax is pledged shall be retired.

((e)) (j) The county shall not lease a public stadium that is financed directly or indirectly by bonds to which the tax is pledged to, or authorize the use of the public stadium by, a professional major league sports franchise unless the sports franchise gives the right of first refusal to purchase the sports franchise, upon its sale, to local government. This subsection (3)((e)) (j) does not apply to contracts in existence on April 1, 1986.

If a court of competent jurisdiction declares any provision of this subsection (3) invalid, then that invalid provision shall be null and void and the remainder of this section is not affected.

Any contract with the Seattle-King county convention and visitors bureau shall include, but is not limited to, the following condition: Each dollar in convention and trade center operations account funds provided to the Seattle-King county convention and visitors bureau shall be matched by at least one dollar and ten cents in nonstate funds. "Nonstate funds" does not include funds received under RCW 67.28.180.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. This act shall take effect January 1, 1992.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

ESHB 2026

April 27, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM: YES

Providing for comprehensive water resources management.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2026, Water resources management, have had the same under consideration and we recommend that:

The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Water Resources amendment(s) adopted 4/18/91 not be adopted; and the following striking amendments be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) It is the policy of the state of Washington to recognize and preserve water rights in accordance with RCW 90.03.010.

(2) The legislature finds that:

(a) The state of Washington is faced with a shortage of water with which to meet existing and future needs, particularly during the summer and fall months and in dry years when the demand is greatest;

(b) Consistent with RCW 90.54.180, conservation and water use efficiency programs, including storage, should be the preferred methods of addressing water uses because they can relieve current critical water situations, provide for presently unmet needs, and assist in meeting future water needs. Presently unmet needs or current needs includes the water required to increase the frequency of occurrence of base or minimum flow levels in streams of the state, the water necessary to satisfy existing water rights, or the water necessary to provide full supplies to existing water systems with current supply deficiencies; and

(c) The interests of the state will be served by developing programs and regional water resource plans, in cooperation with local governments, federally recognized tribal governments, appropriate federal agencies, private citizens, and the various water users and water interests in the state, that increase the overall ability to manage the state's waters in order to resolve conflicts and to better satisfy both present and future needs for water.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The purposes of this act are to:

(1) Improve the ability of the state to work with the United States, local governments, federally recognized tribal governments, water right holders, water users, and various water interests in water conservation and water use efficiency programs designed to satisfy existing rights, presently unmet needs, and future needs, both instream and out-of-stream;

(2) Establish new incentives, enhance existing incentives, and remove disincentives for efficient water use;

(3) Establish improved means to disseminate information to the public and provide technical assistance regarding ways to improve the efficiency of water use;

(4) Create a trust water rights mechanism for the acquisition of water rights on a voluntary basis to be used to meet presently unmet needs and future needs;

(5) Prohibit the sale of nonconforming plumbing fixtures and require the marking and labeling of fixtures meeting state standards;

(6) Reduce tax disincentives to water conservation, reuse, and improved water use efficiency; and

(7) Add achievement of water conservation as a factor to be considered by water supply utilities in setting water rates.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 90.54 RCW to read as follows:

(1) State funding of water resource, supply, and quality related capital programs, both current and future, shall, to the maximum extent possible within state or federal legal requirements, be directed to assist in the resolution of current conflicts and implementation of regional water resource plans with priority given to current needs over new requirements.

(2) Consistent with RCW 90.54.180, priority shall be given, to the maximum extent possible within state or federal legal requirements, to those water conservation projects funded by the state that will result in the greatest net water savings.

(1) In the development and implementation of the comprehensive state water resources program required in RCW 90.54.040(1), the process described therein shall involve participation of appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties, and shall be applied on a regional basis pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(2) Prior to (~~January~~) July 1, 1991, the department, with advice from appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local government, and interested parties, shall identify regions and establish regional boundaries for water resource planning and shall designate two regions in which the process shall be initiated on a pilot basis. One region shall encompass an area within the Puget Sound basin in which critical water resource issues exist. A concurrent pilot process may encompass a region east of the Cascade mountains.

(3) The department shall report to the chairs of the appropriate legislative committees prior to July 1st each year summarizing the progress of the pilot process in the two regions. The pilot process in each region shall be completed and shall produce a regional water plan by December 31, 1993.

(4) Appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties in regions not selected for the pilot program are strongly encouraged to commence water resource planning within their regions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The legislature finds that a need exists to develop and test a means to facilitate the voluntary transfer of water and water rights, including conserved water, to provide water for presently unmet needs and emerging needs. Further, the legislature finds that water conservation activities have the potential of affecting the quantity of return flow waters to which existing water right holders have a right to and rely upon. It is the intent of the legislature that persons holding rights to water, including return flows, not be adversely affected in the implementation of the provisions of this chapter.

The purpose of this chapter is to provide the mechanism for accomplishing this in a manner that will not impair existing rights to water and to test the mechanism in two pilot planning areas designated pursuant to RCW 90.54.045(2) and in the water resource inventory areas designated under subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The department may designate up to four water resource inventory areas west of the crest of the Cascade mountains and up to four water resource inventory areas east of the crest of the Cascade mountains, as identified pursuant to chapter 90.54 RCW. The areas designated shall contain critical water supply problems and shall provide an opportunity to test and evaluate a variety of applications of sections 5 through 13 of this act, including application to municipal, industrial, and agricultural use. The department shall seek advice from appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local governments, representatives of water right holders, and interested parties before identifying such water resource inventory areas.

(3) The department shall provide to the appropriate legislative committees by December 31, 1993, a written evaluation of the implementation of sections 5 through 13 of this act and recommendations for future application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(2) "Net water savings" means the amount of water that is determined to be conserved and usable within a specified stream reach or reaches for other purposes without impairment or detriment to water rights existing at the time that a water conservation project is undertaken, reducing the ability to deliver water, or reducing the supply of water that otherwise would have been available to other existing water uses.

(3) "Trust water right" means any water right acquired by the state under this chapter for management in the state's trust water rights program.

(4) "Pilot planning areas" means the geographic areas designated under RCW 90.54.045(2).

(5) "Water conservation project" means any project or program that achieves physical or operational improvements that provide for increased water use efficiency in existing systems of diversion, conveyance, application, or use of water under water rights existing on the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) For purposes of this chapter, the state may enter into contracts to provide moneys to assist in the financing of water conservation projects located within pilot planning areas and in water resource inventory areas designated in accordance with section 5 of this act. In consideration for the financial assistance provided, the state shall obtain public benefits defined in guidelines developed under section 9 of this act.

(2) If the public benefits to be obtained require conveyance or modification of a water right, the recipient of funds shall convey to the state the recipient's interest in that part of the water right or claim constituting all or a portion of the resulting net water savings for deposit in the trust water rights program. The amount to be conveyed shall be finitely determined by the parties, in accordance with the guidelines developed under section 9 of this act, before the expenditure of state funds. Conveyance may consist of complete transfer, lease contracts, or other legally binding agreements. When negotiating for the acquisition of conserved water or net water savings, or a portion thereof, the state may require evidence of a valid water right.

(3) As part of the contract, the water right holder and the state shall specify the process to determine the amount of water the water right holder would continue to be entitled to once the water conservation project is in place.

(4) The state shall cooperate fully with the United States in the implementation of this chapter. Trust water rights may be acquired through expenditure of funds provided by the United States and shall be treated in the same manner as trust water rights resulting from the expenditure of state funds.

(5) If water is proposed to be acquired by or conveyed to the state as a trust water right by an irrigation district, evidence of the district's authority to represent the water right holders shall be submitted to and for the satisfaction of the department.

(6) The state shall not contract with any person to acquire a water right served by an irrigation district without the approval of the board of directors of the irrigation district. Disapproval by a board shall be factually based on probable adverse effects on the ability of the district to deliver water to other members or on maintenance of the financial integrity of the district.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) All trust water rights acquired by the state shall be placed in the state trust water rights program to be managed by the department. Trust water rights acquired by the state shall be held or authorized for use by the department for instream flows, irrigation, municipal, or other beneficial uses consistent with applicable regional plans for pilot planning areas, or to resolve critical water supply problems in water resource inventory areas designated in accordance with section 5 of this act.

(2) The department shall issue a water right certificate in the name of the state of Washington for each permanent trust water right conveyed to the state indicating the reach or reaches of the stream, the quantity, and the use or uses to which it may be applied. A superseding certificate shall be issued that specifies the amount of water the water right holder would continue to be entitled to as a result of the water conservation project. The superseding certificate shall retain the same priority date as the original right. For nonpermanent conveyances, the department shall issue certificates or such other instruments as are necessary to reflect the changes in purpose or place of use or point of diversion or withdrawal. Water rights for which such nonpermanent conveyances are arranged shall not be subject to relinquishment for nonuse.

(3) A trust water right retains the same priority date as the water right from which it originated, but as between them the trust right shall be deemed to be inferior in priority unless otherwise specified by an agreement between the state and the party holding the original right.

(4) Exercise of a trust water right may be authorized only if the department first determines that neither water rights existing at the time the trust water right is established, nor the public interest will be impaired. If impairment becomes apparent during the time a trust water right is being exercised, the department shall cease or modify the use of the trust water right to eliminate the impairment.

(5) Before any trust water right is created or modified, the department shall, at a minimum, require that a notice be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county or counties in which the storage, diversion, and use are to be made, and in other newspapers as the department determines is necessary, once a week for two consecutive weeks. At the same time the department shall send a notice containing pertinent information to all appropriate state agencies, potentially affected local governments and federally recognized tribal governments, and other interested parties.

(6) RCW 90.14.140 through 90.14.230 have no applicability to trust water rights held by the department under this chapter or exercised under this section.

(7) RCW 90.03.380 has no applicability to trust water rights acquired by the state through the funding of water conservation projects.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The department, in cooperation with federally recognized Indian tribes, local governments, state agencies, and other interested parties, shall establish guidelines by July 1, 1992, governing the acquisition, administration, and management of trust water rights. The guidelines shall address at a minimum the following:

- (1) Methods for determining the net water savings resulting from water conservation projects or programs carried out in accordance with this chapter, and other factors to be considered in determining the quantity or value of water available for potential designation as a trust water right;
- (2) Criteria for determining the portion of net water savings to be conveyed to the state under this chapter;
- (3) Criteria for prioritizing water conservation projects;
- (4) A description of potential public benefits that will affect consideration for state financial assistance in section 7 of this act;
- (5) Procedures for providing notification to potentially interested parties;
- (6) Criteria for the assignment of uses of trust water rights acquired in areas of the state not addressed in a regional water resource plan or critical area agreement; and
- (7) Contracting procedures and other procedures not specifically addressed in this section.

These guidelines shall be submitted to the joint select committee on water resource policy before adoption.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The policies and purposes of this chapter shall not be construed as replacing or amending the policies or the purposes for which funds available under chapter 43.83B or 43.99E RCW may be used.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Nothing in this chapter authorizes the involuntary impairment of any existing water rights.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) Within the pilot planning areas, and in water resource inventory areas designated in accordance with section 5 of this act, the state may acquire all or portions of existing water rights, by purchase, gift, or other appropriate means other than by condemnation, from any person or entity or combination of persons or entities. Once acquired, such rights are trust water rights.

(2) The department may enter into leases, contracts, or such other arrangements with other persons or entities as appropriate, to ensure that trust water rights acquired in accordance with this chapter may be exercised to the fullest possible extent.

(3) Trust water rights may be acquired by the state on a temporary or permanent basis.

(4) The provisions of RCW 90.03.380 and 90.03.390 apply to transfers of water rights under this section.

(5) No funds may be expended for the purchase of water rights by the state pursuant to this section unless specifically appropriated for this purpose by the legislature.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. It is the intent of the legislature that jurisdictional authorities that exist in law not be expanded, diminished, or altered in any manner whatsoever by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. A new section is added to chapter 90.14 RCW to read as follows:

This chapter shall not apply to trust water rights held or exercised by the department of ecology under chapter 90.38 or 90.-- RCW (sections 1 and 5 through 13 of this act).

Sec. 15. RCW 90.03.380 and 1987 c 109 s 94 are each amended to read as follows:

The right to the use of water which has been applied to a beneficial use in the state shall be and remain appurtenant to the land or place upon which the same is used: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That said right may be transferred to another or to others and become appurtenant to any other land or place of use without loss of priority of right theretofore established if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. The point of diversion of water for beneficial use or the purpose of use may be changed, if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. Before any transfer of such right to use water or change of the point of diversion of water or change of purpose of use can be made, any person having an interest in the transfer or change, shall file a written application therefor with the department, and said application shall not be granted until notice of said application shall be published as provided in RCW 90.03.280. If it shall appear that such transfer or such change may be made without injury or detriment to existing rights, the department shall issue to the applicant a certificate in duplicate granting the right for such transfer or for such change of point of diversion or of use. The certificate so issued shall be filed and be made a record with the department and the duplicate certificate issued to the applicant may be filed with the county auditor in like manner and with the same effect as provided in the original certificate or permit to divert water.

If an application for change proposes to transfer water rights from one irrigation district to another, the department shall, before publication of notice, receive concurrence from each of the irrigation districts that such transfer or change will not adversely affect the ability to deliver water to other land owners or impair the financial integrity of either of the districts.

A change in place of use by an individual water user or users of water provided by an irrigation district need only receive approval for the change from the board of directors of the district if the use of water continues within the irrigation district.

This section shall not apply to trust water rights acquired by the state through the funding of water conservation projects under chapter 90.38 RCW or RCW 90.--- through 90.--- (sections 5 through 11 of this 1991 act).

Sec. 16. RCW 19.27.170 and 1989 c 348 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The state building code council shall adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW that implement and incorporate the water conservation performance standards in subsections ~~((3))~~ (4) and ~~((4))~~ (5) of this section. These standards shall apply to all new construction and all remodeling involving replacement of plumbing fixtures in all residential, hotel, motel, school, industrial, commercial use, or other occupancies determined by the council to use significant quantities of water.

(2) The legislature recognizes that a phasing-in approach to these new standards is appropriate. Therefore, standards in subsection ~~((3))~~ (4) of this section shall take effect on July 1, 1990. The standards in subsection ~~((4))~~ (5) of this section shall take effect July 1, 1993.

(3) No individual, public or private corporation, firm, political subdivision, government agency, or other legal entity may, for purposes of use in this state, distribute, sell, offer for sale, import, install, or approve for installation any plumbing fixtures unless the fixtures meet the standards as provided for in this section.

(f) No urinal or watercloset that operates on a continuous flow or continuous basis shall be permitted.

~~((5) The building code council shall make an assessment regarding the low-volume fixtures required under subsection (4) of this section. The assessment shall consider the availability of low volume fixtures which are technologically feasible, will operate effectively, and are economically justified. The council shall also assess the potential impact on the necessary flow or water required to insure sewerage or septic lines and treatment plants will effectively operate.~~

(9) The water conservation performance standards shall supersede all local government codes. After July 1, 1990, cities, towns, and counties shall not amend the code revisions and standards established under subsection (~~((3)-or)~~) (4) or (5) of this section.

Sec. 17. RCW 35.67.020 and 1965 c 7 s 35.67.020 are each amended to read as follows:

Every city and town may construct, condemn and purchase, acquire, add to, maintain, conduct, and operate systems of sewerage and systems and plants for refuse collection and disposal together with additions, extensions, and betterments thereto, within and without its limits, with full jurisdiction and authority to manage, regulate, and control them and to fix, alter, regulate, and control the rates and charges for the use thereof: PROVIDED, That the rates charged must be uniform for the same class of customers or service.

In classifying customers served or service furnished by such system of sewerage, the city or town legislative body may in its discretion consider any or all of the following factors: The difference in cost of service to the various customers; the location of the various customers within and without the city or town; the difference in cost of maintenance, operation, repair, and replacement of the various parts of the system; the different character of the service furnished various customers; the quantity and quality of the sewage delivered and the time of its delivery; the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful water use practices; capital contributions made to the system, including but not limited to, assessments; and any other matters which present a reasonable difference as a ground for distinction.

Sec. 18. RCW 35.92.010 and 1985 c 445 s 4 and 1985 c 444 s 2 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

A city or town may construct, condemn and purchase, purchase, acquire, add to, alter, maintain and operate waterworks, within or without its limits, for the purpose of furnishing the city and its inhabitants, and any other persons, with an ample supply of water for all purposes, public and private, including water power and other power derived therefrom, with full power to regulate and control the use, distribution, and price thereof: PROVIDED, That the rates charged must be uniform for the same class of customers or service. Such waterworks may include facilities for the generation of electricity as a byproduct and such electricity may be used by the city or town or sold to an entity authorized by law to distribute electricity. Such electricity is a byproduct when the electrical generation is subordinate to the primary purpose of water supply.

In classifying customers served or service furnished, the city or town governing body may in its discretion consider any or all of the following factors: The difference in cost of service to the various customers; location of the various customers within and without the city or town; the difference in cost of maintenance, operation, repair, and replacement of the various parts of the system; the different character of the service furnished various customers; the quantity and quality of the water furnished; the time of its use; the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful water use practices; capital contributions made to the system including, but not limited to, assessments; and any other matters which present a reasonable difference as a ground for distinction. No rate shall be charged that is less than the cost of the water and service to the class of customers served.

For such purposes any city or town may take, condemn and purchase, purchase, acquire, and retain water from any public or navigable lake or watercourse, surface or ground, and, by means of aqueducts or pipe lines, conduct it to the city or town; and it may erect and build dams or other works across or at the outlet of any lake or watercourse in this state for the purpose of storing and retaining water therein up to and above high water mark; and for all the purposes of erecting such aqueducts, pipe lines, dams, or waterworks or other necessary structures in storing and retaining water, or for any of the purposes provided for by this chapter, the city or town may occupy and use the beds and shores up to the high water mark of any such watercourse or lake, and acquire the right by purchase, or by condemnation and purchase, or otherwise, to any water, water rights, easements or privileges named in this chapter, or necessary for any of said purposes, and the city or town may acquire by purchase or condemnation and purchase any properties or privileges necessary to be had to protect its water supply from pollution. Should private property be necessary for any such purposes or for storing water above high water mark, the city or town may condemn and purchase, or purchase and acquire such private property. For the purposes of waterworks which include facilities for the generation of electricity as a byproduct, nothing in this section may be construed to authorize a city or town that does not own or operate an electric utility system to condemn electric generating, transmission, or distribution rights or facilities of entities authorized by law to distribute electricity, or to acquire such rights or facilities without the consent of the owner.

Sec. 19. RCW 56.16.090 and 1974 ex.s. c 58 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The sewer commissioners of any sewer district, in the event that such sewer revenue bonds are issued, shall provide for revenues by fixing rates and charges for the furnishing of sewerage disposal service to those to whom such service is available. Such rates and charges may be combined for the furnishing of more than one type of sewer service such as but not limited to storm or surface water and sanitary. Such rates and charges are to be fixed as deemed necessary by such sewer commissioners, so that uniform charges will be made for the same class of customer or service.

In classifying customers served or service furnished by such system of sewerage, the board of commissioners may in its discretion consider any or all of the following factors: The difference in cost of service to the various customers; the location of the various customers within and without the district; the difference in cost of maintenance, operation, repair, and replacement of the various parts of the system; the different character of the service furnished various customers; the quantity and quality of the sewage delivered and the time of its delivery; the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful water use practices; capital contributions made to the system including but not limited to assessments; and any other matters which present a reasonable difference as a ground for distinction. Such rates are to be made on a monthly basis and shall produce revenues sufficient to take care of the costs of maintenance and operation, revenue bond and warrant interest and principal amortization requirements, and all other charges necessary for efficient and proper operation of the system.

(1) Whenever any issue or issues of water revenue bonds have been authorized in compliance with the provisions of RCW 57.16.010 through 57.16.040, said bonds shall be in bearer form or registered as to principal or interest or both, as provided in RCW 39.46.030, and may provide for conversion between registered and coupon bonds; shall be in such denominations, shall be numbered, shall bear such date, and shall be payable at such time or times up to a maximum period of not to exceed thirty years as shall be determined by the board of water commissioners of the district; shall bear interest at such rate or rates payable at such time or times as authorized by the board; shall be payable at the office of the county treasurer of the county in which the water district is located and may also be payable at such other place or places as the board of water commissioners may determine; shall be executed by the president of the board of water commissioners and attested and sealed by the secretary thereof, one of which signatures may, with the written permission of the signator whose facsimile signature is being used, be a facsimile; and may have facsimile signatures of said president or secretary imprinted on any interest coupons in lieu of original signatures.

The water district commissioners shall have power and are required to create a special fund or funds for the sole purpose of paying the interest and principal of such bonds into which special fund or funds the said water district commissioners shall obligate and bind the water district to set aside and pay a fixed proportion of the gross revenues of the water supply system or any fixed amount out of and not exceeding a fixed proportion of such revenues, or a fixed amount or amounts without regard to any fixed proportion and such bonds and the interest thereof shall be payable only out of such special fund or funds, but shall be a lien and charge against all revenues and payments received from any utility local improvement district or districts pledged to secure such bonds, subject only to operating and maintenance expenses.

In creating any such special fund or funds the water district commissioners of such water district shall have due regard to the cost of operation and maintenance of the plant or system as constructed or added to and to any proportion or part of the revenue previously pledged as a fund for the payment of bonds, warrants or other indebtedness, and shall not set aside into such special fund a greater amount or proportion of the revenue and proceeds than in their judgment will be available over and above such cost of maintenance and operation and the amount or proportion, if any, of the revenue so previously pledged. Any such bonds and interest thereon issued against any such fund as herein provided shall be a valid claim of the owner thereof only as against the said special fund and its fixed proportion or amount of the revenue pledged to such fund, and shall not constitute an indebtedness of such water district within the meaning of the constitutional provisions and limitations. Each such bond shall state upon its face that it is payable from a special fund, naming the said fund and the resolution creating it. Said bonds shall be sold in such manner, at such price and at such rate or rates of interest as the water district commissioners shall deem for the best interests of the water district, either at public or private sale, and the said commissioners may provide in any contract for the construction and acquirement of the proposed improvement (and for the refunding of outstanding local improvement district obligations, if any) that payment therefor shall be made in such bonds at par value thereof.

When any such special fund shall have been heretofore or shall be hereafter created and any such bonds shall have been heretofore or shall hereafter be issued against the same a fixed proportion or a fixed amount out of and not to exceed such fixed proportion, or a fixed amount or amounts without regard to any fixed proportion, of revenue shall be set aside and paid into said special fund as provided in the resolution creating such fund or authorizing such bonds, and in case any water district shall fail thus to set aside and pay said fixed proportion or amount as aforesaid, the owner of any bond payable from such special fund may bring suit or action against the water district and compel such setting aside and payment.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1) of this section, such bonds may be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW.

(3) The water district commissioners of any water district, in the event that such water revenue bonds are issued, shall provide for revenues by fixing rates and charges for the furnishing of water supply to those receiving such service, such rates and charges to be fixed as deemed necessary by such water district commissioners, so that uniform charges will be made for the same class of customer or service.

In classifying customers served or service furnished by such water supply system, the board of water commissioners may in its discretion consider any or all of the following factors: The difference in cost of service to the various customers; the location of the various customers within and without the district; the difference in cost of maintenance, operation, repair and replacement of the various parts of the system; the different character of the service furnished various customers; the quantity and quality of the water furnished; the time of its use; the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful practices; capital contributions made to the system including but not limited to assessments; and any other matters which present a reasonable difference as a ground for distinction. Such rates shall be made on a monthly basis as may be deemed proper by such commissioners and as fixed by resolution and shall produce revenues sufficient to take care of the costs of maintenance and operation, revenue bond and warrant interest and principal amortization requirements and all other charges necessary for efficient and proper operation of the system.

(1) The commission of each district which shall have revenue obligations outstanding shall have the power and shall be required to establish, maintain, and collect rates or charges for electric energy and water and other services, facilities, and commodities sold, furnished, or supplied by the district which shall be fair and nondiscriminatory and adequate to provide revenues sufficient for the payment of the principal of and interest on such revenue obligations for which the payment has not otherwise been provided and all payments which the district is obligated to set aside in any special fund or funds created for such purpose, and for the proper operation and maintenance of the public utility and all necessary repairs, replacements, and renewals thereof.

(2) In establishing rates or charges for water service, commissioners may in their discretion consider the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful water use practices.

Sec. 22. RCW 80.28.010 and 1990 1st ex.s. c 1 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) All charges made, demanded or received by any gas company, electrical company or water company for gas, electricity or water, or for any service rendered or to be rendered in connection therewith, shall be just, fair, reasonable and sufficient.

(2) Every gas company, electrical company and water company shall furnish and supply such service, instrumentalities and facilities as shall be safe, adequate and efficient, and in all respects just and reasonable.

(3) All rules and regulations issued by any gas company, electrical company or water company, affecting or pertaining to the sale or distribution of its product, shall be just and reasonable.

(4) Until June 30, 1991:

(a) Utility service for residential space heating shall not be terminated between November 15 through March 15 if the customer:

(i) Notifies the utility of the inability to pay the bill, including a security deposit. This notice should be provided within five business days of receiving a payment overdue notice unless there are extenuating circumstances. If the customer fails to notify the utility within five business days and service is terminated, the customer can, by paying reconnection charges, if any, and fulfilling the requirements of this section, receive the protections of this chapter;

(ii) Provides self-certification of household income for the prior twelve months to a grantee of the department of community development which administers federally funded energy assistance programs. The grantee shall determine that the household income does not exceed the maximum allowed for eligibility under the state's plan for low-income energy assistance under 42 U.S.C. 8624 and shall provide a dollar figure that is seven percent of household income. The grantee may verify information provided in the self-certification;

(iii) Has applied for home heating assistance from applicable government and private sector organizations and certifies that any assistance received will be applied to the current bill and future utility bills;

(iv) Has applied for low-income weatherization assistance to the utility or other appropriate agency if such assistance is available for the dwelling;

(v) Agrees to a payment plan and agrees to maintain the payment plan. The plan will be designed both to pay the past due bill by the following October 15 and to pay for continued utility service. If the past due bill is not paid by the following October 15, the customer shall not be eligible for protections under this chapter until the past due bill is paid. The plan shall not require monthly payments in excess of seven percent of the customer's monthly income plus one-twelfth of any arrearage accrued from the date application is made and thereafter during November 15 through March 15. A customer may agree to pay a higher percentage during this period, but shall not be in default unless payment during this period is less than seven percent of monthly income plus one-twelfth of any arrearage accrued from the date application is made and thereafter. If assistance payments are received by the customer subsequent to implementation of the plan, the customer shall contact the utility to reformulate the plan; and

(vi) Agrees to pay the moneys owed even if he or she moves.

(b) The utility shall:

(i) Include in any notice that an account is delinquent and that service may be subject to termination, a description of the customer's duties in this section;

(ii) Assist the customer in fulfilling the requirements under this section;

(iii) Be authorized to transfer an account to a new residence when a customer who has established a plan under this section moves from one residence to another within the same utility service area;

(iv) Be permitted to disconnect service if the customer fails to honor the payment program. Utilities may continue to disconnect service for those practices authorized by law other than for nonpayment as provided for in this subsection. Customers who qualify for payment plans under this section who default on their payment plans and are disconnected can be reconnected and maintain the protections afforded under this chapter by paying reconnection charges, if any, and by paying all amounts that would have been due and owing under the terms of the applicable payment plan, absent default, on the date on which service is reconnected; and

(v) Advise the customer in writing at the time it disconnects service that it will restore service if the customer contacts the utility and fulfills the other requirements of this section.

(c) A payment plan implemented under this section is consistent with RCW 80.28.080.

(5) Every gas company and electrical company shall offer residential customers the option of a budget billing or equal payment plan. The budget billing or equal payment plan shall be offered low-income customers eligible under the state's plan for low-income energy assistance prepared in accordance with 42 U.S.C. 8624(C)(1) without limiting availability to certain months of the year, without regard to the length of time the customer has occupied the premises, and without regard to whether the customer is the tenant or owner of the premises occupied.

(6) Every gas company, electrical company and water company shall construct and maintain such facilities in connection with the manufacture and distribution of its product as will be efficient and safe to its employees and the public.

(7) An agreement between the customer and the utility, whether oral or written, shall not waive the protections afforded under this chapter.

(8) In establishing rates or charges for water service, water companies as defined in RCW 80.04.010 may consider the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful water use practices.

Sec. 23. RCW 80.28.025 and 1980 c 149 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In establishing rates for each gas and electric company regulated by this chapter, the commission shall adopt policies to encourage meeting or reducing energy demand through cogeneration as defined in RCW 82.35.020, measures which improve the efficiency of energy end use, and new projects which produce or generate energy from renewable resources, such as solar energy, wind energy, hydroelectric energy, geothermal energy, wood, wood waste, municipal wastes, agricultural products and wastes, and end-use waste heat. These policies shall include but are not limited to allowing a return on investment in measures to improve the efficiency of energy end use, cogeneration, or projects which produce or generate energy from renewable resources which return is established by adding an increment of two percent to the rate of return on common equity permitted on the company's other investment. Measures or projects encouraged under this section are those for which construction or installation is begun after June 12, 1980, and before January 1, 1990, and which, at the time they are placed in the rate base, are reasonably expected to save, produce, or generate energy at a total incremental system cost per unit of energy delivered to end use which is less than or equal to the incremental system cost per unit of energy delivered to end use from similarly available conventional energy resources which utilize nuclear energy or fossil fuels and which the gas or electric company could acquire to meet energy demand in the same time period. The rate of return increment shall be allowed for a period not to exceed thirty years after the measure or project is first placed in the rate base.

(2) In establishing rates for water companies regulated by this chapter, the commission may consider the achievement of water conservation goals and the discouragement of wasteful water use practices.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

The tax imposed by RCW 82.04.240 shall not apply to the treatment or processing of effluent water purchased for commercial use directly from a sewage treatment facility operated by any county, city, town, political subdivision, or municipal or quasi-municipal corporation of this state. This section shall expire December 31, 1993, unless extended by the legislature.

Sec. 25. RCW 90.14.140 and 1987 c 125 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) For the purposes of RCW 90.14.130 through 90.14.180, "sufficient cause" shall be defined as the nonuse of all or a portion of the water by the owner of a water right for a period of five or more consecutive years where such nonuse occurs as a result of:

- (a) Drought, or other unavailability of water;
- (b) Active service in the armed forces of the United States during military crisis;
- (c) Nonvoluntary service in the armed forces of the United States;
- (d) The operation of legal proceedings;
- (e) Federal laws imposing land or water use restrictions either directly or through the voluntary enrollment of a landowner in a federal program implementing those laws, or acreage limitations, or production quotas.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provisions of RCW 90.14.130 through 90.14.180, there shall be no relinquishment of any water right:

- (a) If such right is claimed for power development purposes under chapter 90.16 RCW and annual license fees are paid in accordance with chapter 90.16 RCW, or
- (b) If such right is used for a standby or reserve water supply to be used in time of drought or other low flow period so long as withdrawal or diversion facilities are maintained in good operating condition for the use of such reserve or standby water supply, or

(c) If such right is claimed for a determined future development to take place either within fifteen years of July 1, 1967, or the most recent beneficial use of the water right, whichever date is later, or

(d) If such right is claimed for municipal water supply purposes under chapter 90.03 RCW, or

(e) If the nonuse occurs after the effective date of this section, where such right is claimed by an irrigation district for the benefit of lands lying within such district, or

(f) If such waters are not subject to appropriation under the applicable provisions of RCW 90.40.030 as now or hereafter amended.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. A new section is added to chapter 82.12 RCW to read as follows:

This chapter shall not apply with respect to the use of treated or processed effluent water purchased for commercial use directly from a sewage treatment facility operated by any county, city, town, political subdivision, or municipal or quasi-municipal corporation of this state. This section shall expire December 31, 1993, unless extended by the legislature.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 27. Sections 1 and 5 through 13 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 90 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 28. Section 4 of this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect July 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 29. If specific funding for the purposes of this act, referencing this act by bill number, is not provided by June 30, 1991, in the omnibus appropriations act, this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 30. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "management;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 90.54.045, 90.03.380, 19.27.170, 35.67.020, 56.16.090, 57.20.020, 54.24.080, 80.28.010, 80.28.025, and 90.14.140; reenacting and amending RCW 35.92.010; adding a new section to chapter 90.54 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 90.14 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 82.04 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 82.12 RCW; adding a new chapter to Title 90 RCW; creating new sections; providing an effective date; and declaring an emergency.", and that the bill do pass as recommended by the Conference Committee.

Signed by Senators Barr, Hansen, Newhouse; Representatives Belcher, Hine, L. Miller.

MOTION

Senator Barr moved that the rules be suspended and that the Report of the Conference Committee on Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2026 be adopted.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Barr, I heard some concerns from the Yakima Indian Nation about some language that was in, I believe, Senate Bill No. 5369. I don't believe that language is in this measure now, but could you confirm that for me? That's the canal legislation."

Senator Barr: "Thank you, Senator Talmadge. I wasn't expecting this bill to come up for a little while and I didn't have my notes made as thorough as I should. In conference, we did talk about the Yakima--so called--Hell Roaring Water Rights Bill that we passed through here earlier in the session, because that irrigation district had failed to get their claim filed a few years ago. The intent now is that we will continue working between the Hell Roaring Irrigation District and the tribe and see what they can work out. The language in this bill just kind of holds a status quo until they can further communicate and work out the arrangements on that. The Department of Ecology has stated that they will help try to do that--work out an agreement."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the Report of the Conference Committee on Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2026, under suspension of the Rules.

The appropriations in this subsection are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) A maximum of $35,212,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $17,127,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided for approved regional network plans through contracts negotiated with the secretary of social and health services.

(i) It is the intent of the legislature to implement mental health reform on a multi-year schedule. Dramatic escalation of costs for new programs would impair the state's ability to proceed with subsequent expansion. The contracts shall contain a fiscal plan that will ensure that the increased cost of maintaining fiscal year 1991 programs in fiscal year 1992 will not unduly exceed the rate of inflation. Of the amounts provided in this subsection, a maximum of $500,000 from the general fund--state appropriation may be used for planning and technical assistance grants to counties or regions wishing to form networks. The amounts in this subsection include moneys needed to implement the federal omnibus budget and reconciliation act of 1987 ("OBRA"). First priority for necessary mental health services shall be given to individuals transferred from nursing homes because of OBRA. Such services shall be consistent with an individual's discharge plan and shall include residential services, if needed. Assumptions regarding the number of transfers from the nursing homes shall be incorporated into each contract and shall be consistent with the state-wide plan. The department shall coordinate OBRA transfers consistent with the provisions of each contract. The secretary shall negotiate contracts only with regional support networks that received recognition under chapter 205, Laws of 1989 as of January 1, 1990. Funding for the north sound and north central networks shall commence no sooner than January 1, 1991. Networks funded after January 1990 shall be subject to the same contracting process as networks funded in January 1990.

(ii) The department shall continue contracting directly for the Kitsap mental health services residential care alternative project until such time as Kitsap county becomes or joins a regional support network. The reimbursement rate per available bed-day shall not exceed $206 in fiscal year 1990 and $210 in fiscal year 1991. During the contract period, all eligible involuntary treatment referrals for Kitsap county residents shall be made to the project. No involuntary referrals shall be made to western state hospital unless the Kitsap residential treatment facility is filled to capacity and the mental health division and the Kitsap county mental health coordinator concur with the referral. Priority for referral to western state hospital shall be given to individuals under ninety-day or one hundred eighty-day commitments and individuals who have exhausted all community placement options.

(iii) The department may continue to contract directly with Chartley house until King county joins or becomes a regional support network.

(b) $2,000,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for a mental health housing reserve. The secretary of social and health services shall transfer funds from the reserve to the state hospitals in any quarter in which hospital census exceeds the December 1988 forecast adjusted to eliminate the bed contract assumption. Any amount remaining after March 1991 may be used for one-time grants. In making grants, the secretary shall give priority to proposals that facilitate network development, demonstrate integration with other mental health services, and are designed to reduce involuntary treatment.

(c) $5,500,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for increases for involuntary treatment act administration, including costs associated with involuntary medication hearings.

(d) $2,200,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for information system requirements associated with chapter 205, Laws of 1989. Authority to expend funds for the client information system is conditioned on compliance with section 802, chapter 19, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess.

(e) $600,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $400,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for increasing local hospital outlier payments.

(f) $1,400,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $500,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are for community mental health services for children. Priority for the remaining moneys shall be given to maintaining Title XIX eligibility for children's outpatient services at risk of losing federal financial participation because of lack of state match.

(g) $3,509,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $1,322,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are for vendor rate increases for vendors providing services to the mental health program, as specified in section 202 of this act.

(h) $165,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for a pilot project on the delivery of children's mental health services. The amount provided in this subsection is contingent on receipt by the department of $393,000 from private sources.

(i) $1,500,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $720,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for the enhancement of children's mental health services. The department shall contract with networks and counties through separate performance-based contracts. Contracts shall include a provision expanding services for underserved or difficult-to-service children, including minorities. Applications from counties and networks shall include endorsements from affected school districts, child welfare agencies, juvenile court systems, and tribes. Of these amounts, $200,000 is provided solely for the development of a state-wide action plan for children's mental health. The plan shall include strategies to reduce duplicate case management. It shall recommend changes, if necessary, to mental health statutes and other statutes to accommodate children's special needs and circumstances. It shall include proposals to increase access and availability of culturally relevant mental health services for minority children. It shall propose a protocol for client referrals from educational and social service agencies and a cross-system collaborative process for ranking those referrals. In developing the plan, the department shall involve representatives of the education, juvenile justice, child welfare, and mental health systems. The department shall present the plan by December 1, 1990, to the appropriate program and fiscal committees of the house of representatives and the senate.

(j) $500,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for a comprehensive community-based pilot program for the prevention of community violence:

(i) The pilot program shall be established through a competitive selection process and shall provide for coordination between local law enforcement agencies and courts, local government, domestic violence and victims' support programs, regional support networks, public health agencies, health care providers, schools, and relevant programs within state agencies. The program shall designate a lead agency and develop written interagency agreements to provide a coordinated continuum of services. The pilot program shall make every effort to preserve existing violence intervention programs and coordinate available funding for services related to community violence prevention and services to victims of violence.

(ii) The pilot program shall provide at least the following services: Services to family members who are victims of violence; services to victims of violent crime; case management services; specialized intervention programs for treatment of perpetrators of violence; parenting and caregiver training to families experiencing or at-risk of experiencing violence; and public education regarding community violence.

(iii) Twenty-five percent of the funding for the pilot program shall be provided in-kind or in cash by public or private entities in the community administering the pilot program.

(g) For districts operating no more than two high schools with enrollments of less than three hundred average annual full time equivalent students, for enrollment in grades nine through twelve in each such school, other than alternative schools:

(i) For remote and necessary schools enrolling students in any grades nine through twelve but no more than twenty-five average annual full time equivalent kindergarten through twelfth grade students, four and one-half certificated instructional staff units and one-quarter of a certificated administrative staff unit;

(4) Fringe benefit allocations shall be calculated at a rate of 19.80 percent in the 1989-90 school year and 19.85 percent in the 1990-91 school year of certificated salary allocations provided under subsection (2) of this section, and a rate of 17.32 percent in the 1989-90 school year and 17.37 percent in the 1990-91 school year of classified salary allocations provided under subsection (3) of this section.

(5) Insurance benefit allocations shall be calculated at the rates specified in section 505 of this act, based on:

(a) The number of certificated staff units determined in subsection (2) of this section; and

(b) The number of classified staff units determined in subsection (3) of this section multiplied by 1.152. This factor is intended to adjust allocations so that, for the purposes of distributing insurance benefits, full time equivalent classified employees may be calculated on the basis of 1440 hours of work per year, with no individual employee counted as more than one full time equivalent.

(6)(a) For nonemployee related costs associated with each certificated staff unit allocated under subsection (2) (a), (b), (c), and (e) through (i) of this section, there shall be provided a maximum of $6,355 per certificated staff unit in the 1989-90 school year and a maximum of $6,654 per certificated staff unit in the 1990-91 school year.

(8) The superintendent may distribute a maximum of ~~$(9,925,000))~~ 9,829,000 outside the basic education formula during fiscal years 1990 and 1991 as follows:

(10)(a) The superintendent of public instruction shall revise personnel reporting systems to include information on grade level assignments of basic education certificated instructional staff, by grade level groupings of K-3, 4-6, and 7-12. The superintendent of public instruction shall collect such information from school districts beginning in the 1989-90 school year. School districts may submit supplemental information on changes in staffing levels after the initial personnel report for each school year. Staffing ratios calculated under this subsection may recognize additional staff reported, prorated by the number of months of employment during the academic year.

(b) For each school year, the funding provided under subsection (2)(a) of this section shall be based on a ratio of fifty-one certificated instructional staff per thousand students in kindergarten through grade three only if the district documents an actual ratio of at least fifty-one full time basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students at those grade levels. For any school district documenting a lower ratio, the funding provided under this section shall be based on the district's actual K-3 ratio achieved in that school year, or the statutory minimum ratio established under RCW 28A.41.140(2)(c), if greater.

(c) School districts that had a ratio of fifty-one basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand students in kindergarten through grade three in the 1988-89 school year shall expend additional funding generated by the increase in staffing ratios provided in this section solely to improve staffing ratios in kindergarten through grade twelve.

(11) School districts shall use allocations for salaries and benefits generated under subsection (2)(b) of this section only to increase the district's ratio of basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students in grades K-3 above fifty-one per thousand, or to employ classified instructional assistants assigned to K-3 basic education classrooms. However, a district that has achieved a ratio of fifty-three basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students in grades K-3 may also use the allocation to employ additional basic education certificated instructional staff or classified instructional assistants in any grades K-12. School districts shall document to the superintendent of public instruction how the allocation was used and shall submit documentation on the number of classified instructional assistants employed in grades K-3 in the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years. If a district uses moneys provided under subsection (2)(b) of this section for K-3 certificated instructional staff, these staff shall be excluded when determining the district's actual K-3 staffing ratio under subsection (10) of this section. A district shall be ineligible to receive allocations under subsection (2)(b) of this section unless the district documents to the superintendent of public instruction that its actual K-3 ratio under subsection (10) of this section for the 1990-91 school year is at least fifty-one full time basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students. Districts may not use allocations provided under this subsection to supplant other moneys previously used to employ K-3 certificated instructional staff or K-3 classified instructional assistants. The superintendent of public instruction shall recover funding allocated under subsection (2)(b) of this section if the district does not submit documentation showing that the funding was used for the purposes specified.

(12) The additional moneys allocated due to the increase in the vocational-secondary staff ratio provided in subsection (2)(d) of this section shall be expended solely for expanded vocational-secondary programs approved by the superintendent of public instruction. Funds provided may be expended for extended day contracts. The percentage rate of indirect charges to vocational-secondary programs, in total, shall not exceed the state-wide average percentage rates of indirect charges in all other state-funded categorical programs.

(b) As used in this subsection, the column headings "BA+(N)" refer to the number of credits earned since receiving the baccalaureate degree.

(c) For credits earned after the baccalaureate degree but before the masters degree, any credits in excess of forty-five credits may be counted after the masters degree. Thus, as used in this subsection, the column headings "MA+(N)" refer to the total of:

(i) Credits earned since receiving the masters degree; and

(ii) Any credits in excess of forty-five credits that were earned after the baccalaureate degree but before the masters degree.

(8) For the purposes of this section:

(a) "BA" means a baccalaureate degree.

(b) "MA" means a masters degree.

(c) "PHD" means a doctorate degree.

(d) "Years of service" shall be calculated under the same rules used by the superintendent of public instruction for salary allocations in the 1988-89 school year.

(e) "Credits" means college quarter hour credits and equivalent inservice credits computed in accordance with RCW 28A.71.110.

(9) The salary allocation schedules established in subsections (6) and (7) of this section are for allocation purposes only. However, it is the legislature's intent to respond to salary needs of many senior teachers who have not been receiving salary increments on either state or local salary schedules. The legislature and the public recognize the need to provide salary growth for these senior teachers in order to encourage them to continue teaching. School districts should target moneys generated by the additional seniority steps provided for state salary funding in the 1990-91 school year to senior certification instructional staff. By December 1, 1990, each school district shall submit to the superintendent of public instruction a statement signed by the district's board of directors explaining how the moneys generated by the additional seniority steps were used and whether these moneys were targeted to senior staff.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Vognild, the following resolution was adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION 1991-8674

By Senators Matson, McMullen, Vognild, Gaspard, Roach, von Reichbauer, Johnson and Talmadge

WHEREAS, Law enforcement officers and fire fighters regularly face occupational hazards that, according to some studies, may result in a higher incidence of heart disease and cancer than would be expected for that population; and

WHEREAS, Difficult problems of proof may be inherent in occupational disease claims made by law enforcement officers and fire fighters based on heart disease and cancer; and

WHEREAS, Thirty-eight states have enacted some type of rebuttable presumption provision in their respective industrial insurance laws with respect to these types of occupational disease claims; and

WHEREAS, Resolution of the policy questions raised by the above-described occupational hazards requires careful analysis of factual, medical, and legal data;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Department of Labor and Industries, with the assistance of the Department of Environmental Health at the University of Washington and the State Department of Health, is requested to conduct a study of the unique occupational disease hazards encountered by law enforcement officers and fire fighters, and the efficacy of the occupational disease claim procedure, including but not limited to the following questions:

(1) The incidence of certain types of cancer in the law enforcement and fire fighter populations, giving due consideration to confounding variables, compared to an appropriate control group population. Consideration should be given to limiting the comparison to certain types of cancer;

(2) The incidence of heart disease, or of certain types of heart disease in the law enforcement officer and fire fighter population, giving due consideration to confounding variables, compared to an appropriate control group population;

(3) The problems of proof associated with occupational disease claims of law enforcement officers and fire fighters, particularly those claims based on heart disease and cancer; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That in the conduct of the study, the department use the services of an advisory committee, appointed by the director, with representation from the following groups: Law enforcement and fire fighter employee associations, local government officials or risk managers, one or more members of the Washington State Bar Association whose practices are largely limited to industrial insurance, one or more members of the Washington State Medical Association who specialize in industrial health, either as providers or researchers, and other members as the director may find appropriate; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the study be completed and the findings reported to the Legislature by December 1, 1992.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

ESHB 1341

April 27, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Promoting economic development.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1341, Timber-dependent communities, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That the Senate floor amendment adopted 4/19/91 not be adopted; and that the following amendments be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:

(1) Cutbacks in allowable sales of old growth timber in Washington state pose a substantial threat to the region and the state with massive layoffs, loss of personal income, and declines in state revenues;

(2) The timber impact areas are of critical significance to the state because of their leading role in the overall economic well-being of the state and their importance to the quality of life to all residents of Washington, and that these regions require a special state effort to diversify the local economy;

(3) There are key opportunities to broaden the economic base in the timber impact areas including agriculture, high-technology, tourism, and regional exports; and

(4) A coordinated state, local, and private sector effort offers the greatest potential to promote economic diversification and to provide support for new projects within the region.

The legislature further finds that if a special state effort does not take place the decline in allowable timber sales may result in a loss of six thousand logging and milling jobs; two hundred million dollars in direct wages and benefits; twelve thousand indirect jobs; and three hundred million dollars in indirect wages and benefits.

It is the intent of the legislature to develop comprehensive programs to provide diversified economic development and promote job creation and employment opportunities for the citizens of the timber impact areas.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. For the purposes of sections 2 through 10 of this act:

(1) "Board" means the economic recovery coordination board;

(2) "Timber impact area" means a county having a population of less than five hundred thousand, or a city or town located within a county having a population of less than five hundred thousand, and meeting two of the following three criteria, as determined by the employment security department, for the most recent year such data is available: (a) A lumber and wood products employment location quotient at or above the state average; (b) projected or actual direct lumber and wood products job losses of one hundred positions or more, except counties having a population greater than two hundred thousand but less than five hundred thousand must have direct lumber and wood products job losses of one thousand positions or more; or (c) an annual unemployment rate twenty percent or more above the state average.

The timber recovery coordinator shall also be a member of the board. Each associate development organization from counties that are timber impact areas, in consultation with the county legislative authority, shall submit to the governor the names of three nominees representing different interests in each county. Within sixty days after the effective date of this section, the governor shall select one nominee from each list submitted by associate development organizations. In making the appointments, the governor shall endeavor to ensure that the board represents a diversity of backgrounds. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.

In addition, the department shall develop an interagency agreement with the department of community development for local capacity-building grants to local governments and community-based organizations in timber impact areas, which may include long-range planning and needs assessments.

The counseling agreements shall have mutual performance clauses, that if not met, will be grounds for releasing each party, without penalty, from the provisions of the agreement. Clients shall be immediately released from a counseling agreement with the Pacific Northwest export assistance project, without penalty, if a client wishes to switch to a private export management service and produces a valid contract signed with a private export management service, or if the president of the small business export finance assistance center determines there are compelling reasons to release a client from the provisions of the counseling agreement;

Final contracts for providing the project's counseling and services outside of the state of Washington on a permanent basis shall be subject to approval of the governor, appropriate legislative oversight committees, and the small business export finance assistance center's board of directors.

(7) The president of the small business export finance assistance center, in consultation with the board of directors, may use the following formula in determining the number of clients that can be reasonably served by the Pacific Northwest export assistance project relative to its appropriation. The biennial marginal cost of adding each additional client after the first biennium of operation shall be established from the actual operating experience of the Pacific Northwest export assistance project.

(1) The legislature finds that it is the public policy of the state of Washington to direct financial resources toward the fostering of economic development through the stimulation of investment and job opportunities and the retention of sustainable existing employment for the general welfare of the inhabitants of the state. Reducing unemployment and reducing the time citizens remain jobless is important for the economic welfare of the state. A valuable means of fostering economic development is the construction of public facilities which contribute to the stability and growth of the state's economic base. Strengthening the economic base through issuance of industrial development bonds, whether single or umbrella, further serves to reduce unemployment. Consolidating issues of industrial development bonds when feasible to reduce costs additionally advances the state's purpose to improve economic vitality. Expenditures made for these purposes as authorized in this chapter are declared to be in the public interest, and constitute a proper use of public funds. A community economic revitalization board is needed which shall aid the development of economic opportunities. The general objectives of the board should include:

(a) Strengthening the economies of areas of the state which have experienced or are expected to experience chronically high unemployment rates or below average growth in their economies;

(b) Encouraging the diversification of the economies of the state and regions within the state in order to provide greater seasonal and cyclical stability of income and employment;

(c) Encouraging wider access to financial resources for both large and small industrial development projects;

(d) Encouraging new economic development or expansions to maximize employment;

(e) Encouraging the retention of viable existing firms and employment; and

(f) Providing incentives for expansion of employment opportunities for groups of state residents that have been less successful relative to other groups in efforts to gain permanent employment.

(2) The legislature also finds that the state's economic development efforts can be enhanced by, in certain instances, providing funds to improve state highways in the vicinity of new industries considering locating in this state or existing industries that are considering significant expansion.

(a) The legislature finds it desirable to provide a process whereby the need for diverse public works improvements necessitated by planned economic development can be addressed in a timely fashion and with coordination among all responsible governmental entities.

(b) It is the intent of the legislature to create an economic development account within the motor vehicle fund from which expenditures can be made by the department of transportation for state highway improvements necessitated by planned economic development. All such improvements must first be approved by the state transportation commission and the community economic revitalization board in accordance with the procedures established by RCW 43.160.074 and 47.01.280. It is further the intent of the legislature that such improvements not jeopardize any other planned highway construction projects. The improvements are intended to be of limited size and cost, and to include such items as additional turn lanes, signalization, illumination, and safety improvements.

(3) The legislature also finds that the state's economic development efforts can be enhanced by providing funds to improve markets for those recyclable materials representing a large fraction of the waste stream. The legislature finds that public facilities which result in private construction of processing or remanufacturing facilities for recyclable materials are eligible for consideration from the board.

(4) The legislature finds that sharing economic growth state-wide is important to the welfare of the state. Timber impact areas do not share in the economic vitality of the Puget Sound region. Infrastructure is one of several ingredients that are critical for economic development. Timber impact areas generally lack the infrastructure necessary to diversify and revitalize their economies. It is, therefore, the intent of the legislature to increase the availability of funds to help provide infrastructure to timber impact areas.

(3) The board shall award loans only to those projects that meet the criteria and will fulfill the purpose of this section and section 26 of this act. Any funds not obligated at the close of the biennium shall be returned to the public works assistance account.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

SSB 5670

April 28, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Relating to children's mental health services.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5670, Relating to children's mental health services, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That all previous amendments not be adopted; and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 71.24.015 and 1989 c 205 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

It is the intent of the legislature to establish a community mental health program which shall help people experiencing mental illness to retain a respected and productive position in the community. This will be accomplished through programs which provide for:

(1) Access to mental health services for adults (~~and children~~) of the state who are acutely mentally ill, chronically mentally ill, or seriously disturbed(~~, or chronically mentally ill~~) and children of the state who are acutely mentally ill, severely emotionally disturbed, or seriously disturbed, which services recognize the special needs of underserved populations, including minorities, children, the elderly, disabled, and low-income persons. It is also the purpose of this chapter to (~~ensure that~~) promote the early identification of mentally ill children (~~in need of mental health care and treatment~~) and to ensure that they receive the mental health care and treatment which is appropriate to their developmental level. This care should improve home, school, and community functioning, maintain children in a safe and nurturing home environment, and (~~to~~) should enable treatment decisions to be made in response to clinical needs (~~and~~) in accordance with sound professional judgment while also recognizing parents' rights to participate in treatment decisions for their children;

(2) Accountability of services through state-wide standards for monitoring and reporting of information;

(3) Minimum service delivery standards;

(4) Priorities for the use of available resources for the care of the mentally ill;

(5) Coordination of services within the department, including those divisions within the department that provide services to children, between the department and the office of the superintendent of public instruction, and among state mental hospitals, county authorities, community mental health services, and other support services, which shall to the maximum extent feasible also include the families of the mentally ill, and other service providers; and

(6) Coordination of services aimed at reducing duplication in service delivery and promoting complementary services among all entities that provide mental health services to adults and children.

It is the policy of the state to encourage the provision of a full range of treatment and rehabilitation services in the state for mental disorders. The legislature intends to encourage the development of county-based and county-managed mental health services with adequate local flexibility to assure eligible people in need of care access to the least-restrictive treatment alternative appropriate to their needs, and the availability of treatment components to assure continuity of care. To this end, counties are encouraged to enter into joint operating agreements with other counties to form regional systems of care which integrate planning, administration, and service delivery duties assigned to counties under chapters 71.05 and 71.24 RCW to consolidate administration, reduce administrative layering, and reduce administrative costs.

It is further the intent of the legislature to integrate the provision of services to provide continuity of care through all phases of treatment. To this end the legislature intends to promote active engagement with mentally ill persons and collaboration between families and service providers.

Written notice and at least thirty days for corrective action must precede any such action. In such cases, regional support networks shall have full rights to appeal under chapter 34.05 RCW.

((+)) (h) Identify in its departmental biennial operating and capital budget requests the funds requested by regional support networks to implement their responsibilities under this chapter.

(18) The secretary shall establish a task force to examine the recruitment, training, and compensation of qualified mental health professionals in the community, which shall include the advantages and disadvantages of establishing a training academy, loan forgiveness program, or educational stipends offered in exchange for commitments of employment in mental health. The plan shall be submitted to appropriate committees of the legislature on or before December 1, 1991.

The county authority shall:

(1) Submit biennial needs assessments beginning January 1, 1983, and mental health service plans which incorporate all services provided for by the county authority consistent with state minimum standards and which provide access to treatment for the county's residents including children and other underserved populations who are acutely mentally ill, chronically mentally ill, severely emotionally disturbed, or seriously disturbed. The county program shall provide:

from the public, clients, and licensed service providers. Each county authority may appoint a county mental health advisory board which shall review and provide comments on plans and policies developed by the county authority under this chapter. The composition of the board shall be broadly representative of the demographic character of the county and the mentally ill persons served therein. Length of terms of board members shall be determined by the county authority;

The county authority may, in the absence of a licensed service provider entity, become a licensed service provider entity pursuant to minimum standards required for licensing by the department for the purpose of providing services not available from licensed service providers;

(3) Operate as a licensed service provider if it deems that doing so is more efficient and cost effective than contracting for services. When doing so, the county authority shall comply with rules promulgated by the secretary that shall provide measurements to determine when a county provided service is more efficient and cost effective.

(4) Monitor and perform biennial fiscal audits of licensed service providers who have contracted with the county to provide services required by this chapter. The monitoring and audits shall be performed by means of a formal process which insures that the licensed service providers and professionals designated in this subsection meet the terms of their contracts, including the minimum standards of service delivery as established by the department;

(5) Assure that the special needs of minorities, the elderly, disabled, children, and low-income persons are met within the priorities established in this chapter;

The rules under this act shall meet federal requirements that are a necessary condition to the receipt of federal funds by the state.

However, if any part of this act conflicts with such federal requirements, the state appropriation for mental health services provided to children whose mental disorders are discovered under screening through the federal Title XIX early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment program shall be provided through the division of medical assistance and no state funds appropriated to the division of mental health shall be expended or transferred for this purpose.

MOTION

Senator Nelson moved that the rules be suspended and that the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute Senate Bill No. 5418 be adopted.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Nelson, does this mean then that the Senate's effort on criminal justice work groups and the effort that came over from the House on cooperation among local jurisdictions on law enforcement issues are both gone this session and the only thing we have is another broadly based task force that is going to recreate the wheel by looking at sentencing?"

Senator Nelson: "I'm not sure that anyone could answer that 'yes' or 'no' since there have been several task forces and efforts that the cities, counties and the state are joining in a cooperative effort to look at the criminal justice system from many aspects, both for adults and for juveniles. We did not receive the opportunity by the House to do the comprehensive action that was embodied in the original Senate Bill No. 5418."

Senator Talmadge: "So, Senator Thorsness's original bill is gone and also House Bill No. 1199, which required local governments to develop criminal justice councils, is gone?"

Senator Nelson: "We had 1199 as an amendment to 5418 and that was clipped off during the process in the House and yes, we do not have the original 5418."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute Senate Bill No. 5418, under suspension of the rules.

The motion by Senator Nelson carried, the Report of the Conference Committee on Substitute Senate Bill No. 5418, under suspension of the rules, was adopted.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5418, as recommended by the Conference Committee, under suspension of the rules.

Unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, the following words and phrases as hereinafter used in this chapter shall have the following meanings:

(1) "Claimant" means a person who (~~is receiving a property tax exemption under RCW 84.36.381 through 84.36.389 and who~~) either elects or is required under RCW 84.64.030 or 84.64.050 to defer payment of the special assessments and/or real property taxes accrued on ((his)) the claimant's residence by filing a declaration to defer as provided by this chapter.

When two or more individuals of a household file or seek to file a declaration to defer, they may determine between them as to who the claimant shall be.

(2) "Department" means the state department of revenue.

(3) "Equity value" means the amount by which the fair market value of a residence as determined from the records of the county assessor exceeds the total amount of any liens or other obligations against the property.

(4) "Special assessment" means the charge or obligation imposed by a city, town, county, or other municipal corporation upon property specially benefited by a local improvement, including assessments under chapters 35.44, 36.88, 36.94, 53.08, 54.16, 56.20, 57.16, 86.09, and 87.03 RCW and any other relevant chapter.

A claimant may defer payment of special assessments and/or real property taxes on ~~((his property that is receiving an exemption under RCW 84.36.381 through 84.36.389 on))~~ up to eighty percent of the amount of ((his)) the claimant's equity value in ~~((said property)) the claimant's residence~~ if the following conditions are met:

~~((3))~~ (5) In the case of special assessment deferral, the claimant must have opted for payment of such special assessments on the installment method if such method was available.

April 28, 1991

Includes "NEW ITEM": YES

Providing assistance for timber harvesting areas.

MR. PRESIDENT:

MR. SPEAKER:

We of your Conference Committee, to whom was referred ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5555, Providing assistance for timber harvesting areas, have had the same under consideration and we recommend:

That all previous amendments not be adopted; and that the following striking amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:

(1) The economic health and well-being of timber-dependent communities is of substantial public concern. The significant reduction in annual timber harvest levels likely will result in reduced economic activity and persistent unemployment and underemployment over time, which would be a serious threat to the safety, health, and welfare of residents of the timber impact areas, decreasing the value of private investments and jeopardizing the sources of public revenue.

(2) Timber impact areas are most often located in areas that are experiencing little or no economic growth, creating an even greater risk to the health, safety, and welfare of these communities. The ability to remedy problems caused by the substantial reduction in harvest activity is beyond the power and control of the regulatory process and influence of the state, and the ordinary operations of private enterprise without additional governmental assistance are insufficient to adequately remedy the resulting problems of poverty and unemployment.

(3) To address these concerns, it is the intent of the legislature to increase training and retraining services accessible to timber impact areas, and provide for coordination of noneconomic development services in timber impact areas as economic development efforts will not succeed unless social, housing, health, and other needs are addressed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) Coordination of the programs in this act shall be through the economic recovery coordination board created in section 6, chapter ____, Laws of 1991 (Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1341), the timber recovery coordinator created in section 3, chapter ____, Laws of 1991 (Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1341), and the agency timber task force created in section 4, chapter ____, Laws of 1991 (Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1341).

(2) This section shall expire June 30, 1993.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Subject to the availability of state or federal funds, the employment security department, as a member of the agency timber task force and in consultation with the economic recovery coordination board, shall consult with and may subcontract with local educational institutions, local businesses, local labor organizations, local associate development organizations, local private industry councils, local social service organizations, and local governments in carrying out a program of training and services, including training through the self-employment and enterprise development (SEED) program, for dislocated workers in timber impact areas.

(2) The department shall conduct a survey to determine the actual future employment needs and jobs skills in timber impact areas.

(3) The department shall coordinate the services provided in this section with all other services provided by the department and with the other economic recovery efforts undertaken by state and local government agencies on behalf of the timber impact areas.

(4) The department shall make every effort to procure additional federal and other moneys for the efforts enumerated in this section.

(5) For the purposes of this section, "timber impact area" means a county having a population of less than five hundred thousand, or a city or town located within a county having a population of less than five hundred thousand, and meeting two of the following three criteria, as determined by the employment security department, for the most recent year such data is available: (a) A lumber and wood products employment location quotient at or above the state average; (b) projected or actual direct lumber and wood products job losses of one hundred positions or more, except counties having a population greater than two hundred thousand but less than five hundred thousand must have direct lumber and wood products job losses of one thousand positions or more; or (c) an annual unemployment rate twenty percent or more above the state average.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 50.22 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An additional benefit period is established for counties identified under subsection (2) of this section beginning on the first Sunday after the effective date of this section and for the forest products industry beginning with the third week after the first Sunday after the effective date of this section. Benefits shall be paid as provided in subsection (3) of this section to exhaustees eligible under subsection (4) of this section.

(2) The additional benefit period applies to counties having a population of less than five hundred thousand beginning with the third week after a week in which the commissioner determines that a county meets two of the following three criteria, as determined by the department, for the most recent year in which such data is available: (a) A lumber and wood products employment location quotient at or above the state average; (b) projected or actual direct lumber and wood products job losses of one hundred positions or more, except counties having a population greater than two hundred thousand but less than five hundred thousand must have direct lumber and wood products job losses of one thousand positions or more; or (c) an annual unemployment rate twenty percent or more above the state average. The additional benefit period for a county may end no sooner than fifty-two weeks after the additional benefit period begins.

(3) Additional benefits shall be paid as follows:

(a) No new claims for additional benefits shall be accepted for weeks beginning after July 3, 1993, but for claims established on or before July 3, 1993, weeks of unemployment occurring after July 3, 1993, shall be compensated as provided in this section.

(b) The total additional benefit amount shall be fifty-two times the individual's weekly benefit amount, reduced by the total amount of regular benefits and extended benefits paid, or deemed paid, with respect to the benefit year. Additional benefits shall not be payable for weeks more than one year beyond the end of the benefit year of the regular claim, and shall be payable for up to five weeks following the completion of the training required by this section.

(c) The weekly benefit amount shall be calculated as specified in RCW 50.22.040.

(d) Benefits paid under this section shall be paid under the same terms and conditions as regular benefits and shall not be charged to the experience rating account of individual employers. The additional benefit period shall be suspended with the start of an extended benefit period, or any totally federally funded benefit program, with eligibility criteria and benefits comparable to the program established by this section, and shall resume the first week following the end of the federal program.

(4) An additional benefit eligibility period is established for any exhaustee who:

(a)(i) At the time of last separation from employment, resided in or was employed in a county identified under subsection (2) of this section; or

(ii) During his or her base year, earned wages in at least six hundred eighty hours in the forest products industry, which shall be determined by the department but shall include the industries assigned the major group standard industrial classification codes "24" and "26" and the industries involved in the harvesting and management of logs, transportation of logs and wood products, processing of wood products, and the manufacturing and distribution of wood processing and logging equipment. The commissioner may adopt rules further interpreting the industries covered under this subsection. For the purposes of this subsection, "standard industrial classification code" means the code identified in RCW 50.29.025(6)(c); and

(b) (i) Has received notice of termination or lay off; and

(ii) Is unlikely to return to employment in his or her principal occupation or previous industry because of a diminishing demand within his or her labor market for his or her skills in the occupation or industry; and

(c)(i) Is notified by the department of the requirements of this section and develops an individual training program that is submitted to the commissioner for approval not later than sixty days after the individual is notified of the requirements of this section, and enters the approved training program not later than ninety days after the date of the individual's termination or layoff, or ninety days after the effective date of this section, whichever is later, unless the department determines that the training is not available during the ninety-day period, in which case the individual shall enter training as soon as it is available; or

(ii) Is enrolled in training approved under this section on a full-time basis and maintains satisfactory progress in the training; and

(d) Does not receive a training allowance or stipend under the provisions of any federal or state law.

(5) For the purposes of this section:

(a) "Training program" means:

(i) A remedial education program determined to be necessary after counseling at the educational institution in which the individual enrolls pursuant to his or her approved training program; or

(ii) A vocational training program at an educational institution that:

(A) Is training for a labor demand occupation;

(B) Is likely to facilitate a substantial enhancement of the individual's marketable skills and earning power; and

(C) Does not include on-the-job training or other training under which the individual is paid by an employer for work performed by the individual during the time that the individual receives additional benefits under subsection (1) of this section.

(b) "Educational institution" means an institution of higher education as defined in RCW 28B.10.016 or an educational institution as defined in RCW 28C.04.410(3).

(c) "Training allowance or stipend" means discretionary use, cash-in-hand payments available to the individual to be used as the individual sees fit, but does not mean direct or indirect compensation for training costs, such as tuition or books and supplies.

(6) The commissioner shall adopt rules as necessary to implement this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Department" means the employment security department.

(2) "Dislocated forest products worker" means a forest products worker who: (a)(i) Has been terminated or received notice of termination from employment and is unlikely to return to employment in the individual's principal occupation or previous industry because of a diminishing demand for his or her skills in that occupation or industry; or (ii) is self-employed and has been displaced from his or her business because of the diminishing demand for the business's services or goods; and (b) at the time of last separation from employment, resided in or was employed in a timber impact area.

(3) "Forest products worker" means a worker in the forest products industries affected by the reduction of forest fiber enhancement, transportation, or production. The workers included within this definition shall be determined by the employment security department, but shall include workers employed in the industries assigned the major group standard industrial classification codes "24" and "26" and the industries involved in the harvesting and management of logs, transportation of logs and wood products, processing of wood products, and the manufacturing and distribution of wood processing and logging equipment. The commissioner may adopt rules further interpreting these definitions. For the purposes of this subsection, "standard industrial classification code" means the code identified in RCW 50.29.025(6)(c).

(4) "Program" means the employment and career orientation program for dislocated forest products workers administered by the employment security department in conjunction with the department of natural resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. It is the purpose of this chapter to establish programs that offer dislocated forest products workers, in timber impact areas, opportunities for forest-related employment that utilizes their unique skills. Employment under the program shall not result in the displacement or partial displacement of currently employed workers. This includes, but is not limited to, state employees or currently or normally contracted service employees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) Employment opportunities under the program shall consist of activities that improve the value of state lands and waters. These activities may include, but are not limited to, thinning and precommercial thinning, pruning, slash removal, reforestation, fire suppression, trail maintenance, maintenance of recreational facilities, dike repair, development and maintenance of tourist facilities, and stream enhancement.

(2) Enrollees in the program shall receive medical and dental benefits as provided under chapter 41.05 RCW, but are exempt from the provisions of chapter 41.06 RCW. Each week, enrollees shall not work more than thirty-two hours in this program and must participate in eight hours of career orientation as established in section 8 of this act. Participation in the program is limited to six months.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) The department shall recruit program applicants and provide employment opportunities by:

(2) The department of natural resources shall provide compensation for enrollees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The legislature finds that an increase in unemployment due to the declining timber economy in the state is imminent. The legislature further recognizes that employment opportunities in state and local government in other natural resource management professions exist and that dislocated forest products workers in the timber-related professions represent a potential work force in the areas of fisheries, wildlife, and recreation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The department, subject to the availability of funding, shall establish the natural resource worker project. The project shall terminate on July 1, 1996, and shall provide employment and training opportunities for dislocated forest products workers in the areas of fisheries, wildlife, recreation, and other natural resource professions. The department of personnel shall approve the project. NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The department shall use nonfederal funds that it receives for dislocated forest products workers to contract with the departments of wildlife, fisheries, ecology, and natural resources, and the parks and recreation commission to hire project participants to conduct tasks in the areas of fisheries, wildlife, forestry, ecology, and recreation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. The project shall include the following elements:

The report shall include, at a minimum, the following elements:

The institutions shall utilize telecommunication technology, if available, to carry out the purposes of this section. The institutions providing the service shall waive the tuition, service, and activities fees for dislocated forest products workers or their unemployed spouses enrolled as one of the full-time equivalent students allocated to the college under this section.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

April 28, 1991

MR. PRESIDENT:

Under suspension of the rules, the House has returned ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5411 to second reading and passed the bill with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that:

(a) Floods pose threats to public health and safety including loss or endangerment to human life; damage to homes; damage to public roads, highways, bridges, and utilities; interruption of travel, communication, and commerce; damage to private and public property; degradation of water quality; damage to fisheries, fish hatcheries, and fish habitat; harm to livestock; destruction or degradation of environmentally sensitive areas; erosion of soil, stream banks, and beds; and harmful accumulation of soil and debris in the beds of streams or other bodies of water and on public and private lands;

(b) Alleviation of flood damage to property and to public health and safety is a matter of public concern;

(c) Many land uses alter the pattern of runoff by decreasing the ability of upstream lands to store waters, thus increasing the rate of runoff and attendant downstream impacts; and

(d) Prevention of flood damage requires a comprehensive approach, incorporating storm water management and basin-wide flood damage protection planning.

(2) County legislative authorities are encouraged to use and coordinate all the regulatory, planning, and financing mechanisms available to those jurisdictions to address the problems of flooding in an equitable and comprehensive manner.

(3) It is the intent of the legislature to develop a coordinated and comprehensive state policy to address the problems of flooding and the minimization of flood damage.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The purpose of sections 3 through 13 of this act is to permit counties in cooperation and consultation with cities and towns to adopt a comprehensive system of flood control management and protection within drainage basins and to coordinate the flood control activities of the state, counties, cities, towns, and special districts within such drainage basins.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 86.12 RCW to read as follows:

The county legislative authority of any county may adopt a comprehensive flood control management plan for any drainage basin that is located wholly or partially within the county.

A comprehensive flood control management plan shall include the following elements:

(1) Designation of areas that are susceptible to periodic flooding, from inundation by bodies of water or surface water runoff, or both, including the river's meander belt or floodway;

(2) Establishment of a comprehensive scheme of flood control protection and improvements for the areas that are subject to such periodic flooding, that includes: (a) Determining the need for, and desirable location of, flood control improvements to protect or preclude flood damage to structures, works, and improvements, based upon a cost/benefit ratio between the expense of providing and maintaining these improvements and the benefits arising from these improvements; (b) establishing the level of flood protection that each portion of the system of flood control improvements will be permitted; (c) identifying alternatives to in-stream flood control work; (d) identifying areas where flood waters could be directed during a flood to avoid damage to buildings and other structures; and (e) identifying sources of revenue that will be sufficient to finance the comprehensive scheme of flood control protection and improvements;

(3) Establishing land use regulations that preclude the location of structures, works, or improvements in critical portions of such areas subject to periodic flooding, including a river's meander belt or floodway, and permitting only flood-compatible land uses in such areas;

(4) Establishing restrictions on construction activities in areas subject to periodic floods that require the flood proofing of those structures that are permitted to be constructed or remodeled; and,

(5) Establishing restrictions on land clearing activities and development practices that exacerbate flood problems by increasing the flow or accumulation of flood waters, or the intensity of drainage, on low-lying areas. Land clearing activities do not include forest practices as defined in chapter 76.09 RCW.

A comprehensive flood control management plan shall be subject to the minimum requirements for participation in the national flood insurance program, requirements exceeding the minimum national flood insurance program that have been adopted by the department of ecology for a specific flood plain pursuant to RCW 86.16.031, and rules adopted by the department of ecology pursuant to RCW 86.26.050 relating to flood plain management activities. When a county plans under chapter 36.70A RCW, it may incorporate the portion of its comprehensive flood control management plan relating to land use restrictions in its comprehensive plan and development regulations adopted pursuant to chapter 36.70A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 86.12 RCW to read as follows:

A comprehensive flood control management plan that includes an area within which a city or town, or a special district subject to chapter 85.38 RCW, is located shall be developed by the county with the full participation of officials from the city, town, or special district, including conservation districts, and appropriate state and federal agencies. Where a comprehensive flood control management plan is being prepared for a river basin that is part of the common boundary between two counties, the county legislative authority of the county preparing the plan may allow participation by officials of the adjacently located county.

Following adoption by the county, city, or town, a comprehensive flood control management plan shall be binding on each jurisdiction and special district that is located within an area included in the plan. If within 120 days of the county's adoption, a city or town does not adopt the comprehensive flood control management plan, the city or county shall request arbitration on the issue(s) in dispute. If parties cannot agree to the selection of an arbitrator, the arbitrator shall be selected according to the process described in RCW 7.04.050. The cost of the arbitrator shall be shared equally by the participating parties and the arbitrator's decision shall be binding. Any land use regulations and restrictions on construction activities contained in a comprehensive flood control management plan applicable to a city or town shall be minimum standards that the city or town may exceed. A city or town undertaking flood or stormwater control activities consistent with the comprehensive flood control management plan shall retain authority over such activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 86.12 RCW to read as follows:

A county may create one or more advisory committees to assist in the development of proposed comprehensive flood control management plans and to provide general advice on flood problems. The advisory committees may include city and town officials, officials of special districts subject to chapter 85.38 RCW, conservation districts, appropriate state and federal officials, and officials of other counties and other interested persons.

Sec. 6. RCW 86.26.050 and 1988 c 36 s 64 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) State participation shall be in such preparation of comprehensive flood control management plans under this chapter and chapter 86.12 RCW, cost sharing feasibility studies for new flood control projects, projects pursuant to section 33 of this act, and flood control maintenance projects as are affected with a general public and state interest, as differentiated from a private interest, and as are likely to bring about public benefits commensurate with the amount of state funds allocated thereto.

(2) No participation for flood control maintenance projects may occur with a county or other municipal corporation unless the director of ecology has approved the flood plain management activities of the county, city, or town having planning jurisdiction over the area where the flood control maintenance project will be, on the one hundred year flood plain surrounding such area.

The department of ecology shall adopt rules concerning the flood plain management activities of a county, city, or town that are adequate to protect or preclude flood damage to structures, works, and improvements, including the restriction of land uses within a river's meander belt or floodway to only flood-compatible uses. Whenever the department has approved county, city, and town flood plain management activities, as a condition of receiving an allocation of funds under this chapter, each revision to the flood plain management activities must be approved by the department of ecology, in consultation with the department of fisheries and the department of wildlife.

No participation with a county or other municipal corporation for flood control maintenance projects may occur unless the county engineer of the county within which the flood control maintenance project is located certifies that a comprehensive flood control management plan has been completed and adopted by the appropriate local authority, or is being prepared for all portions of the river basin or other area, within which the project is located in that county, that are subject to flooding with a frequency of one hundred years or less.

(3) Participation for flood control maintenance projects and preparation of comprehensive flood control management plans shall be made from grants made by the department of ecology from the flood control assistance account. Comprehensive flood control management plans, and any revisions to the plans, must be approved by the department of ecology, in consultation with the department of fisheries and the department of wildlife. The department may only grant financial assistance to local governments that, in the opinion of the department, are making good faith efforts to take advantage of, or comply with, federal and state flood control programs.

Sec. 7. RCW 86.26.090 and 1984 c 212 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

The state shall participate with eligible local authorities in maintaining and restoring the normal and reasonably stable river and stream channel alignment and the normal and reasonably stable river and stream channel capacity for carrying off flood waters with a minimum of damage from bank erosion or overflow of adjacent lands and property; and in restoring, maintaining and repairing natural conditions, works and structures for the maintenance of such conditions. State participation in the repair of flood control facilities may include the enhancement of such facilities. The state shall likewise participate in the restoration and maintenance of natural conditions, works or structures for the protection of lands and other property from inundation or other damage by the sea or other bodies of water. Funds from the flood control assistance account shall not be available for maintenance of works or structures maintained solely for the detention or storage of flood waters.

Sec. 8. RCW 86.26.100 and 1986 c 46 s 4 are each amended to read as follows: State participation in the cost of any flood control maintenance project shall be provided for by a written memorandum agreement between the director of ecology and the legislative authority of the county submitting the request, which agreement, among other things, shall state the estimated cost and the percentage thereof to be borne by the state. In no instance, except on emergency projects, shall the state's share exceed one-half the cost of the project, to include project planning and design. Grants for cost sharing feasibility studies for new flood control projects shall not exceed fifty percent of the matching funds that are required by the federal government, and shall not exceed twenty-five percent of the total costs of the feasibility study. However, grants to prepare a comprehensive flood control management plan required under RCW 86.26.050 shall not exceed seventy-five percent of the full planning costs, but not to exceed amounts for either purpose specified in rule and regulation by the department of ecology.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 86.15 RCW to read as follows:

A board may not establish a zone including an area located in another zone unless this area is removed from the other zone, or the other zone is dissolved, as part of the action creating the new zone.

Sec. 10. RCW 86.15.178 and 1983 c 315 s 23 and 1983 c 167 s 212 are each reenacted to read as follows:

(1) The supervisors may authorize the issuance of revenue bonds to finance any flood control improvement or storm water control improvement. The bonds may be issued by the supervisors in the same manner as prescribed in RCW 36.67.510 through 36.67.570 pertaining to counties. The bonds shall be issued on behalf of the zone or participating zones when the improvement has by the resolution, provided in RCW 86.15.110, been found to be of benefit to a zone or participating zones. The bonds may be in any form, including bearer bonds or registered bonds.

Each revenue bond shall state on its face that it is payable from a special fund, naming the fund and the resolution creating the fund.

Revenue bond principal, interest, and all other related necessary expenses shall be payable only out of the appropriate special fund.

A zone or participating zones shall have a lien for delinquent service charges, including interest thereon, against the premises benefited by a flood control improvement or storm water control improvement, which lien shall be superior to all other liens and encumbrances except general taxes and local and special assessments. The lien shall be effective and shall be enforced and foreclosed in the same manner as provided for sewerage liens of cities and towns by RCW 35.67.200 through 35.67.290.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1) of this section, such bonds may be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW.

Sec. 11. RCW 86.16.110 and 1987 c 109 s 23 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

Any person, association, or corporation, public, municipal, or private, feeling aggrieved at any order, decision, or determination of the department or director pursuant to this chapter, affecting his or her interest, may have the same reviewed pursuant to RCW 43.21B.310.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The department of fisheries and the department of wildlife shall process hydraulic project applications submitted under RCW 75.20.100 or 75.20.103 within thirty days of receipt of the application. Local governments may limit the size and configuration of the livestock flood sanctuary areas, but such limitation shall provide adequate space for the expected number of livestock on the farming unit and shall be at an adequate elevation to protect livestock. Modification to flood plain management regulations required pursuant to this section shall be within the minimum federal requirements necessary to maintain coverage under the national flood insurance program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 75.20 RCW to read as follows:

Whenever the placement of woody debris is required as a condition of a hydraulic permit approval issued pursuant to RCW 75.20.100 or 75.20.103, the department of fisheries and the department of wildlife, upon request, shall invite comment regarding that placement from the local governmental authority, affected tribes, affected federal and state agencies, and the project applicant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. The department of fisheries, the department of wildlife, and the department of ecology will work cooperatively with the United States army corps of engineers to develop a memorandum of agreement outlining dike vegetation management guidelines so that dike owners are eligible for coverage under P.L. 84-99, and state requirements established pursuant to RCW 75.20.100 and 75.20.103 are met.

Sec. 20. RCW 38.52.030 and 1986 c 266 s 25 are each amended to read as follows:

comprehensive emergency management plan shall direct the department in times of state emergency to administer and manage the state's emergency operations center. This will include representation from all appropriate state agencies and be available as a single point of contact for the authorizing of state resources or actions, including emergency permits. The comprehensive, all-hazard emergency plan authorized under this subsection may not include preparation for emergency evacuation or relocation of residents in anticipation of nuclear attack. This plan shall be known as the comprehensive emergency management plan.

(4) In accordance with the comprehensive emergency management plans and the programs for the emergency management of this state, the director shall procure supplies and equipment, institute training programs and public information programs, and shall take all other preparatory steps, including the partial or full mobilization of emergency management organizations in advance of actual disaster, to insure the furnishing of adequately trained and equipped forces of emergency management personnel in time of need.

The department of fisheries, the department of wildlife, the department of ecology, and the department of natural resources shall jointly develop an informational brochure that describes when permits and any other authorizations are required for flood damage prevention and reduction projects, and recommends ways to best proceed through the various regulatory permitting processes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. (1) This section shall apply only to projects:

(a) Needed to repair streambank and other damage done by the November or December 1990, flood events, or remove accumulated debris and gravel that significantly contributed to flooding during the November and December 1990, flood events; and

(b) That require permits or other authorization for removal of valuable materials as defined in RCW 79.90.060 or permits or authorization under RCW 75.20.100 or 75.20.103.

A complete application for approval shall contain general plans for the overall project, and complete plans and specifications of the proposed construction or work. Upon receipt of a completed application, the agency that first receives that application shall, within fifteen days, schedule and hold a coordination meeting with all appropriate state, local, or county permitting or authorizing agencies. The project applicant shall be invited to this meeting. The appropriate city, county, or town may coordinate their permit approval processes with the state agencies. As soon as possible, but no later than thirty days after the receipt of a complete application, all appropriate state agencies will deny or approve the project. Any conditions placed upon project approvals shall be coordinated among the state agencies so that those conditions do not conflict.

(3) It is the intent of the legislature that the process described in this section remain in effect until the legislature has an opportunity to enact legislation creating a coordinated, timely permitting process based on the report required in section 16 of this act. This section shall expire on June 30, 1993.

The county shall work with the state and the cities within its borders to identify areas of shared need for public facilities. The jurisdictions within the county shall prepare a prioritized list of lands necessary for the identified public uses including an estimated date by which the acquisition will be needed.

The respective capital acquisition budgets for each jurisdiction shall reflect the jointly agreed upon priorities and time schedule.

~~((Valuable materials situated within or upon tidelands, shorelands, or the beds of navigable waters belonging to the state may be sold separately from the land, when in the judgment of the department of natural resources, it is in the best interests of the state to sell the same. When application is made for the purchase of any valuable material, situated within or upon aquatic lands, the department shall inspect and appraise the value of the material applied for: PROVIDED, That no valuable material shall be sold for less than the appraised value thereof: PROVIDED FURTHER, That))~~
The department is authorized and empowered to confer with and enter into any agreements with the public authorities of the state of Oregon, which in the judgment of the department will assist the state of Washington and the state of Oregon in securing the maximum revenues for sand, gravel or other valuable materials taken from the bed of the Columbia river where said river forms the boundary line between said states.

Sec. 25. RCW 79.90.150 and 1982 1st ex.s. c 21 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

When gravel, rock, sand, silt or other material from any aquatic lands is removed by any public agency or under public contract for channel or harbor improvement, or flood control, or for preventing or minimizing flood damages as defined in RCW 86.16.120, use of such material may be authorized by the department of natural resources for a public purpose on land owned or leased by the federal government, state, or any municipality, county, city, town, or public corporation: PROVIDED, That when no public land site is available for deposit of such material, its deposit on private land with the landowner's permission is authorized and may be designated by the department of natural resources to be for a public purpose. Prior to removal and use, the federal agency, state agency, municipality, county, city, town, or public corporation contemplating or arranging such use shall first obtain written permission from the department of natural resources. No payment of royalty shall be required for such gravel, rock, sand, silt, or other material used for such public purpose, but a charge will be made if such material is subsequently sold or used for some other purpose: PROVIDED, That the department may authorize such public agency or private landowner to dispose of such material without charge when necessary to implement disposal of material. No charge shall be required for any use of the material obtained under the provisions of this chapter when used solely on an authorized site. Nothing in this section shall repeal or modify the provisions of RCW 75.20.100 or eliminate the necessity of obtaining a permit for such removal from other state or federal agencies as otherwise required by law. For the purpose of this section, "public purpose" includes, but is not limited to, the construction, maintenance, improvement, or repair of any public street, road, highway, dike, levee, or project undertaken pursuant to chapter 86.26 RCW.

Sec. 26. RCW 79.90.300 and 1982 1st ex.s. c 21 s 36 are each amended to read as follows:

If application is made for the purchase of any valuable material situated within or upon aquatic lands the department shall inspect and appraise the value of the material in the application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 27. RCW 79.01.135 is recodified as a section in chapter 79.90 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 28. RCW 79.90.140 and 1982 1st ex.s. c 21 s 20 are each repealed.

Sec. 29. RCW 47.28.140 and 1984 c 7 s 174 are each amended to read as follows:

When in the opinion of the governing authorities representing the department and any agency, instrumentality, municipal corporation, or political subdivision of the state of Washington, any highway, road, or street will be benefited or improved by constructing, reconstructing, locating, relocating, laying out, repairing, surveying, altering, improving, or maintaining, or by the establishment adjacent to, under, upon, within, or above any portion of any such highway, road, or street of an urban public transportation system, by either the department or any agency, instrumentality, municipal corporation, or political subdivision of the state, and it is in the public interest to do so, the authorities may enter into cooperative agreements wherein either agrees to perform the work and furnish the materials necessary and pay the cost thereof, including necessary engineering assistance, which costs and expenses shall be reimbursed by the party whose responsibility it was to do or perform the work or improvement in the first instance. The work may be done by either day labor or contract, and the cooperative agreement between the parties shall provide for the method of reimbursement. In the case of some special benefit or improvement to a state highway derived from any project that assists in preventing or minimizing flood damages as defined in RCW 86.16.120 or from the construction of any public works project, including any urban public transportation system, the department may contribute to the cost thereof by making direct payment to the particular state department, agency, instrumentality, municipal corporation, or political subdivision on the basis of benefits received, but such payment shall be made only after a cooperative agreement has been entered into for a specified amount or on an actual cost basis prior to the commencement of the particular public works project.

Sec. 30. RCW 75.20.100 and 1988 c 272 s 1 and 1988 c 36 s 33 are each amended to read as follows:

In the event that any person or government agency desires to construct any form of hydraulic project or perform other work that will use, divert, obstruct, or change the natural flow or bed of any of the salt or fresh waters of the state, such person or government agency shall, before commencing construction or work thereon and to ensure the proper protection of fish life, secure the written approval of the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife as to the adequacy of the means proposed for the protection of fish life. This approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. Except as provided in section 12 and 22 of this act, ((F))the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife shall grant or deny approval within forty-five calendar days of the receipt of a complete application and notice of compliance with any applicable requirements of the state environmental policy act, made in the manner prescribed in this section. The applicant may document receipt of application by filing in person or by registered mail. A complete application for approval shall contain general plans for the overall project, complete plans and specifications of the proposed construction or work within the mean higher high water line in salt water or within the ordinary high water line in fresh water, and complete plans and specifications for the proper protection of fish life. The forty-five day requirement shall be suspended if (1) after ten working days of receipt of the application, the applicant remains unavailable or unable to arrange for a timely field evaluation of the proposed project; (2) the site is physically inaccessible for inspection; or (3) the applicant requests delay. Immediately upon determination that the forty-five day period is suspended, the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife shall notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the delay. Approval is valid for a period of up to five years from date of issuance. The permittee must demonstrate substantial progress on construction of that portion of the project relating to the approval within two years of the date of issuance. If either the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife denies approval, that department shall provide the applicant, in writing, a statement of the specific reasons why and how the proposed project would adversely affect fish life. Protection of fish life shall be the only ground upon which approval may be denied or conditioned. Chapter 34.05 RCW applies to any denial of project approval, conditional approval, or requirements for project modification upon which approval may be contingent. If any person or government agency commences construction on any hydraulic works or projects subject to this section without first having obtained written approval of the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife as to the adequacy of the means proposed for the protection of fish life, or if any person or government agency fails to follow or carry out any of the requirements or conditions as are made a part of such approval, the person or director of the agency is guilty of a gross misdemeanor. If any such person or government agency is convicted of violating any of the provisions of this section and continues construction on any such works or projects without fully complying with the provisions hereof, such works or projects are hereby declared a public nuisance and shall be subject to abatement as such.

For the purposes of this section and RCW 75.20.103, "bed" shall mean the land below the ordinary high water lines of state waters. This definition shall not include irrigation ditches, canals, storm water run-off devices, or other artificial watercourses except where they exist in a natural watercourse that has been altered by man.

The phrase "to construct any form of hydraulic project or perform other work" shall not include the act of driving across an established ford. Driving across streams or on wetted stream beds at areas other than established fords requires approval. Work within the ordinary high water line of state waters to construct or repair a ford or crossing requires approval.

For each application, the department of fisheries and the department of wildlife shall mutually agree on whether the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife shall administer the provisions of this section, in order to avoid duplication of effort. The department designated to act shall cooperate with the other department in order to protect all species of fish life found at the project site. If the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife receives an application concerning a site not in its jurisdiction, it shall transmit the application to the other department within three days and notify the applicant.

In case of an emergency arising from weather or stream flow conditions or other natural conditions, the department of fisheries or department of wildlife, through their authorized representatives, shall issue immediately upon request oral approval for removing any obstructions, repairing existing structures, restoring stream banks, or to protect property threatened by the stream or a change in the stream flow without the necessity of obtaining a written approval prior to commencing work. Conditions of an oral approval shall be reduced to writing within thirty days and complied with as provided for in this section. Oral approval shall be granted immediately upon request, for a stream crossing during an emergency situation.

This section shall not apply to the construction of any form of hydraulic project or other work which diverts water for agricultural irrigation or stock watering purposes authorized under or recognized as being valid by the state's water codes, or when such hydraulic project or other work is associated with streambank stabilization to protect farm and agricultural land as defined in RCW 84.34.020. These irrigation or stock watering diversion and streambank stabilization projects shall be governed by RCW 75.20.103.

In the event that any person or government agency desires to construct any form of hydraulic project or other work that diverts water for agricultural irrigation or stock watering purposes, or when such hydraulic project or other work is associated with streambank stabilization to protect farm and agricultural land as defined in RCW 84.34.020, and when such diversion or streambank stabilization will use, divert, obstruct, or change the natural flow or bed of any river or stream or will utilize any waters of the state or materials from the stream beds, the person or government agency shall, before commencing construction or work thereon and to ensure the proper protection of fish life, secure a written approval from the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife as to the adequacy of the means proposed for the protection of fish life. This approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. Except as provided in sections 12 and 22 of this act, ((F))the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife shall grant or deny the approval within forty-five calendar days of the receipt of a complete application and notice of compliance with any applicable requirements of the state environmental policy act, made in the manner prescribed in this section. The applicant may document receipt of application by filing in person or by registered mail. A complete application for an approval shall contain general plans for the overall project, complete plans and specifications of the proposed construction or work within ordinary high water line, and complete plans and specifications for the proper protection of fish life. The forty-five day requirement shall be suspended if (1) after ten working days of receipt of the application, the applicant remains unavailable or unable to arrange for a timely field evaluation of the proposed project; (2) the site is physically inaccessible for inspection; or (3) the applicant requests delay.

Immediately upon determination that the forty-five day period is suspended, the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife shall notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the delay.

An approval shall remain in effect without need for periodic renewal for projects that divert water for agricultural irrigation or stock watering purposes and that involve seasonal construction or other work. Approval for streambank stabilization projects shall remain in effect without need for periodic renewal if the problem causing the need for the streambank stabilization occurs on an annual or more frequent basis. The permittee must notify the appropriate agency before commencing the construction or other work within the area covered by the approval.

The permittee must demonstrate substantial progress on construction of that portion of the project relating to the approval within two years of the date of issuance. If either the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife denies approval, that department shall provide the applicant, in writing, a statement of the specific reasons why and how the proposed project would adversely affect fish life. Protection of fish life shall be the only ground upon which approval may be denied or conditioned. Issuance, denial, conditioning, or modification shall be appealable to the hydraulic appeals board established in RCW 43.21B.005 within thirty days of the notice of decision. The burden shall be upon the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife to show that the denial or conditioning of an approval is solely aimed at the protection of fish life.

The department granting approval may, after consultation with the permittee, modify an approval due to changed conditions. The modifications shall become effective unless appealed to the hydraulic appeals board within thirty days from the notice of the proposed modification. The burden is on the department issuing the approval to show that changed conditions warrant the modification in order to protect fish life.

A permittee may request modification of an approval due to changed conditions. The request shall be processed within forty-five calendar days of receipt of the written request. A decision by the department that issued the approval may be appealed to the hydraulic appeals board within thirty days of the notice of the decision. The burden is on the permittee to show that changed conditions warrant the requested modification and that such modification will not impair fish life.

If any person or government agency commences construction on any hydraulic works or projects subject to this section without first having obtained written approval of the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife as to the adequacy of the means proposed for the protection of fish life, or if any person or government agency fails to follow or carry out any of the requirements or conditions as are made a part of such approval, the person or director of the agency is guilty of a gross misdemeanor. If any such person or government agency is convicted of violating any of the provisions of this section and continues construction on any such works or projects without fully complying with the provisions hereof, such works or projects are hereby declared a public nuisance and shall be subject to abatement as such.

For each application, the department of fisheries and the department of wildlife shall mutually agree on whether the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife shall administer the provisions of this section, in order to avoid duplication of effort. The department designated to act shall cooperate with the other department in order to protect all species of fish life found at the project site. If the department of fisheries or the department of wildlife receives an application concerning a site not in its jurisdiction, it shall transmit the application to the other department within three days and notify the applicant.

In case of an emergency arising from weather or stream flow conditions or other natural conditions, the department of fisheries or department of wildlife, through their authorized representatives, shall issue immediately upon request oral approval for removing any obstructions, repairing existing structures, restoring stream banks, or to protect property threatened by the stream or a change in the stream flow without the necessity of obtaining a written approval prior to commencing work. Conditions of an oral approval shall be reduced to writing within thirty days and complied with as provided for in this section.

For purposes of this chapter, "streambank stabilization" shall include but not be limited to log and debris removal, bank protection (including riprap, jetties, and groins), gravel removal and erosion control.

Sec. 32. RCW 90.58.100 and 1971 ex.s c 286 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The master programs provided for in this chapter, when adopted and approved by the department, as appropriate, shall constitute use regulations for the various shorelines of the state. In preparing the master programs, and any amendments thereto, the department and local governments shall to the extent feasible:

(a) Utilize a systematic interdisciplinary approach which will insure the integrated use of the natural and social sciences and the environmental design arts;

(b) Consult with and obtain the comments of any federal, state, regional, or local agency having any special expertise with respect to any environmental impact;

developments that are particularly dependent on their location on or use of the shorelines of the state;

(b) A public access element making provision for public access to publicly owned areas;

(c) A recreational element for the preservation and enlargement of recreational opportunities, including but not limited to parks, tidelands, beaches, and recreational areas;

(d) A circulation element consisting of the general location and extent of existing and proposed major thoroughfares, transportation routes, terminals, and other public utilities and facilities, all correlated with the shoreline use element;

(e) A use element which considers the proposed general distribution and general location and extent of the use on shorelines and adjacent land areas for housing, business, industry, transportation, agriculture, natural resources, recreation, education, public buildings and grounds, and other categories of public and private uses of the land;

(f) A conservation element for the preservation of natural resources, including but not limited to scenic vistas, aesthetics, and vital estuarine areas for fisheries and wildlife protection;

(g) An historic, cultural, scientific, and educational element for the protection and restoration of buildings, sites, and areas having historic, cultural, scientific, or educational values; ~~(and)~~

(h) An element that gives consideration to the state-wide interest in the prevention and minimization of flood damages; and

(i) Any other element deemed appropriate or necessary to effectuate the policy of this chapter.

(3) The master programs shall include such map or maps, descriptive text, diagrams and charts, or other descriptive material as are necessary to provide for ease of understanding.

(4) Master programs will reflect that state-owned shorelines of the state are particularly adapted to providing wilderness beaches, ecological study areas, and other recreational activities for the public and will give appropriate special consideration to same.

(5) Each master program shall contain provisions to allow for the varying of the application of use regulations of the program, including provisions for permits for conditional uses and variances, to insure that strict implementation of a program will not create unnecessary hardships or thwart the policy enumerated in RCW 90.58.020. Any such varying shall be allowed only if extraordinary circumstances are shown and the public interest suffers no substantial detrimental effect. The concept of this subsection shall be incorporated in the rules adopted by the department relating to the establishment of a permit system as provided in RCW 90.58.140(3).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 33. (1) The purpose of this section is to develop, and test on a pilot basis, a cooperative, interjurisdictional approach to processing permit applications for projects related to flood control. The objectives of the pilot shall be to:

(a) (i) Identify opportunities and methods for expediting and coordinating permit decision making processes that involve multiple jurisdictions and state agencies; and (ii) assess the effects of acting in a coordinated and expedited manner; and

(b) (i) Identify opportunities during the permit decision making process for state agencies and local governments to consider potential flood control benefits consistent with the policies, mandates, and requirements of current law; (ii) Identify where in the permitting process, impediments to the consideration of potential flood control benefits exist; and, (iii) Assess how the consideration of any potential flood control benefits of an individual project during the permitting process for that project, may or may not be compatible with the objective of comprehensive and coordinated flood control.

(2) The pilot shall consist of up to one project in each of the counties declared a federal disaster area as a result of the November and December, 1990 floods.

(3) (a) The departments of ecology, wildlife, fisheries and natural resources shall participate in the pilot. The department of ecology shall act as the lead agency among the state agencies and shall coordinate among the state agencies as necessary.

(b) The department of ecology shall notify each of the eligible counties of the pilot, describe the nature of the pilot, and invite county participation. When a county, eligible to participate in the pilot, receives an application for a project that will require permits or authorizations from multiple jurisdictions, and in the county's judgment the proposed project offers an appropriate opportunity to test the permitting process under subsection (1) of this section, the county, with the approval of the project applicant, may request that the department of ecology include the project as part of the pilot. The department of ecology shall make a decision on the county's request and inform the county of its decision within seven working days.

In selecting projects for the pilot, the department of ecology shall provide an opportunity to test and evaluate a variety of applications of subsection (1) of this section, including, but not limited to: application to storm water management, dredging, streambank stabilization, and dike construction or repair. When the county receives notification that a project has been approved for inclusion in the pilot, the county shall schedule an initial coordination meeting and contact all appropriate agencies and the project applicant. Other local jurisdictions, including but not limited to cities, diking districts, and flood management districts, shall be invited to participate when a project is selected for inclusion in the pilot and those jurisdictions have a role in the permitting process.

The purpose of the coordination meeting shall be to:

- (i) Identify all necessary permit requirements;
- (ii) Determine the sequence of permitting decisions and opportunities where those decisions can be made concurrently;
- (iii) Determine a timeline for the decisions and how those decisions can be expedited; and
- (iv) Work with the applicant to make sure that he or she understands how the process will work, what the applicant is responsible for, and when those responsibilities must be met in order to adhere to the overall permitting timeline.

(4) The department of ecology shall determine the number of projects to be included in the pilot based on available funding in the flood control assistance account. The department shall authorize flood control assistance account funding for a minimum of three projects.

(5) The department of ecology, in cooperation with the participating counties, other participating local jurisdictions, and state agencies, shall submit a final report on the pilot to the appropriate committees of the legislature by December 1, 1992. The report shall include an assessment of the degree to which the pilot project achieved the objectives identified in subsection (1) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 34. Section 22 of this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

MOTION

Senator Barr moved that the Senate do concur in the House amendments to Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5411.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: "Senator Bailey, could you explain, in the amendment before you, what Section 2 really means here in this particular amendment?"

Section 2 merely says Sections 3 through 13 will talk about the consultation between cities and towns on a comprehensive system of flood control management. It merely points out those sections that follow."

Further debate ensued.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

April 28, 1991

MR. PRESIDENT:

The House has passed SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5110 with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 84.36.381 and 1987 c 301 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

A person shall be exempt from any legal obligation to pay all or a portion of the amount of excess and regular real property taxes due and payable in the year following the year in which a claim is filed, and thereafter, in accordance with the following:

(1) The property taxes must have been imposed upon a residence which was occupied by the person claiming the exemption as a principal place of residence as of January 1st of the year for which the exemption is claimed: PROVIDED, That any person who sells, transfers, or is displaced from his or her residence may transfer his or her exemption status to a replacement residence, but no claimant shall receive an exemption on more than one residence in any year: PROVIDED FURTHER, That confinement of the person to a hospital or nursing home shall not disqualify the claim of exemption if the residence is temporarily unoccupied or if the residence is occupied by a spouse and/or a person financially dependent on the claimant for support;

(2) The person claiming the exemption must have owned, at the time of filing, in fee, as a life estate, or by contract purchase, the residence on which the property taxes have been imposed or if the person claiming the exemption lives in a cooperative housing association, corporation, or partnership, such person must own a share therein representing the unit or portion of the structure in which he or she resides. For purposes of this subsection, a residence owned by a marital community or owned by cotenants shall be deemed to be owned by each spouse or cotenant, and any lease for life shall be deemed a life estate;

(3) The person claiming the exemption must have been sixty-one years of age or older on January 1st of the year in which the exemption claim is filed, or must have been, at the time of filing, retired from regular gainful employment by reason of physical disability: PROVIDED, That any surviving spouse of a person who was receiving an exemption at the time of the person's death shall qualify if the surviving spouse is fifty-seven years of age or older and otherwise meets the requirements of this section;

(4) The amount that the person shall be exempt from an obligation to pay shall be calculated on the basis of combined disposable income, as defined in RCW 84.36.383. If the person claiming the exemption was retired for two months or more of the preceding year, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person during the months such person was retired by twelve.

(5)(a) A person who otherwise qualifies under this section and has a combined disposable income of (~~eighteen~~) twenty-six thousand dollars or less shall be exempt from all excess property taxes; and

(b)(i) A person who otherwise qualifies under this section and has a combined disposable income of (~~fourteen~~) eighteen thousand dollars or less but greater than (~~twelve~~) fifteen thousand dollars shall be exempt from all regular property taxes on the greater of (~~twenty-four~~) thirty thousand dollars or thirty percent of the valuation of his or her residence, but not to exceed (~~forty~~) fifty thousand dollars of the valuation of his or her residence; or

(ii) A person who otherwise qualifies under this section and has a combined disposable income of (~~twelve~~) fifteen thousand dollars or less shall be exempt from all regular property taxes on the greater of (~~twenty-eight~~) thirty-four thousand dollars or fifty percent of the valuation of his or her residence.

Sec. 2. RCW 84.36.041 and 1989 c 379 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) All real and personal property used by a nonprofit home for the aging that is reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home is exempt from taxation if the benefit of the exemption inures to the home and:

(a) At least fifty percent of the occupied dwelling units in the home are occupied by eligible residents; or

(b) The home is subsidized under a federal department of housing and urban development program. The department of revenue shall provide by rule a definition of homes eligible for exemption under this subsection (b), consistent with the purposes of this section.

(2) A home for the aging is eligible for a partial exemption if the home does not meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section because fewer than fifty percent of the occupied dwelling units are occupied by eligible residents. The amount of exemption shall be calculated by multiplying the assessed value of the property reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the number of dwelling units occupied by eligible persons multiplied by two. The denominator of the fraction is the total number of occupied dwelling units. The fraction shall never exceed one.

(3) To be exempt under this section, the property must be used exclusively for the purposes for which the exemption is granted, except as provided in RCW 84.36.805.

(4) A home for the aging is exempt from taxation only if the organization operating the home is exempt from income tax under section 501(c) of the federal internal revenue code as existing on January 1, 1989, or such subsequent date as the director may provide by rule consistent with the purposes of this section.

(5) Each eligible resident of a home for the aging shall submit the form required under RCW 84.36.385 to the county assessor by July 1st of the assessment year. An eligible resident who has filed a form for a previous year need not file a new form until there is a change in status affecting the person's eligibility.

(6) In determining the true and fair value of a home for the aging for purposes of the partial exemption provided by subsection (2) of this section, the assessor shall apply the computation method provided by RCW 84.34.060 and shall consider only the use to which such property is applied during the years for which such partial exemptions are available and shall not consider potential uses of such property.

(7) A home for the aging that was exempt for taxes levied for collection in 1990 and is not fully exempt under this section is entitled to partial exemptions as follows:

(a) For taxes levied for collection in 1991, two-thirds of the assessed value that would otherwise be subject to tax under this section is exempt from taxation.

(b) For taxes levied for collection in 1992, one-third of the assessed value that would otherwise be subject to tax under this section is exempt from taxation.

(8) As used in this section:

(a) "Eligible resident" means a person who would be eligible for an exemption of regular property taxes under RCW 84.36.381 if the person owned a single-family dwelling. For the purposes of determining eligibility under this section, a "cotenant" as used in RCW 84.36.383 means a person who resides with an eligible resident and who shares personal financial resources with the eligible resident.

(b) "Home for the aging" means a residential housing facility that (i) provides a housing arrangement chosen voluntarily by the resident, the resident's guardian or conservator, or another responsible person; (ii) has only residents who are at least sixty-two years of age or who have needs for care generally compatible with persons who are at least sixty-two years of age; and (iii) provides varying levels of care and supervision, as agreed to at the time of admission or as determined necessary at subsequent times of reappraisal.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. In calendar year 1992, the county assessor of each county shall compile data on the number of persons using the property tax exemption program, the number of persons using the property tax deferral program, the income of the claimants, and the value of the residence for which an exemption or deferral is claimed. The county assessor shall report the results to the department of revenue no later than March 1, 1993.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Section 1 of this act shall be effective for taxes levied for collection in 1992 and thereafter.

On page 1, line 2 of the title, after "disability;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 84.36.381 and 84.36.041; creating new sections; and declaring an emergency.", and the same are herewith transmitted.

RALPH MUNRO, Secretary of State

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5722

May 3, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 3 and 4, Senate Bill No. 5722 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to interest rates for the department of natural resources."

Developing a uniform interest rate policy for the Department of Natural Resources is an important goal which will improve agency administration and accounting. Sections 3 and 4 of this bill, however, amend existing law so that the Board of Natural Resources rather than the State Treasurer will determine the appropriate interest rate for loans between the landowner contingency forest fire suppression account and the general fund. While the Board of Natural Resources should have the ability to set interest rates for trustland management funds, this power should not be extended to situations which affect the General Fund. For this reason, I have vetoed Sections 3 and 4 of the bill.

With the exception of Sections 3 and 4, Senate Bill No. 5722 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5632

May 15, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 10 and 11, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5632 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to ocularists."

Section 10 of this bill establishes the state ocularist advisory committee in statute. This three member committee, appointed by the Secretary of the Department of Health, is comprised of a physician, an ocularist, and a state department of health employee. The purpose of this committee is to advise the Secretary of the Department of Health on the administration of the ocularist practice act. I see no reason for a state employee to be a member of this health profession advisory committee nor is it necessary to establish this advisory committee by statute. The Secretary of the Department of Health has authority under RCW 18.122.070 to appoint advisory committees to assist in the administration of health profession regulatory statutes. Therefore, I have vetoed Section 10 of this bill.

Section 11 of this bill restates substantially the immunity from liability extended by RCW 18.122.070(5) to the secretary, members of advisory committees or individuals acting on their behalf. RCW 18.122.070(5) provides immunity based on "official acts performed in the course of their duties" for members of health care advisory committees. Section 11 of this bill would extend immunity to the state ocularist advisory committee for "any act performed in the course of their duties."

Neither the bill nor its legislative history provides further explanation of the change in immunity extended by Section 11, nor a justification for such change to members of a particular health care advisory committee. Therefore, I have vetoed Section 11 of this bill.

With the exception of Sections 10 and 11, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5632 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON
ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5256

May 16, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 15, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5256 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to franchise investment protection."

Washington State's Franchise Investment Protection Act is an important consumer protection statute that, through protection of franchisees, has fostered a healthy business environment for reputable franchisors. Section 15 of this act would reduce the statute of limitations to only one year for an action by a franchisee for rescision based on failure of a franchisor to register. Further, the statute of limitations would be reduced to three years for all other actions under RCW 19.100.190. Currently, the statute of limitations may vary between two and six years depending on judicial interpretation.

While I agree that providing greater certainty in the limitation of actions is desirable, the original Washington State Bar Association Franchise Act Revision Committee's recommendation provided for a more reasonable statute of limitations of two years for failure to register and four years for other actions. This initial recommendation was modified by the Legislature.

A veto of Section 15 is necessary to assure continued consumer protection. Some problems with franchise agreements may not arise during the first year. Experience has shown that franchisors who fail to register often have the weakest franchises to sell and do not provide the disclosures required by the Franchise Investment Protection Act, thus exposing the purchaser to unnecessary risk. Also, the one year statute of limitations could provide an incentive to unscrupulous franchisors to sell unregistered franchises hoping the year will pass before discovery of a problem and the franchisee's claim, however valid, will be barred from legal action.

With the exception of Section 15, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5256 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5475

May 16, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 5 and 6, Senate Bill No. 5475 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to higher education."

Section 5 of Senate Bill No. 5475 states the intent of the Legislature that sick leave policies be uniform and consistent for all faculty and administrators hired after May 1, 1992 at the state's community colleges, regional universities, state colleges and research universities. Section 6 requires the Higher Education Coordinating Board, in consultation with the State Board for Community College Education, to study institutional sick leave policies and recommend mandated uniform and consistent policy for all faculty and administrators hired after May 1, 1992.

The rationale for passing this legislation is not clear. The Legislative Budget Committee reviewed higher education sick leave policies in 1989 and concluded that, prior to modifying the sick leave policies, better data should be collected to permit informed decision-making. In 1990, a law was passed requiring the institutions of higher education to maintain complete and accurate sick leave records. One year of data collection is insufficient to conclude that uniform and consistent sick leave policies are appropriate for the institutions of higher education. As the Legislative Budget Committee correctly observed in their report, sick leave benefits should be considered in the broader context of an overall compensation package, and compensation should be related to the complexity and amount of work assignments.

This legislation disregards the advice of the Legislative Budget Committee and inappropriately prescribes the outcome of the Higher Education Coordinating Board study required in Section 6.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed Sections 5 and 6 of Senate Bill No. 5475.

With the exception of Sections 5 and 6, Senate Bill No. 5475 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5474

May 16, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 5, Senate Bill No. 5474 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to a data collection and reporting system on children's education and well-being."

This bill creates a task force with representation from a broad range of agencies to review available data sources related to children's programs and recommend methods to make such data more user-friendly to state and local policy makers. The bill also requires local school districts to report new information that will improve the accuracy of the state's annual report on drop out rates. Both objectives are to be commended and I am glad to add my support.

Section 5 of the bill, however, provides that the new reporting requirements will expire in 1994. The brief life of this reporting requirement makes it appear to be a pilot project and may cause some school districts to be hesitant about incorporating this data into their permanent data collection systems. If the state hopes to reduce its drop out rate, accurate data is essential. Eliminating Section 5 establishes these new reporting provisions as permanent requirements.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed Section 5 of Senate Bill No. 5474.

With the exception of Section 5, Senate Bill No. 5474 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5873

May 17, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 2, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5873 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to insurance coverage for retired and disabled school district employees."

Section 2 of this bill requires the Health Care Authority to conduct a study of considerable importance to retirees of the public school system and public policy makers. However, the bill does not provide that agency with either additional staff or adequate funds to support such an effort. The Fiscal Note reveals estimated costs of at least $140,000.00 for the study. Funds for the agency to do the study do not appear in the operating budgets proposed by either the House or the Senate during the Regular Session and I cannot sign into law a requirement that would put the Health Care Authority at such risk.

I believe that a study of this nature should be undertaken, but not in the manner proposed. At the very least it should address the question of costs and access to health care benefits by the retirees of all public agencies, not just those in the public school system. The costs and needs of the respective public agencies must also be considered. It is unlikely that the comprehensive study that I believe to be necessary could be completed in only a four- to six-month time frame. The public policy issues are too important and the welfare of far too many individuals is at risk for this task to be addressed too hurriedly or on a piecemeal basis.

For the reasons stated, I have vetoed Section 2 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5873.

With the exception of Section 2, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5873 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5148

May 17, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 8 and 9, Senate Bill No. 5148 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to Limited Partnerships."

This legislation provides beneficial flexibility to limited partnerships so they can merge with each other or with corporations. Additional statutory changes clarify and add certainty to filing requirements.

Sections 8 and 9, however, would significantly change business operations in this state against the public interest. Limited partnerships evolved so certain business partners could invest with limited personal liability. In return for the limited liability these partners have been proscribed from engaging in certain managerial activities. This concept protects creditors, other limited partners, clients and others who do business with partnerships. The amendments in this bill turn this concept on its face and extend the liability shield for limited partners, while removing the limits on their managerial control of the business.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 8 and 9 of Senate Bill No. 5148.

With the exception of Sections 8 and 9, Senate Bill No. 5148 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5558

May 20, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 1, Senate Bill No. 5558, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to child labor regulation."

This bill would authorize the Department of Labor and Industries to issue civil penalties for violations of the state's child labor laws. I strongly support this authority.

Section 1 of this bill would require the Department of Labor and Industries to replace existing rules governing the employment of minors with rules which are consistent with federal law. Section 1 also requires the Department of Labor and Industries to revise child labor rules in the future as necessary to remain consistent with federal law. These requirements would be an unacceptable abdication of the State's responsibility and duty to its children.

Section 1 may be an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority. Even if Section 1 were upheld, provisions of state child labor law which were inconsistent with federal law might be legally unenforceable, leaving the state with no law under which to enforce some areas of child labor.

Beyond the problems of authority and process, I also object to the policy implications of Section 1. Under current federal law, Section 1 might effectively repeal important state policies, such as regulation of the hours of employment for sixteen- and seventeen-year-old children. The state might also be required to repeal its regulation of meal and rest breaks for children. Further, Section 1 might place in jeopardy the state's newly enacted regulations of agricultural employment of children.

The remainder of the bill establishes new tools to protect our children from working conditions and hours of employment which are detrimental to their health, safety and education. It is crucial that the state be able to regulate hours of employment for children to ensure that education, not employment, is the first priority for Washington's children.

For the reasons stated, I have vetoed Section 1 of Senate Bill No. 5558.

With the exception of Section 1, Senate Bill No. 5558 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5670

May 20, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5670, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to screening and treatment of children for mental health services."

I am pleased with the efforts this year to organize an effective mental health system for children. The legislators involved have successfully passed thoughtful legislation which will improve the lives of children in our state.

Section 4 of this bill conflicts with Section 13 of Substitute House Bill No. 1608, in that it also requires a legislative report with plans for folding the Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment program into the children's mental health system. Substitute House Bill No. 1608 also contains language requiring an inventory of all children's mental health programs as well as proposals for reducing categorical barriers to serving children. These requirements will produce valuable products.

For that reason, I will sign that provision into law and have vetoed Section 4 of this bill. In doing so, I have directed the Office of Financial Management and the Department of Social and Health Services staff to develop a report that responds to the requirements in both bills.

With the exception of Section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5670 is approved.

May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 208, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5591 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the reduction of solid waste through recycling."

Sections 201-214 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5591 relate to the creation of a new program within the Department of Trade and Economic Development called the Clean Washington Center, the activities of which will be conducted with the assistance of an advisory board set up by Section 204. Section 208 states that the Center may appoint advisory committees to assist in the development or implementation of the Center's work plan referenced in Section 205(9). Since the Center is a program within the Department of Trade and Economic Development, the director of the department has current statutory authorization to appoint advisory groups as appropriate and, therefore, Section 208 is not necessary. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 208.

With the exception of Section 208, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5591 is approved.

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 25, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5411 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the alleviation of flood damage."

Section 25 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5411 requires the Department of Natural Resources to not charge for removal of material from state-owned aquatic lands when such material is used for public purposes. Public purposes are defined by Section 25 to include construction, maintenance, improvement or repair of roads, dikes, and levees. Similar language is contained in Substitute House Bill No. 1864. For this reason I have vetoed Section 25 of this bill.

With the exception of Section 25, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5411 is approved.

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5170

May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 1 and 4, Senate Bill No. 5170 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to district judges."

This bill reduces the number of district court judges in Pacific County from three to two and changes the salary setting authority for part-time district court judges' salaries from county commissions to the Citizens' Commission on Salaries.

Section 1 of the bill reduces the number of district court judges in Pacific County. Identical language is included in House Bill No. 1467 which I have signed.

Section 4 contains an emergency clause. If the emergency clause were to go into effect, the Citizens' Commission on Salaries would have only 13 days to analyze, determine a process, and set salaries for district court judges.

I do not consider that sufficient time to properly address a potentially complex issue. By deleting the emergency clause, the salary commission will have time to evaluate the salary needs of part-time judges, take public testimony, and make appropriate salary determinations.

For the reasons stated, I have vetoed Sections 1 and 4 of Senate Bill No. 5170.

With the exception of Sections 1 and 4, Senate Bill No. 5170 is approved.

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5082
May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5082 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to professional salmon fishing guides."

This bill contains a provision repealing reciprocity with Idaho for fishing in the concurrent waters of Washington and Idaho on the Snake River. This repealer was added during the session when it became apparent that Idaho was acting inconsistently with the reciprocity agreement with respect to fishing guide licenses. Recently, Washington and Idaho wildlife agencies, the Idaho Guides Association, and the respective Attorney General's Offices have agreed to meet and discuss future actions regarding reciprocity between the two states on the Snake River. Due to this renewed cooperative arrangement, it is unnecessary to repeal the section relating to the reciprocity agreement. I expect that the two states can continue to work together in the future. Without such a cooperative agreement, residents wishing to fish on the concurrent waters of the Snake River would have been required to purchase licenses from both states. This would only cause confusion and animosity.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 4 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5082.

ON ENGROSSED SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5025
May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate

of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 2, 3, 17, 18, and 20, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5025 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to youth and family services."

This bill attempts to enhance early intervention services for at-risk youth and their families. Sections 2 and 3 specifically require expansion of family reconciliation services to an additional 1,000 families per year, and the homebuilders program to 126 additional youth and families per year. These sections are contingent upon funding in the budget.

Because negotiations are still underway regarding the budget, the level of funding for these programs is uncertain. There are no assurances that the legislature will provide funds adequate to meet the specific service level increases required by this bill. Further, service levels can be itemized in a budget proviso and should not be set out in statute. These reasons require that I veto Sections 2 and 3.

Sections 17, 18, and 20 make reference to the items specified above. To avoid confusion, I am also vetoing these sections.

With the exception of Sections 2, 3, 17, 18, and 20, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5025 is approved.

PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE
ON SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5568

May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 301 and 508, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5568, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to hunger and nutrition."

I commend the Legislature for its focus on nutritional needs of our families, and especially for its intent to improve the health and functioning of children so they can succeed in the classroom.

Sections 301 and 302 appropriately support issuing food stamps to eligible families as soon as possible after they apply. The Department of Social and Health Services is committed to that policy and will issue food stamps within 24 hours if sufficient staff is provided. Section 301, however, contains a legal conclusion about noncompliance that may make the state vulnerable to lawsuit. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 301.

Section 508 would void the Section 402 requirement that the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction aggressively solicit schools and organizations to participate in the nutrition programs. Even if reference and funds were not provided in the budget, aggressive solicitation should occur, especially since these programs are federally funded. This should be current policy, and I have therefore vetoed Section 508.

With the exception of Sections 301 and 508, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5568 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
ON ENGROSSED SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5120

May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 1, 3, 5, 8, 23, 24, 28, 29, 32, 34, 35, 36, 50, and 53, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5120 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to child support."

Any changes in the law affecting child support must focus on one issue - the well-being of the children. This was my overriding concern in the actions I have taken today; I used every means possible to maintain financial support for children.

Before 1988, our child support system was haphazard and many children received little or no financial support from the noncustodial parent. These families often ended up on public assistance, experiencing all of the pitfalls of poverty.

In 1988, we succeeded in enacting a new child support system. In 1989 Washington's noncustodial parents paid an average award of $352 per month. That amount includes all payments ordered by the court for all children, including daycare, medical and education expenses. Noncustodial parents are paying an average of 26% of their incomes in child support. These are not unreasonable support awards.

I had these facts in mind when I reviewed this legislation, and I heard from numerous individuals and groups. I also had in mind the jeopardy our state faces with the potential loss of $70 million in federal funds if we do not adopt a uniform economic table. These funds are essential to the well-being of children, since they fund our child support collection system.

I have said before that the child support system needed minor improvements and that it would be helpful if the legislature gave more clarity to the courts on how children in second families should be protected. Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5120 does not contain language on this issue. Some people have stated their belief that this legislation would put to rest issues related to child support. This is not the case. The issue of second families remains to be resolved.

The portions of this bill that are signed into law will improve the system of family court services and clarify procedures for the Office of Support Enforcement. Minor modifications will be easier to obtain and protections are added for disabled veterans.

I have vetoed certain sections for three reasons. Either they lower support to children unjustifiably, they egregiously impact families with children or they violate federal law.

Section 25, the new economic table, is signed into law. This uniform schedule will rectify the legal problems we have with the federal government. While it is imperative that the state have a uniform schedule, I am pleased that in Section 26 the Legislature obligates itself to periodically review this economic table.

Section 23 is vetoed because it states an intent that children must suffer from dissolution. Although that is unfortunately true in some situations, it is poor public policy to intend that it happen.

Sections 24, 28, 29, 32 and 50 are vetoed because they unjustifiably lower support to children. The new definition of "income" eliminates consideration of all overtime, second job income, contract-related benefits, gifts, prizes and bonuses, unless the judge makes an exception. The majority of support awards in the state could be lowered because of this change. I see no reason to use a definition that arbitrarily excludes as a benefit for children these very real types of resources that are available to parents.

Section 3 is vetoed because it is likely to have a negative impact on families with children. This section requires all periodic modifications to conform to the child support statutes. It then provides that any part of an existing dissolution decree that conflicts with the statute is "void". Custodial parents will be ordered to pay back support they received under legal court orders. This is an illegal retroactive modification and it would cause hardship to children.

Section 8 is vetoed because it overrules a child's right to private medical treatment in some situations. Children over age fourteen may receive medical treatment for sexually transmitted diseases and they may also use family planning services - all without parental consent. This amendment gives parents a right to those private medical records. Furthermore, there is great concern that the language would jeopardize child abuse investigations and domestic violence protections. I strongly support the right of both parents to have full and equal access to the education and available medical records of their children, but current law already gives them that right.

Section 34 limits a court's ability to order support for postsecondary education. Current law gives the court discretion to order support and tuition payments after considering the circumstances. This amendment prohibits a court from ordering noncustodial parents to pay tuition above that charged by the Washington university system to resident students. A child could very well live in another state where tuition is higher than our state charges. This type of cap unnecessarily limits the court's discretion and arbitrarily limits the options for children.

Sections 35, 36 and 53 change the way parents pay for extraordinary expenses and day care. The custodial parent would be required to pay these costs and bill the noncustodial parent. A custodial parent who lives in Washington, for instance, could have to pay for a roundtrip airline ticket to the state where the noncustodial parent lives, so the child could have visitation. All extra health expenses would be paid up front by the custodial parent. If the bill isn't paid after 30 days, the custodial parent must use a time-consuming court process to collect. This is unreasonably harsh. Section 35 is the companion section that modifies the Office of Support Enforcement process regarding extraordinary expenses and section 53 is the accompanying null and void section.

Section 5 contains language to allow Desert Shield and Desert Storm participants a retroactive modification for the time they were on active duty. We all laud the efforts of these fine service persons, but retroactive modifications violate federal law and work an unreasonable hardship on custodial parents. Furthermore, the bill is written with timelines that preclude nearly two-thirds of these people from taking advantage of the adjustment.

Section 1 is vetoed because of the hardship this venue change would have on rural Washingtonians and on Lincoln County. Current law allows expedited dissolutions in situations where the parties agree. I see no reason to take away this convenience.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed Sections 1, 3, 5, 8, 23, 24, 28, 29, 32, 34, 35, 36, 50 and 53 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5120.

With the exception of Sections 1, 3, 5, 8, 23, 24, 28, 29, 32, 34, 35, 36, 50, and 53, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5120 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5052

May 20, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5052, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to collection of public debts."

This bill amends the definition of "claim" in the law regulating debt collection practices by expanding that definition to include court-ordered or contractual restitution and any legal financial obligations imposed under the Sentencing Reform Act. It also stipulates that the state and its political subdivisions may "assign" public debts only to licensed collection agencies. In addition, it may limit the authority of public agencies to contract with debt collection agencies by eliminating their power to "retain" these agencies to collect public debts.

It is difficult to argue with the apparent purpose of this legislation -- to expand protection of the public against illegal debt collection practices and ensure that disreputable companies are not allowed to engage in collection activities, when such activities are associated with state and local government agencies. The bill attempts to achieve these goals by requiring public agencies to use licensed collection agencies to collect legal financial obligations.

While the purpose of the legislation is laudable, its application would have negative effects on two pre-trial diversion or deferred prosecution programs in Whatcom and Pierce Counties. Prosecutors in those counties have contracted with a private organization to act on their behalf to manage a program that requires training and payment of restitution, in lieu of prosecution, for people who write bad checks. An effort to require the offender to pay the victim for the amount lost on the bad check is an important part of the program. The counties contract for this program because they do not have the personnel and resources to run the program internally. It provides a valuable law enforcement service to businesses that are plagued by bad checks.

The bill would eliminate the authority of the two counties to contract for this kind of program with someone other than a licensed collection agency. That would make it difficult, if not impossible, to carry out the program in its current form. Licensed collection agencies are prohibited by statute from threatening prosecution and using any official connection with a public agency while engaged in collection agency business. The organization that manages the deferred prosecution program for the Pierce and Whatcom County Prosecutors uses both of these techniques as integral parts of the program.

In addition, I understand the issue of the bill's impact on these kinds of deferred prosecution programs was not considered by the Legislature. The Pierce and Whatcom County Prosecutors were not made aware of the bill. If there is a concern about public agencies contracting out for these services, that issue should have been part of the legislative debate on this bill.

Finally, this bill eliminates current discretionary authority of public agencies to retain licensed collection agencies to collect public debts. I question the wisdom of reducing the flexibility of state and local government to enforce public obligations in this manner.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5052 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 5075 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to review of the Washington condominium act."

The Washington Condominium Act became effective in 1990. The act was passed after three years of intensive discussion by a previous statutory committee and numerous public hearings during the 1988 and 1989 legislative sessions.

Although there may be a need to amend some portions of the act, there is no need to create a cumbersome review process after only one year. The legislature updates major statutes as a matter of course, and the Washington State Bar Association has a review process underway already.

Finally, the committee is assigned broad tasks, including a review of the entire statutory scheme, yet the membership provides very limited representation to condominium purchasers.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 5075.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5083 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the reestablishment of salmon hatcheries." *

Sections 1 and 2 of this legislation, although important, do not need to be set forth in state statute. The Department of Fisheries has pursued funding for the Toutle Hatchery from Congress in the past, and will continue to do so into the future.

The information requested in Section 3 to be submitted by the Department of Fisheries to the various legislative committees is already provided to the Legislature in preparing the biennial budget. It is unnecessary to codify a reporting function which is already standard procedure.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5083 in its entirety.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 5442, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to motorcycle permit restrictions."

This bill restricts issuance of a motorcycle instruction permit to individuals who have satisfactorily completed a motorcycle rider course or individuals who wish to change endorsement categories. Additionally, it removes the five-year experience standard on those who supervise a rider with an instruction permit.

Presently, the instruction permit is provided to a licensed driver as an opportunity to master his or her skills for riding a motorcycle under the supervision of a veteran motorcyclist prior to seeking the motorcycle license. Also, the department of licensing may require this person to pass the written portion of the motorcycle license examination prior to issuance of the instruction permit.

Enactment of this legislation amends the permitting process by requiring a motorcycle rider course prior to obtaining the motorcycle instruction permit. As such, a person would be required to locate a course, make an investment of time, and pay a $30 fee. It is not clear that these courses are readily available in the various geographic locations of the state, as well as, conveniently accessible to the public. As a result, the proposed change may unintentionally lead to greater numbers of "un-permitted" or "unlicensed" riders on our roadways.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 5442, in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 5585

May 21, 1991

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 5585, entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to licenses to sell liquor in motels."

This bill creates a Class M liquor license that would permit small motels with three or more rooms to sell hard liquor, beer, and wine in locked honor bars located in the guest rooms. The purpose of this legislation is to provide clientele of small motels with the same in-room liquor sales amenities that large hotels provide their guests under a Class H license.

While the bill may provide convenience to some motel patrons, the potential problems it creates far outweigh its benefits. For example, the bill would expand opportunities for unsupervised access to alcohol by minors by enabling up to 1,200 small motels to sell liquor, beer, and wine in their rooms. This is an outcome that we cannot afford, given the severe problems our young people are having with alcohol consumption.

The bill also violates a long-established legal precedent in this state regarding alcohol beverage control. It permits the sale of liquor in establishments without restaurant food sales. The snacks that would be provided in the honor bars are not a sufficient substitute for normal food sales.

And finally, if only one-half of the small motels become licensees, the Liquor Control Board would be faced with 600 new retail liquor outlets requiring regulation and enforcement. Without additional funding and personnel, which is very uncertain at the this stage in the budget process, this would be an unreasonable burden to place on an already over-burdened enforcement staff. Even if I agreed with the public policy of expanding liquor sales to small motels, it would be very risky for the state to assume this substantial regulatory responsibility without assurance of proper funding.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 5585 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,

STATEMENT FOR THE JOURNAL

I, Senator Brad Owen, representing the 35th Legislative District of Washington State, do hereby make this statement for inclusion into the Washington State Senate Journal dated June 12, 1991.

Having been appointed by the Governor to serve on his Council on Substance Abuse, on June 12, 1991 I attended a council meeting from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Sea-Tac area. Realizing I would not be present for the third day of the First Special Session of the 52nd Washington State Legislature, on June 11, 1991, I directed my Administrative Assistant to contact the Senate Democratic Whip, and advise of my unavailability to attend the said Special Session that day, which my Administrative Assistant did do. Now, I find I was not excused for that session, but was marked as being "Absent."

Further, had I been present in session June 12, 1991 when a floor vote, and thereafter a formal roll call vote, was taken on whether or not to recess the special session until Friday, June 14, 1991, at 10:00 a.m, I would have voted "nay."

SENATOR BRAD OWEN
35th District

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Gaspard: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. When the Governor called the Special Session, all of us have been here and made sacrifices from our work life and our family life to conduct the business of the Senate and the state. The House of Representatives has acted quickly on a supplemental budget--one that is desperately needed in a number of the human services programs, that we have responsibility between now and the end of this budget cycle, particularly in pre-natal care, and we have tried to bring that before us. This measure passed the House of Representatives with ninety-one votes and for some unknown reason, it has been stated in the paper by the Majority Leader of this Senate, Senator Hayner, that this bill should be kept hostage. There is no reason to keep hostage the human services that the state of Washington is obligated to provide for people who truly do need the care. I am seriously and deeply troubled by the tactic that is used to go ahead and adjourn this session and not pass the supplemental budget."

At 1:46 p.m., the Senate adjourned until 10:00 a.m., Friday, June 14, 1991.

JOEL PRITCHARD, President of the Senate.
GORDON A. GOLOB, Secretary of the Senate.

General Fund Appropriation--Local . . . . . $ 3,753,000

TOTAL APPROPRIATION . . . . . $ ((275,708,000))

The appropriations in this subsection are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) A maximum of $35,212,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $17,127,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided for approved regional network plans through contracts negotiated with the secretary of social and health services.

(i) It is the intent of the legislature to implement mental health reform on a multi-year schedule. Dramatic escalation of costs for new programs would impair the state's ability to proceed with subsequent expansion. The contracts shall contain a fiscal plan that will ensure that the increased cost of maintaining fiscal year 1991 programs in fiscal year 1992 will not unduly exceed the rate of inflation. Of the amounts provided in this subsection, a maximum of $500,000 from the general fund--state appropriation may be used for planning and technical assistance grants to counties or regions wishing to form networks. The amounts in this subsection include moneys needed to implement the federal omnibus budget and reconciliation act of 1987 ("OBRA"). First priority for necessary mental health services shall be given to individuals transferred from nursing homes because of OBRA. Such services shall be consistent with an individual's discharge plan and shall include residential services, if needed. Assumptions regarding the number of transfers from the nursing homes shall be incorporated into each contract and shall be consistent with the state-wide plan. The department shall coordinate OBRA transfers consistent with the provisions of each contract. The secretary shall negotiate contracts only with regional support networks that received recognition under chapter 205, Laws of 1989 as of January 1, 1990. Funding for the north sound and north central networks shall commence no sooner than

January 1, 1991. Networks funded after January 1990 shall be subject to the same contracting process as networks funded in January 1990.

(ii) The department shall continue contracting directly for the Kitsap mental health services residential care alternative project until such time as Kitsap county becomes or joins a regional support network. The reimbursement rate per available bed-day shall not exceed $206 in fiscal year 1990 and $210 in fiscal year 1991. During the contract period, all eligible involuntary treatment referrals for Kitsap county residents shall be made to the project. No involuntary referrals shall be made to western state hospital unless the Kitsap residential treatment facility is filled to capacity and the mental health division and the Kitsap county mental health coordinator concur with the referral. Priority for referral to western state hospital shall be given to individuals under ninety-day or one hundred eighty-day commitments and individuals who have exhausted all community placement options.

(iii) The department may continue to contract directly with Chartley house until King county joins or becomes a regional support network.

(b) $2,000,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for a mental health housing reserve. The secretary of social and health services shall transfer funds from the reserve to the state hospitals in any quarter in which hospital census exceeds the December 1988 forecast adjusted to eliminate the bed contract assumption. Any amount remaining after March 1991 may be used for one-time grants. In making grants, the secretary shall give priority to proposals that facilitate network development, demonstrate integration with other mental health services, and are designed to reduce involuntary treatment.

(c) $5,500,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for increases for involuntary treatment act administration, including costs associated with involuntary medication hearings.

(d) $2,200,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for information system requirements associated with chapter 205, Laws of 1989. Authority to expend funds for the client information system is conditioned on compliance with section 802, chapter 19, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess.

(e) $600,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $400,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for increasing local hospital outlier payments.

(f) $1,400,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $500,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are for community mental health services for children. Priority for the remaining moneys shall be given to maintaining Title XIX eligibility for children's outpatient services at risk of losing federal financial participation because of lack of state match.

(g) $3,509,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $1,322,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are for vendor rate increases for vendors providing services to the mental health program, as specified in section 202 of this act.

(h) $165,000 of the general fund--state appropriation is provided solely for a pilot project on the delivery of children's mental health services. The amount provided in this subsection is contingent on receipt by the department of $393,000 from private sources.

(i) $1,500,000 of the general fund--state appropriation and $720,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for the enhancement of children's mental health services. The department shall contract with networks and counties through separate performance-based contracts. Contracts shall include a provision expanding services for underserved or difficult-to-service children, including minorities. Applications from counties and networks shall include endorsements from affected school districts, child welfare agencies, juvenile court systems, and tribes. Of these amounts, $200,000 is provided solely for the development of a state-wide action plan for children's mental health. The plan shall include strategies to reduce duplicate case management. It shall recommend changes, if necessary, to mental health statutes and other statutes to accommodate children's special needs and circumstances. It shall include proposals to increase access and availability of culturally relevant mental health services for minority children. It shall propose a protocol for client referrals from educational and social service agencies and a cross-system collaborative process for ranking those referrals. In developing the plan, the department shall involve representatives of the education, juvenile justice, child welfare, and mental health systems. (i) For enrollment of up to sixty annual average full time equivalent students in kindergarten through grade six, 2.76 certificated instructional staff units and 0.24 certificated administrative staff units; and

(ii) For enrollment of up to twenty annual average full time equivalent students in grades seven and eight, 0.92 certificated instructional staff units and 0.08 certificated administrative staff units.

(g) For districts operating no more than two high schools with enrollments of less than three hundred average annual full time equivalent students, for enrollment in grades nine through twelve in each such school, other than alternative schools:

(i) For remote and necessary schools enrolling students in any grades nine through twelve but no more than twenty-five average annual full time equivalent kindergarten through twelfth grade students, four and one-half certificated instructional staff units and one-quarter of a certificated administrative staff unit;

(ii) For all other small high schools under this subsection, nine certificated instructional staff units and one-half of a certificated administrative staff unit for the first sixty average annual full time equivalent students, and additional staff units based on a ratio of 0.8732 certificated instructional staff units and 0.1268 certificated administrative staff units per each additional forty-three and one-half average annual full time equivalent students.

Units calculated under (g)(ii) of this subsection shall be reduced by certificated staff units at the rate of forty-six certificated instructional staff units and four certificated administrative staff units per thousand vocational and handicapped full time equivalent students.

(h) For each nonhigh school district having an enrollment of more than seventy annual average full time equivalent students and less than one hundred eighty students, operating a grades K-8 program or a grades 1-8 program, an additional one-half of a certificated instructional staff unit.

(i) For each nonhigh school district having an enrollment of more than fifty annual average full time equivalent students and less than one hundred eighty students, operating a grades K-6 program or a grades 1-6 program, an additional one-half of a certificated instructional staff unit.

(3) Allocations for classified salaries for the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years shall be calculated using formula-generated classified staff units determined as follows:

(a) For enrollments generating certificated staff unit allocations under subsections (2) (e) through (i) of this section, one classified staff unit for each three certificated staff units allocated under such subsections.

(b) For all other enrollment in grades kindergarten through twelve, including vocational but excluding handicapped full time equivalent enrollments, one classified staff unit for each sixty average annual full time equivalent students.

(c) For each nonhigh school district with an enrollment of more than fifty annual average full time equivalent students and less than one hundred eighty students, an additional one-half of a classified staff unit.

(4) Fringe benefit allocations shall be calculated at a rate of 19.80 percent in the 1989-90 school year and 19.85 percent in the 1990-91 school year of certificated salary allocations provided under subsection (2) of this section, and a rate of 17.32 percent in the 1989-90 school year and 17.37 percent in the 1990-91 school year of classified salary allocations provided under subsection (3) of this section.

(5) Insurance benefit allocations shall be calculated at the rates specified in section 505 of this act, based on:

(a) The number of certificated staff units determined in subsection (2) of this section; and

(b) The number of classified staff units determined in subsection (3) of this section multiplied by 1.152. This factor is intended to adjust allocations so that, for the purposes of distributing insurance benefits, full time equivalent classified employees may be calculated on the basis of 1440 hours of work per year, with no individual employee counted as more than one full time equivalent.

(6)(a) For nonemployee related costs associated with each certificated staff unit allocated under subsection (2) (a), (b), (c), and (e) through (i) of this section, there shall be provided a maximum of $6,355 per certificated staff unit in the 1989-90 school year and a maximum of $6,654 per certificated staff unit in the 1990-91 school year.

(b) For nonemployee related costs associated with each certificated staff unit allocated under subsection (2)(d) of this section, there shall be provided a maximum of $12,110 per certificated staff unit in the 1989-90 school year and a maximum of $12,679 per certificated staff unit in the 1990-91 school year.

(7) Allocations for substitute costs for classroom teachers shall be distributed at a maximum rate of $290 per year for allocated classroom teachers. Solely for the purposes of this subsection, allocated classroom teachers shall be equal to the number of certificated instructional staff units allocated under subsection (2) of this section, multiplied by the ratio between the number of actual basic education certificated teachers and the number of actual basic education certificated instructional staff reported state-wide for the 1987-88 school year.

(8) The superintendent may distribute a maximum of ~~$(9,925,000)~~ 9,829,000 outside the basic education formula during fiscal years 1990 and 1991 as follows:

(a) For fire protection for school districts located in a fire protection district as now or hereafter established pursuant to chapter 52.04 RCW, a maximum of ~~$(358,000)~~ 350,000 may be expended in fiscal year 1990 and a maximum of $375,000 in fiscal year 1991.

(b) For summer vocational programs at skills centers, a maximum of $1,321,000 may be expended in fiscal year 1990 and a maximum of $1,599,000 may be expended in fiscal year 1991.

(c) A maximum of ~~$(272,000)~~ 184,000 may be expended for school district emergencies.

(d) A maximum of $6,000,000 is provided solely for the purchase of new and replacement vocational education equipment for use primarily in approved vocational-secondary and skill center programs. These moneys shall be allocated to school districts during the 1989-90 school year on the basis of full time equivalent enrollment in vocational programs.

(9) For the purposes of RCW 84.52.0531, the increase per full time equivalent student in state basic education appropriations provided under this act, including appropriations for salary and benefits increases, is 6.07 percent from the 1988-89 school year to the 1989-90 school year, and 7.0 percent from the 1989-90 school year to the 1990-91 school year.

(10)(a) The superintendent of public instruction shall revise personnel reporting systems to include information on grade level assignments of basic education certificated instructional staff, by grade level groupings of K-3, 4-6, and 7-12. The superintendent of public instruction shall collect such information from school districts beginning in the 1989-90 school year. School districts may submit supplemental information on changes in staffing levels after the initial personnel report for each school year. Staffing ratios calculated under this subsection may recognize additional staff reported, prorated by the number of months of employment during the academic year.

(b) For each school year, the funding provided under subsection (2)(a) of this section shall be based on a ratio of fifty-one certificated instructional staff per thousand students in kindergarten through grade three only if the district documents an actual ratio of at least fifty-one full time basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students at those grade levels. For any school district documenting a lower ratio, the funding provided under this section shall be based on the district's actual K-3 ratio achieved in that school year, or the statutory minimum ratio established under RCW 28A.41.140(2)(c), if greater.

(c) School districts that had a ratio of fifty-one basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand students in kindergarten through grade three in the 1988-89 school year shall expend additional funding generated by the increase in staffing ratios provided in this section solely to improve staffing ratios in kindergarten through grade twelve.

(11) School districts shall use allocations for salaries and benefits generated under subsection (2)(b) of this section only to increase the district's ratio of basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students in grades K-3 above fifty-one per thousand, or to employ classified instructional assistants assigned to K-3 basic education classrooms. However, a district that has achieved a ratio of fifty-three basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students in grades K-3 may also use the allocation to employ additional basic education certificated instructional staff or classified instructional assistants in any grades K-12. School districts shall document to the superintendent of public instruction how the allocation was used and shall submit documentation on the number of classified instructional assistants employed in grades K-3 in the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years. If a district uses moneys provided under subsection (2)(b) of this section for K-3 certificated instructional staff, these staff shall be excluded when determining the district's actual K-3 staffing ratio under subsection (10) of this section. A district shall be ineligible to receive allocations under subsection (2)(b) of this section unless the district documents to the superintendent of public instruction that its actual K-3 ratio under subsection (10) of this section for the 1990-91 school year is at least fifty-one full time basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students. Districts may not use allocations provided under this subsection to supplant other moneys previously used to employ K-3 certificated instructional staff or K-3 classified instructional assistants. The superintendent of public instruction shall recover funding allocated under subsection (2)(b) of this section if the district does not submit documentation showing that the funding was used for the purposes specified.

(12) Subsection (11) of this section does not apply in the 1990-91 school year to any school district that experienced in the 1989-90 school year an enrollment decline of greater than 1,000 full time equivalent students as compared to the 1988-89 school year. However, such a school district shall use allocations for salaries and benefits generated under subsections (2)(a)(i) and (2)(b) of this section only to increase the district's ratio of basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students in grades K-12 above the district's actual K-12 staffing ratio in the 1988-89 school year. The superintendent of public instruction shall recover funding allocated under subsections (2)(a)(i) and (2)(b) of this section if the district does not submit documentation showing that the funding was used for the purposes specified in this subsection.

(13) The additional moneys allocated due to the increase in the vocational-secondary staff ratio provided in subsection (2)(d) of this section shall be expended solely for expanded vocational-secondary programs approved by the superintendent of public instruction. Funds provided may be expended for extended day contracts. The percentage rate of indirect charges to vocational-secondary programs, in total, shall not exceed the state-wide average percentage rates of indirect charges in all other state-funded categorical programs.

FOR THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION--BASIC EDUCATION EMPLOYEE COMPENSATION INCREASES

General Fund Appropriation . . . . . $ 222,564,000
((221,451,000))

The appropriation in this section is subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) The following calculations determine the salaries used in the general fund allocations for certificated instructional, certificated administrative, and classified staff units under section 502 of this act:

(a) Salary allocations for certificated instructional staff units shall be determined for each district by multiplying the district's certificated instructional derived base salary shown on LEAP Document 12 by the district's average staff mix factor for basic education certificated instructional staff in that school year, computed using LEAP Document 1.

(b) Salary allocations for certificated administrative staff units and classified staff units shall be determined for each district by the district's certificated administrative and classified salary allocation amounts shown on LEAP Document 12.

(2)(a) Districts shall certify to the superintendent of public instruction such information as may be necessary regarding the years of service and educational experience of basic education certificated instructional employees for the purposes of calculating certificated instructional staff salary allocations pursuant to this section. Any change in information previously certified, on the basis of years of experience or educational credits, shall be reported and certified to the superintendent of public instruction at the time such change takes place.

(b) For the purposes of this section, "basic education certificated instructional staff" is defined as provided in RCW 28A.41.110.

(c) "LEAP Document 1" means the computerized tabulation establishing staff mix factors for basic education certificated instructional staff according to education and years of experience, as developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee on August 18, 1987, at 13:26 hours.

(d) "LEAP Document 1R" means the computerized tabulation establishing staff mix factors for basic education certificated instructional staff according to education and years of experience, as developed on March 29, 1990, at 11:00 hours.

(e) "LEAP Document 12" means the computerized tabulation of 1988-89 salary allocations for basic education certificated administrative staff and basic education classified staff and 1988-89 derived base salaries for basic education certificated instructional staff as developed on April 20, 1989, at 14:15 hours.

(f) The incremental fringe benefits factors applied to salary increases in this section shall be 1.1916 for certificated salaries and 1.1379 for classified salaries in the 1989-90 school year, and 1.1921 for certificated salaries and 1.1384 for classified salaries in the 1990-91 school year.

(3) ~~$(7,517,000)~~ 7,527,000 is provided solely to increase allocations for certificated administrative staff units provided under section 502 of this act, pursuant to this subsection. For the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years, the allocation for each certificated administrative staff unit shall be increased by 2.5 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average certificated administrative salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits.

(4) ~~$(30,396,000)~~ 30,426,000 is provided solely to increase allocations for classified staff units provided under section 502 of this act, pursuant to this subsection. For the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years, the allocation for each classified staff unit shall be increased by 4.0 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average classified salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits. For the 1990-91 school year, the allocation for each classified staff unit shall be further increased by an additional 4.16 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average classified salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits.

(5) ~~$(183,538,000)~~ 184,611,000 is provided solely to increase allocations for certificated instructional staff units provided under section 502 of this act, pursuant to this subsection:

(a) For any district with a derived base salary of $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1989-90 school year shall be increased by the difference between:

(i) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits; and

(ii) The district's 1989-90 average certificated instructional staff allocation salary as determined by placing the district's actual full time equivalent basic education certificated instructional staff on the state-wide salary allocation schedule established in subsection (6) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits.

(b) For any district with a derived base salary greater than $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1989-90 school year shall be increased by 4.0 percent of the district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits.

(c) For any district with a derived base salary of $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1990-91 school year shall be increased by the difference between:

(i) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits; and

(ii) The district's 1990-91 average certificated instructional staff allocation salary as determined by placing the district's actual full time equivalent basic education certificated instructional staff on the state-wide salary allocation schedule established in subsection (7) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits.

(d) For any district with a derived base salary greater than $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1990-91 school year shall be increased by the difference between:

(i) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits; and

(ii) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section multiplied by the compounded increase provided in this subsection, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits. The compounded increase for each district shall be 7.12 percent, compounded by the percentage difference between the district's average staff mix factor for actual 1990-91 full time equivalent basic education certificated instructional employees computed using LEAP Document 1R and such factor for the same 1990-91 employees computed using LEAP Document 1.

(6)(a) Pursuant to RCW 28A.41.112, the following state-wide salary allocation schedule for certificated instructional staff is established for basic education salary allocations for the 1989-90 school year:

(b) As used in this subsection, the column headings "BA+(N)" refer to the number of credits earned since receiving the baccalaureate degree.

(c) For credits earned after the baccalaureate degree but before the masters degree, any credits in excess of forty-five credits may be counted after the masters degree. Thus, as used in this subsection, the column headings "MA+(N)" refer to the total of:

(i) Credits earned since receiving the masters degree; and

(ii) Any credits in excess of forty-five credits that were earned after the baccalaureate degree but before the masters degree.

(8) For the purposes of this section:

(a) "BA" means a baccalaureate degree.

(b) "MA" means a masters degree.

(c) "PHD" means a doctorate degree.

(d) "Years of service" shall be calculated under the same rules used by the superintendent of public instruction for salary allocations in the 1988-89 school year.

(e) "Credits" means college quarter hour credits and equivalent inservice credits computed in accordance with RCW 28A.71.110.

(9) The salary allocation schedules established in subsections (6) and (7) of this section are for allocation purposes only. However, it is the legislature's intent to respond to salary needs of many senior teachers who have not been receiving salary increments on either state or local salary schedules. The legislature and the public recognize the need to provide salary growth for these senior teachers in order to encourage them to continue teaching. School districts should target moneys generated by the additional seniority steps provided for state salary funding in the 1990-91 school year to senior certification instructional staff. By December 1, 1990, each school district shall submit to the superintendent of public instruction a statement signed by the district's board of directors explaining how the moneys generated by the additional seniority steps were used and whether these moneys were targeted to senior staff.

Sec. 3. 1990 1st ex.s. c 16 s 505 (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

(4) While this section and section 509 of this act do not provide specific allocations for salary increases for school food services employees, nothing in this act is intended to preclude or discourage school districts from granting increases that are equivalent to those provided for other classified staff.

One-half of one percent of moneys appropriated in this act for original construction of school plant facilities is provided solely for the purposes of RCW 28A.335.210. One-half of one percent of moneys appropriated in this act for original construction of any building by any college or university or for any major renovation or remodel work exceeding $200,000 by any college or university is provided solely for the purposes of RCW 28B.10.027. One-half of one percent of moneys appropriated in this act for original construction of any other public building by a state agency as defined by RCW 43.17.200 is provided solely for the purposes of RCW 43.17.200.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 48. The amounts shown under the headings "Prior Biennia," "Future Biennia," and "Total" in this act are for informational purposes only and do not constitute legislative approval of these amounts.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 49. "Reappropriations" in this act are appropriations and, unless the context clearly provides otherwise, are subject to the relevant conditions and limitations applicable to appropriations. Reappropriations shall be limited to the unexpended balances remaining June 30, 1991, in the 1989-91 biennial appropriations for each project.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 50. To carry out the provisions of this act, the governor may assign responsibility for planning, engineering, construction, and other related activities to any appropriate agency.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 51. As part of the annual update to the state facilities and capital plan, agencies shall provide information on lease development and lease purchase projects to the office of financial management.

If any federal moneys appropriated by this act for capital projects are not received by the state, the department or agency to which the moneys were appropriated may replace the federal moneys available from private or local sources. No replacement may occur under this section without the prior approval of the director of financial management in consultation with the senate committee on ways and means and the house of representatives committee on capital facilities and financing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 52. Unless otherwise stated, for all appropriations under this act that require a match of nonstate money or in-kind contributions, the following requirement under RCW 43.88.150 shall apply: Expenditure of state money shall be timed so that the state share of project expenditures never exceeds the intended state share of total project costs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 53. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, for the 1991-93 biennium, transfers of reimbursement by the state treasurer to the general fund from the community college capital projects account for debt service payments made under Title 28B RCW shall occur only after such debt service payment has been made and only to the extent that funds are actually available in the account. Any unpaid reimbursements shall be a continuing obligation against the community college capital projects account until paid. The state board for community college education need not accumulate any specific balance in the community college capital projects account in anticipation of transfers to reimburse the general fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 54. Any capital improvements or capital project involving construction or major expansion of a state office facility, including district headquarters, detachment offices, and off-campus faculty offices, shall be reviewed by the department of general administration for possible consolidation and compliance with state office standards before allotment of funds. The intent of the requirement imposed by this section is to eliminate duplication and reduce total office space requirements where feasible, while ensuring proper service to the public.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 55. The governor, through the director of financial management, may authorize a transfer of appropriation authority provided for a capital project that is in excess of the amount required for the completion of such project to another capital project for which the appropriation is insufficient. No such transfer shall be used to expand the capacity of any facility beyond that intended by the legislature in making the appropriation. Such transfers may be effected only between capital appropriations to a specific department, commission, agency, or institution of higher education and only between capital projects that are funded from the same fund or account.

For purposes of this section, the governor may find that an amount is in excess of the amount required for the completion of a project only if (1) the project as defined in the notes to the budget document is substantially complete and there are funds remaining or (2) bids have been let on a project and it appears to a substantial certainty that the project as defined in the notes to the budget document can be completed within the biennium for less than the amount appropriated herein.

For the purposes of this section, the legislature intends that each project be defined as proposed to the legislature in the governor's budget document, unless it clearly appears from the legislative history that the legislature intended to define the scope of a project in a different way.

A report of any transfer effected under this section shall be filed with the legislative fiscal committees of the senate and house of representatives by the director of financial management at least thirty days prior to the date the transfer is effected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 56. To ensure that major construction projects are carried out in accordance with legislative and executive intent, appropriations in this act referencing this section shall not be expended until the office of financial management has reviewed the agency's programmatic preplanning document and approved continuation of or made changes to the project. The program preplanning document shall include but not be limited to projected workload, site conditions, user requirements, current space available, and an overall budget and cost estimate breakdown in a form prescribed by the office of financial management. The office of financial management shall report to the house of representatives capital facilities committee, the senate ways and means committee, and the legislative transportation committee a listing of the program documents the office has reviewed and approved, changes made to the documents resulting from the review, and the estimated cost changes resulting from the review.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 57. The department of information services shall act as lead agency in coordinating video telecommunications services for state agencies. As lead agency, the department shall develop standards and common specifications for leased and purchased telecommunications equipment and assist state agencies in developing a video telecommunications expenditure plan. No agency may spend any portion of any appropriation in this act for new video telecommunication equipment, new video telecommunication transmission, or new video telecommunication programming, or for expanding current video telecommunication systems without first complying with chapter 43.105 RCW, including but not limited to RCW 43.105.041(2), and without first submitting a video telecommunications equipment expenditure plan, in accordance with the policies of the department of information services, for review and assessment by the department of information services under RCW 43.105.052. Before any such expenditure by a public school, a video telecommunications expenditure plan shall be approved by the superintendent of public instruction. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall submit the plans to the department of information services in a form prescribed by the department. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall coordinate the use of video telecommunications in public schools by providing educational information to local school districts and shall assist local school districts and educational service districts in telecommunications planning and curriculum development. Before any such expenditure by a public institution of postsecondary education, a telecommunications expenditure plan shall be approved by the higher education coordinating board. The higher education coordinating board shall coordinate the use of video telecommunications for instruction and instructional support in postsecondary education, including the review and approval of instructional telecommunications course offerings.

MOTION

Senator Talmadge moved that the following amendment by Senators Talmadge and Nelson be adopted:

On page 3, after line 8, insert a new subsection to read as follows:

"(6) Beginning January 1, 1992, no city with a population in excess of four hundred thousand shall receive any distribution of moneys from the municipal criminal justice assistance account until the city has entered an agreement with the office of the court administrator regarding the utilization of the district and municipal court information system. The agreement shall require any municipal court system of such cities to be linked to the system and be fully capable of on-line use of the data contained therein. The agreement shall specify a date by which such linkage and use shall be effective and in no event shall the date be later than January 1, 1994, unless funding is not made available by the legislature in which case the date for linkage shall be postponed only until such funding is available."

Renumber the remaining subsections consecutively and correct internal cross-reference.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Newhouse: "Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I would like to raise the point of order that this amendment expands the scope and object of the original bill. I think the President should know and the body should know that the Governor's veto was aimed at this amendment, according to his statement.

"The bill, itself, has to do with the criminal justice funding which we provided last year and allowed certain counties and cities with a very high criminal justice load some additional help. The language was too restrictive and we found that some, in their desperation--some cities and counties--had expended money from other purposes which they had to supplant and there was rather restrictive non-supplanting language in the bill. The definition of supplanting which we put in that bill, House Bill No. 1137, is now in this bill before us and what the maker of the amendment is trying to do is to put on the same amendment which the Governor was trying to reach with his veto. I suggest that it would be better that the amendment be a bill of its own and fly on its own merit."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Newhouse, further consideration of Senate Bill No. 5989 was deferred.

MOMENT OF SILENCE

At the request of Senator Gaspard, the Senate stood for a moment of silence in memory of former Senator Bruce A. Wilson.

There being no objection, the President returned the Senate to the fourth order of business.

On page 1, line 3 of the title, after "creating" strike "a new section" and insert "new sections"

MOTION

On motion of Senator Nelson, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5998 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Nelson, the second section of this bill appears to suggest that a former spouse of a law enforcement officer or fire fighter would not qualify to receive these retirement benefits, notwithstanding our state's community property law, unless that person had been married to the retiree for at least a period of thirty years. Isn't that a remarkable change in Washington State's community property law and how we address the problems of the apportionment of retirement benefits for spouses in a dissolution setting?"

Senator Nelson: "It is a change, but it is one that was intended to benefit a person who was being excluded from the benefits as a surviving spouse under a very unusual arrangement that was, in fact, a person married to a fire fighter for thirty years in the state of Washington, who is now deceased."

Senator Talmadge: "But, the appearance of this, Senator, is that no person who is the former spouse of a fire fighter or law enforcement officer, who qualified for the pension, would receive any benefits whatsoever, notwithstanding the community property law, unless that person had been married to the fire fighter or law enforcement officer for a period of thirty years. That's Section 2, sub B."

Senator Nelson: "This is the existing definition that we have in statute right now that we are reinstalling into the law. Section 2 is what we unfortunately repealed and now we are placing it back into statute. That has always been part of the definition of surviving spouse."

Senator Talmadge: "Even if it were part of the definition, it seems to me to be remarkably unfair that, for example, if a woman had been married to a man for twenty-five years and they went through a divorce situation, the court would be barred from apportioning a part of the pension benefits of that law enforcement officer or fire fighter to that spouse in the dissolution, because they hadn't been married for a full thirty years."

Senator Nelson: "I just can't answer that question without looking at it in more detail, Senator Talmadge, because this particular section is the one that has been in law for quite a number of years and this is the section that the Department of Retirement Systems indicates that we have to restore and put back in."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Newhouse, further consideration of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5998 was deferred.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5997 by Senators Nelson and A. Smith (by request of Statute Law Committee)

Correcting certain double amendments from the 1991 regular session.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Nelson, Senate Bill No. 5997 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Niemi: "Madam President, would it be possible for us to take a peek at this bill before we vote on it? Could we hold this bill until we get a copy of it--hold voting on it?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

President Pro Tempore Craswell: "If there is no objection, the bill will be held."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-103. PAYMENT ORDER--DEFINITIONS. (1) In this Article:

(a) "Payment order" means an instruction of a sender to a receiving bank, transmitted orally, electronically, or in writing, to pay, or to cause another bank to pay, a fixed or determinable amount of money to a beneficiary if:

(i) The instruction does not state a condition of payment to the beneficiary other than time of payment;

(ii) The receiving bank is to be reimbursed by debiting an account of, or otherwise receiving payment from, the sender; and

(iii) The instruction is transmitted by the sender directly to the receiving bank or to an agent, funds-transfer system, or communication system for transmittal to the receiving bank.

(b) "Beneficiary" means the person to be paid by the beneficiary's bank.

(c) "Beneficiary's bank" means the bank identified in a payment order in which an account of the beneficiary is to be credited pursuant to the order or which otherwise is to make payment to the beneficiary if the order does not provide for payment to an account.

(d) "Receiving bank" means the bank to which the sender's instruction is addressed.

(e) "Sender" means the person giving the instruction to the receiving bank.

(2) If an instruction complying with subsection (1)(a) of this section is to make more than one payment to a beneficiary, the instruction is a separate payment order with respect to each payment.

(3) A payment order is issued when it is sent to the receiving bank.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-104. FUNDS TRANSFER--DEFINITIONS. In this Article:

(1) "Funds transfer" means the series of transactions, beginning with the originator's payment order, made for the purpose of making payment to the beneficiary of the order. The term includes any payment order issued by the originator's bank or an intermediary bank intended to carry out the originator's payment order. A funds transfer is completed by acceptance by the beneficiary's bank of a payment order for the benefit of the beneficiary of the originator's payment order.

(2) "Intermediary bank" means a receiving bank other than the originator's bank or the beneficiary's bank.

(3) "Originator" means the sender of the first payment order in a funds transfer.

(4) "Originator's bank" means (a) the receiving bank to which the payment order of the originator is issued if the originator is not a bank, or (b) the originator if the originator is a bank.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-105. OTHER DEFINITIONS. (1) In this Article:

(a) "Authorized account" means a deposit account of a customer in a bank designated by the customer as a source of payment orders issued by the customer to the bank. If a customer does not so designate an account, any account of the customer is an authorized account if payment of a payment order from that account is not inconsistent with a restriction on the use of the account.

(b) "Bank" means a person engaged in the business of banking and includes a savings bank, savings and loan association, credit union, and trust company. A branch or separate office of a bank is a separate bank for purposes of this Article.

(c) "Customer" means a person, including a bank, having an account with a bank or from whom a bank has agreed to receive payment orders.

(d) "Funds-transfer business day" of a receiving bank means the part of a day during which the receiving bank is open for the receipt, processing, and transmittal of payment orders and cancellations and amendments of payment orders.

(e) "Funds-transfer system" means a wire transfer network, automated clearing house, or other communication system of a clearing house or other association of banks through which a payment order by a bank may be transmitted to the bank to which the order is addressed.

(f) "Good faith" means honesty in fact and the observance of reasonable commercial standards of fair dealing.

(g) "Prove" with respect to a fact means to meet the burden of establishing the fact (RCW 62A.1-201(8)).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-106. TIME PAYMENT ORDER IS RECEIVED. (1) The time of receipt of a payment order or communication canceling or amending a payment order is determined by the rules applicable to receipt of a notice stated in RCW 62A.1-201(27). A receiving bank may fix a cut-off time or times on a funds-transfer business day for the receipt and processing of payment orders and communications canceling or amending payment orders. Different cut-off times may apply to payment orders, cancellations, or amendments, or to different categories of payment orders, cancellations, or amendments. A cut-off time may apply to senders generally or different cut-off times may apply to different senders or categories of payment orders. If a payment order or communication canceling or amending a payment order is received after the close of a funds-transfer business day or after the appropriate cut-off time on a funds-transfer business day, the receiving bank may treat the payment order or communication as received at the opening of the next funds-transfer business day.

(2) If this Article refers to an execution date or payment date or states a day on which a receiving bank is required to take action, and the date or day does not fall on a funds-transfer business day, the next day that is a funds-transfer business day is treated as the date or day stated, unless the contrary is stated in this Article.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-107. FEDERAL RESERVE REGULATIONS AND OPERATING CIRCULARS. Regulations of the board of governors of the federal reserve system and operating circulars of the federal reserve banks supersede any inconsistent provision of this Article to the extent of the inconsistency.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-108. EXCLUSION OF CONSUMER TRANSACTIONS GOVERNED BY FEDERAL LAW. This Article does not apply to a funds transfer any part of which is governed by the Electronic Fund Transfer Act of 1978 (Title XX, P.L. 95-630, 92 Stat. 3728, 15 U.S.C. Sec. 1693 et seq.) as amended from time to time.

"PART 2 ISSUE AND ACCEPTANCE OF PAYMENT ORDER"

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-201. SECURITY PROCEDURE. "Security procedure" means a procedure established by agreement of a customer and a receiving bank for the purpose of (1) verifying that a payment order or communication amending or canceling a payment order is that of the customer, or (2) detecting error in the transmission or the content of the payment order or communication. A security procedure may require the use of algorithms or other codes, identifying words or numbers, encryption, callback procedures, or similar security devices. Comparison of a signature on a payment order or communication with an authorized specimen signature of the customer is not by itself a security procedure.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-202. AUTHORIZED AND VERIFIED PAYMENT ORDERS. (1) A payment order received by the receiving bank is the authorized order of the person identified as sender if that person authorized the order or is otherwise bound by it under the law of agency.

(2) If a bank and its customer have agreed that the authenticity of payment orders issued to the bank in the name of the customer as sender will be verified pursuant to a security procedure, a payment order received by the receiving bank is effective as the order of the customer, whether or not authorized, if (a) the security procedure is a commercially reasonable method of providing security against unauthorized payment orders, and (b) the bank proves that it accepted the payment order in good faith and in compliance with the security procedure and any written agreement or instruction of the customer restricting acceptance of payment orders issued in the name of the customer. The bank is not required to follow an instruction that violates a written agreement with the customer or notice of which is not received at a time and in a manner affording the bank a reasonable opportunity to act on it before the payment order is accepted.

(3) Commercial reasonableness of a security procedure is a question of law to be determined by considering the wishes of the customer expressed to the bank, the circumstances of the customer known to the bank, including the size, type, and frequency of payment orders normally issued by the customer to the bank, alternative security procedures offered to the customer, and security procedures in general use by customers and receiving banks similarly situated. A security procedure is deemed to be commercially reasonable if (a) the security procedure was chosen the customer after the bank offered, and the customer refused, a security procedure that was commercially reasonable for that customer, and (b) the customer expressly agreed in writing to be bound by any payment order, whether or not authorized, issued in its name, and accepted by the bank in compliance with the security procedure chosen by the customer.

(4) The term "sender" in this Article includes the customer in whose name a payment order is issued if the order is the authorized order of the customer under subsection (1) of this section, or it is effective as the order of the customer under subsection (2) of this section.

(5) This section applies to amendments and cancellations of payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

(6) Except as provided in this section and section 4A-203(1)(a) of this act, rights and obligations arising under this section or section 4A-203 of this act may not be varied by agreement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-203. UNENFORCEABILITY OF CERTAIN VERIFIED PAYMENT ORDERS. (1) If an accepted payment order is not, under section 4A-202(1) of this act, an authorized order of a customer identified as sender, but is effective as an order of the customer pursuant to section 4A-202(2) of this act, the following rules apply.

(a) By express written agreement, the receiving bank may limit the extent to which it is entitled to enforce or retain payment of the payment order.

(b) The receiving bank is not entitled to enforce or retain payment of the payment order if the customer proves that the order was not caused, directly or indirectly, by a person (i) entrusted at any time with duties to act for the customer with respect to payment orders or the security procedure, or (ii) who obtained access to transmitting facilities of the customer or who obtained, from a source controlled by the customer and without authority of the receiving bank, information facilitating breach of the security procedure, regardless of how the information was obtained or whether the customer was at fault. Information includes any access device, computer software, or the like.

(2) This section applies to amendments of payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-204. REFUND OF PAYMENT AND DUTY OF CUSTOMER TO REPORT WITH RESPECT UNAUTHORIZED PAYMENT ORDER.

(1) If a receiving bank accepts a payment order issued in the name of its customer as sender which is (a) not authorized and not effective as the order of the customer under section 4A-202 of this act, or (b) not enforceable, in whole or in part, against the customer under section 4A-203 of this act, the bank shall refund any payment of the payment order received from the customer to the extent the bank is not entitled to enforce payment and shall pay interest on the refundable amount calculated from the date the bank received payment to the date of the refund. However, the customer is not entitled to interest from the bank on the amount to be refunded if the customer fails to exercise ordinary care to determine that the order was not authorized by the customer and to notify the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time not exceeding ninety days after the date the customer received notification from the bank that the order was accepted or that the customer's account was debited with respect to the order. The bank is not entitled to any recovery from the customer on account of a failure by the customer to give notification as stated in this section.

(2) Reasonable time under subsection (1) of this section may be fixed by agreement as stated in RCW 62A.1-204(1), but the obligation of a receiving bank to refund payment as stated in subsection (1) may not otherwise be varied by agreement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-205. ERRONEOUS PAYMENT ORDERS. (1) If an accepted payment order was transmitted pursuant to a security procedure for the detection of error and the payment order (a) erroneously instructed payment to a beneficiary not intended by the sender, (b) erroneously instructed payment in an amount greater than the amount intended by the sender, or (c) was an erroneously transmitted duplicate of a payment order previously sent by the sender, the following rules apply:

(i) If the sender proves that the sender or a person acting on behalf of the sender pursuant to section 4A-206 of this act complied with the security procedure and that the error would have been detected if the receiving bank had also complied, the sender is not obliged to pay the order to the extent stated in (ii) and (iii) of this subsection.

(ii) If the funds transfer is completed on the basis of an erroneous payment order described in (b) or (c) of this subsection, the sender is not obliged to pay the order and the receiving bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary any amount paid to the beneficiary to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(iii) If the funds transfer is completed on the basis of a payment order described in (b) of this subsection, the sender is not obliged to pay the order to the extent the amount received by the beneficiary is greater than the amount intended by the sender. In that case, the receiving bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary the excess amount received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(2) If (a) the sender of an erroneous payment order described in subsection (1) of this section is not obliged to pay all or part of the order, and (b) the sender receives notification from the receiving bank that the order was accepted by the bank or that the sender's account was debited with respect to the order, the sender has a duty to exercise ordinary care, on the basis of information available to the sender, to discover the error with respect to the order and to advise the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time, not exceeding ninety days, after the bank's notification was received by the sender. If the bank proves that the sender failed to perform that duty, the sender is liable to the bank for the loss the bank proves it incurred as a result of the failure, but the liability of the sender may not exceed the amount of the sender's order.

(3) This section applies to amendments to payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-206. TRANSMISSION OF PAYMENT ORDER THROUGH FUNDS-TRANSFER OR OTHER COMMUNICATION SYSTEM. (1) If a payment order addressed to a receiving bank is transmitted to a funds-transfer system or other third-party communication system for transmittal to the bank, the system is deemed to be an agent of the sender for the purpose of transmitting the payment order to the bank. If there is a discrepancy between the terms of the payment order transmitted to the system and the terms of the payment order transmitted by the system to the bank, the terms of the payment order of the sender are those transmitted by the system. This section does not apply to a funds-transfer system of the federal reserve banks.

(2) This section applies to cancellations and amendments of payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-207. MISDESCRIPTION OF BENEFICIARY. (1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, if, in a payment order received by the beneficiary's bank, the name, bank account number, or other identification of the beneficiary refers to a nonexistent or unidentifiable person or account, no person has rights as a beneficiary of the order and acceptance of the order cannot occur.

(2) If a payment order received by the beneficiary's bank identifies the beneficiary both by name and by an identifying or bank account number and the name and number identify different persons, the following rules apply:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (3) of this section, if the beneficiary's bank does not know that the name and number refer to different persons, it may rely on the number as the proper identification of the beneficiary of the order. The beneficiary's bank need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person.

(b) If the beneficiary's bank pays the person identified by name or knows that the name and number identify different persons, no person has rights as beneficiary except the person paid by the beneficiary's bank if that person was entitled to receive payment from the originator of the funds transfer. If no person has rights as beneficiary, acceptance of the order cannot occur.

(3) If (a) a payment order described in subsection (2) of this section is accepted, (b) the originator's payment order described the beneficiary inconsistently by name and number, and (c) the beneficiary's bank pays the person identified by number as permitted by subsection (2)(a) of this section, the following rules apply:

(i) If the originator is a bank, the originator is obliged to pay its order.

(ii) If the originator is not a bank and proves that the person identified by number was not entitled to receive payment from the originator, the originator is not obliged to pay its order unless the originator's bank proves that the originator, before acceptance of the originator's order, had notice that payment of a payment order issued by the originator might be made by the beneficiary's bank on the basis of an identifying or bank account number even if it identifies a person different from the named beneficiary. Proof of notice may be made by any admissible evidence. The originator's bank satisfies the burden of proof if it proves that the originator, before the payment order was accepted, signed a writing stating the information to which the notice relates.

(4) In a case governed by subsection (2)(a) of this section, if the beneficiary's bank rightfully pays the person identified by number and that person was not entitled to receive payment from the originator, the amount paid may be recovered from that person to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution as follows:

(a) If the originator is obliged to pay its payment order as stated in subsection (3) of this section, the originator has the right to recover.

(b) If the originator is not a bank and is not obliged to pay its payment order, the originator's bank has the right to recover.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-208. MISDESCRIPTION OF INTERMEDIARY BANK OR BENEFICIARY'S BANK. (1) This subsection applies to a payment order identifying an intermediary bank or the beneficiary's bank only by an identifying number.

(a) The receiving bank may rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank and need not determine whether the number identifies a bank.

(b) The sender is obliged to compensate the receiving bank for any loss and expenses incurred by the receiving bank as a result of its reliance on the number in executing or attempting to execute the order.

(2) This subsection applies to a payment order identifying an intermediary bank or the beneficiary's bank both by name and an identifying number if the name and number identify different persons.

(a) If the sender is a bank, the receiving bank may rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank, when it executes the sender's order, does not know that the name and number identify different persons. The receiving bank need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person or whether the number refers to a bank. The sender is obliged to compensate the receiving bank for any loss and expenses incurred by the receiving bank as a result of its reliance on the number in executing or attempting to execute the order.

(b) If the sender is not a bank and the receiving bank proves that the sender, before the payment order was accepted, had notice that the receiving bank might rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank even if it identifies a person different from the bank identified by name, the rights and obligations of the sender and the receiving bank are governed by subsection (2)(a) of this section, as though the sender were a bank. Proof of notice may be made by any admissible evidence. The receiving bank satisfies the burden of proof if it proves that the sender, before the payment order was accepted, signed a writing stating the information to which the notice relates.

(c) Regardless of whether the sender is a bank, the receiving bank may rely on the name as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank, at the time it executes the sender's order, does not know that the name and number identify different persons. The receiving bank need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person.

(d) If the receiving bank knows that the name and number identify different persons, reliance on either the name or the number in executing the sender's payment order is a breach of the obligation stated in section 4A-302(1)(a) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-209. ACCEPTANCE OF PAYMENT ORDER. (1) Subject to subsection (4) of this section, a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order when it executes the order.

(2) Subject to subsections (3) and (4) of this section, a beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order at the earliest of the following times:

(a) When the bank (i) pays the beneficiary as stated in section 4A-405(1) or (2) of this act or (ii) notifies the beneficiary of receipt of the order or that the account of the beneficiary has been credited with respect to the order unless the notice indicates that the bank is rejecting the order or that funds with respect to the order may not be withdrawn or used until receipt of payment from the sender of the order;

(b) When the bank receives payment of the entire amount of the sender's order pursuant to section 4A-403(1)(a) or (b) of this act; or

(c) The opening of the next funds-transfer business day of the bank following the payment date of the order if, at that time, the amount of the sender's order is fully covered by a withdrawable credit balance in an authorized account of the sender or the bank has otherwise received full payment from the sender, unless the order was rejected before that time or is rejected within (i) one hour after that time, or (ii) one hour after the opening of the next business day of the sender following the payment date if that time is later. If notice of rejection is received by the sender after the payment date and the authorized account of the sender does not bear interest, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the sender on the amount of the order for the number of days elapsing after the payment date to the day the sender receives notice or learns that the order was not accepted, counting that day as an elapsed day. If the withdrawable credit balance during that period falls below the amount of the order, the amount of interest payable is reduced accordingly.

(3) Acceptance of a payment order cannot occur before the order is received by the receiving bank. Acceptance does not occur under subsection (2)(b) or (c) of this section if the beneficiary of the payment order does not have an account with the receiving bank, the account has been closed, or the receiving bank is not permitted by law to receive credits for the beneficiary's account.

(4) A payment order issued to the originator's bank cannot be accepted until the payment date if the bank is the beneficiary's bank, or the execution date if the bank is not the beneficiary's bank. If the originator's bank executes the originator's payment order before the execution date or pays the beneficiary of the originator's payment order before the payment date and the payment order is subsequently canceled pursuant to section 4A-211(2) of this act, the bank may recover from the beneficiary any payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-210. REJECTION OF PAYMENT ORDER. (1) A payment order is rejected by the receiving bank by a notice of rejection transmitted to the sender orally, electronically, or in writing. A notice of rejection need not use any particular words and is sufficient if it indicates that the receiving bank is rejecting the order or will not execute or pay the order. Rejection is effective when the notice is given if transmission is by a means that is reasonable in the circumstances. If notice of rejection is given by a means that is not reasonable, rejection is effective when the notice is received. If an agreement of the sender and receiving bank establishes the means to be used to reject a payment order, (a) any means complying with the agreement is reasonable and (b) any means not complying is not reasonable unless no significant delay in receipt of the notice resulted from the use of the noncomplying means.

(2) This subsection applies if a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank fails to execute a payment order despite the existence on the execution date of a withdrawable credit balance in an authorized account of the sender sufficient to cover the order. If the sender does not receive notice of rejection of the order on the execution date and the authorized account of the sender does not bear interest, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the sender on the amount of the order for the number of days elapsing after the execution date to the earlier of the day the order is canceled pursuant to section 4A-211(4) of this act or the day the sender receives notice or learns that the order was not executed, counting the final day of the period as an elapsed day. If the withdrawable credit balance during that period falls below the amount of the order, the amount of interest is reduced accordingly.

(3) If a receiving bank suspends payments, all unaccepted payment orders issued to it are deemed rejected at the time the bank suspends payments.

(4) Acceptance of a payment order precludes a later rejection of the order. Rejection of a payment order precludes a later acceptance of the order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-211. CANCELLATION AND AMENDMENT OF PAYMENT ORDER. (1) A communication of the sender of a payment order canceling or amending the order may be transmitted to the receiving bank orally, electronically, or in writing. If a security procedure is in effect between the sender and the receiving bank, the communication is not effective to cancel or amend the order unless the communication is verified pursuant to the security procedure or the bank agrees to the cancellation or amendment.

(2) Subject to subsection (1) of this section, a communication by the sender canceling or amending a payment order is effective to cancel or amend the order if notice of the communication is received at a time and in a manner affording the receiving bank a reasonable opportunity to act on the communication before the bank accepts the payment order.

(3) After a payment order has been accepted, cancellation or amendment of the order is not effective unless the receiving bank agrees or a funds-transfer system rule allows cancellation or amendment without agreement of the bank.

(a) With respect to a payment order accepted by a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank, cancellation or amendment is not effective unless a conforming cancellation or amendment of the payment order issued by the receiving bank is also made.

(b) With respect to a payment order accepted by the beneficiary's bank, cancellation or amendment is not effective unless the order was issued in execution of an unauthorized payment order, or because of a mistake by a sender in the funds transfer which resulted in the issuance of a payment order (i) that is a duplicate of a payment order previously issued by the sender, (ii) that orders payment to a beneficiary not entitled to receive payment from the originator, or (iii) that orders payment in an amount greater than the amount the beneficiary was entitled to receive from the originator. If the payment order is canceled or amended, the beneficiary's bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary any amount paid to the beneficiary to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(4) An unaccepted payment order is canceled by operation of law at the close of the fifth funds-transfer business day of the receiving bank after the execution date or payment date of the order.

(5) A canceled payment order cannot be accepted. If an accepted payment order is canceled, the acceptance is nullified and no person has any right or obligation based on the acceptance. Amendment of a payment order is deemed to be cancellation of the original order at the time of amendment and issue of a new payment order in the amended form at the same time.

(6) Unless otherwise provided in an agreement of the parties or in a funds-transfer system rule, if the receiving bank, after accepting a payment order, agrees to cancellation or amendment of the order by the sender or is bound by a funds-transfer system rule allowing cancellation or amendment without the bank's agreement, the sender, whether or not cancellation or amendment is effective, is liable to the bank for any loss and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, incurred by the bank as a result of the cancellation or amendment or attempted cancellation or amendment.

(7) A payment order is not revoked by the death or legal incapacity of the sender unless the receiving bank knows of the death or of an adjudication of incapacity by a court of competent jurisdiction and has reasonable opportunity to act before acceptance of the order.

(8) A funds-transfer system rule is not effective to the extent it conflicts with subsection (3)(b) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-212. LIABILITY AND DUTY OF RECEIVING BANK REGARDING UNACCEPTED PAYMENT ORDER. If a receiving bank fails to accept a payment order that is obliged by express agreement to accept, the bank is liable for breach of the agreement to the extent provided in the agreement or in this Article, but does not otherwise have any duty to accept a payment order or, before acceptance, to take any action, or refrain from taking action, with respect to the order except as provided in this Article or by express agreement. Liability based on acceptance arises only when acceptance occurs as stated in section 4A-209 of this act and liability is limited to that provided in this Article. A receiving bank is not the agent of the sender or beneficiary of the payment order it accepts, or of any other party to the funds transfer, and the bank owes no duty to any party to the funds transfer except as provided in this Article or by express agreement.

"PART 3

EXECUTION OF SENDER'S PAYMENT ORDER BY RECEIVING BANK"

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-301. EXECUTION AND EXECUTION DATE. (1) A payment order is "executed" by the receiving bank when it issues a payment order intended to carry out the payment order received by the bank. A payment order received by the beneficiary's bank can be accepted but cannot be executed.

(2) "Execution date" of a payment order means the day on which the receiving bank may properly issue a payment order in execution of the sender's order. The execution date may be determined by instruction of the sender but cannot be earlier than the day the order is received and, unless otherwise determined, is the day the order is received. If the sender's instruction states a payment date, the execution date is the payment date or an earlier date on which execution is reasonably necessary to allow payment to the beneficiary on the payment date.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-302. OBLIGATIONS OF RECEIVING BANK IN EXECUTION OF PAYMENT ORDER. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2) through (4) of this section, if the receiving bank accepts a payment order pursuant to section 4A-209(1) of this act, the bank has the following obligations in executing the order.

(a) The receiving bank is obliged to issue, on the execution date, a payment order complying with the sender's order and to follow the sender's instructions concerning (i) any intermediary bank or funds-transfer system to be used in carrying out the funds transfer, or (ii) the means by which payment orders are to be transmitted in the funds transfer. If the originator's bank issues a payment order to an intermediary bank, the originator's bank is obliged to instruct the intermediary bank according to the instruction of the originator. An intermediary bank in the funds transfer is similarly bound by an instruction given to it by the sender of the payment order it accepts.

(b) If the sender's instruction states that the funds transfer is to be carried out telephonically or by wire transfer or otherwise indicates that the funds transfer is to be carried out by the most expeditious means, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order by the most expeditious available means, and to instruct any intermediary bank accordingly. If a sender's instruction states a payment date, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order at a time and by means reasonably necessary to allow payment to the beneficiary on the payment date or as soon thereafter as is feasible.

(2) Unless otherwise instructed, a receiving bank executing a payment order may (a) use any funds-transfer system if use of that system is reasonable in the circumstances, and (b) issue a payment order to the beneficiary's bank or to an intermediary bank through which a payment order conforming to the sender's order can expeditiously be issued to the beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank exercises ordinary care in the selection of the intermediary bank. A receiving bank is not required to follow an instruction of the sender designating a funds-transfer system to be used in carrying out the funds transfer if the receiving bank, in good faith, determines that it is not feasible to follow the instruction or that following the instruction would unduly delay completion of the funds transfer.

(3) Unless subsection (1)(b) of this section applies or the receiving bank is otherwise instructed, the bank may execute a payment order by transmitting its payment order by first class mail or by any means reasonable in the circumstances. If the receiving bank is instructed to execute the sender's order by transmitting its payment order by a particular means, the receiving bank may issue its payment order by the means stated or by any means as expeditious as the means stated.

(4) Unless instructed by the sender, (a) the receiving bank may not obtain payment of its charges for services and expenses in connection with the execution of the sender's order by issuing a payment order in an amount equal to the amount of the sender's order less the amount of the charges, and (b) may not instruct a subsequent receiving bank to obtain payment of its charges in the same manner.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-303. ERRONEOUS EXECUTION OF PAYMENT ORDER. (1) A receiving bank that (a) executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order in an amount greater than the amount of the sender's order, or (b) issues a payment order in execution of the sender's order and then issues a duplicate order, is entitled to payment of the amount of the sender's order under section 4A-402(3) of this act if that subsection is otherwise satisfied. The bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the erroneous order the excess payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

(2) A receiving bank that executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order in an amount less than the amount of the sender's order is entitled to payment of the amount of the sender's order under section 4A-402(3) of this act if (a) that subsection is otherwise satisfied and (b) the bank corrects its mistake by issuing an additional payment order for the benefit of the beneficiary of the sender's order. If the error is not corrected, the issuer of the erroneous order is entitled to receive or retain payment from the sender of the order it accepted only to the extent of the amount of the erroneous order. This subsection does not apply if the receiving bank executes the sender's payment order by issuing a payment order in an amount less than the amount of the sender's order for the purpose of obtaining payment of its charges for services and expenses pursuant to instruction of the sender.

(3) If a receiving bank executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order to a beneficiary different from the beneficiary of the sender's order and the funds transfer is completed on the basis of that error, the sender of the payment order that was erroneously executed and all previous senders in the funds transfer are not obliged to pay the payment orders they issued. The issuer of the erroneous order is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the order the payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-304. DUTY OF SENDER TO REPORT ERRONEOUSLY EXECUTED PAYMENT ORDER. If the sender of a payment order that is erroneously executed as stated in section 4A-303 of this act receives notification from the receiving bank that the order was executed or that the sender's account was debited with respect to the order, the sender has a duty to exercise ordinary care to determine, on the basis of information available to the sender, that the order was erroneously executed and to notify the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time not exceeding ninety days after the notification from the bank was received by the sender. If the sender fails to perform that duty, the bank is not obliged to pay interest on any amount refundable to the sender under section 4A-402(4) of this act for the period before the bank learns of the execution error. The bank is not entitled to any recovery from the sender on account of a failure by the sender to perform the duty stated in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-305. LIABILITY FOR LATE OR IMPROPER EXECUTION OR FAILURE TO EXECUTE PAYMENT ORDER. (1) If a funds transfer is completed but execution of a payment order by the receiving bank in breach of section 4A-302 of this act results in delay in payment to the beneficiary, the bank is obliged to pay interest to either the originator or the beneficiary of the funds transfer for the period of delay caused by the improper execution. Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, additional damages are not recoverable.

(2) If execution of a payment order by a receiving bank in breach of section 4A-302 of this act results in (a) noncompletion of the funds transfer, (b) failure to use an intermediary bank designated by the originator, or (c) issuance of a payment order that does not comply with the terms of the payment order of the originator, the bank is liable to the originator for its expenses in the funds transfer and for incidental expenses and interest losses, to the extent not covered by subsection (1) of this section, resulting from the improper execution. Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, additional damages are not recoverable.

(3) In addition to the amounts payable under subsections (1) and (2) of this section, damages, including consequential damages, are recoverable to the extent provided in an express written agreement of the receiving bank.

(4) If a receiving bank fails to execute a payment order it was obliged by express agreement to execute, the receiving bank is liable to the sender for its expenses in the transaction and for incidental expenses and interest losses resulting from the failure to execute. Additional damages, including consequential damages, are recoverable to the extent provided in an express written agreement of the receiving bank, but are not otherwise recoverable.

(5) Reasonable attorneys' fees are recoverable if demand for compensation under subsection (1) or (2) of this section is made and refused before an action is brought on the claim. If a claim is made for breach of an agreement under subsection (4) of this section and the agreement does not provide for damages, reasonable attorneys' fees are recoverable if demand for compensation under subsection (4) of this section is made and refused before an action is brought on the claim.

(6) Except as stated in this section, the liability of a receiving bank under subsections (1) and (2) of this section may not be varied by agreement.

"PART 4 PAYMENT"

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-401. PAYMENT DATE. "Payment date" of a payment order means the day on which the amount of the order is payable to the beneficiary by the beneficiary's bank. The payment date may be determined by instruction of the sender but cannot be earlier than the day the order is received by the beneficiary's bank and, unless otherwise determined, is the day the order is received by the beneficiary's bank.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 402. OBLIGATION OF SENDER TO PAY RECEIVING BANK. (1) This section is subject to sections 4A-205 and 4A-207 of this act.

(2) With respect to a payment order issued to the beneficiary's bank, acceptance of the order by the bank obliges the sender to pay the bank the amount of the order, but payment is not due until the payment date of the order.

(3) This subsection is subject to subsection (5) of this section and to section 4A-303 of this act. With respect to a payment order issued to a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank, acceptance of the order by the receiving bank obliges the sender to pay the bank the amount of the sender's order. Payment by the sender is not due until the execution date of the sender's order. The obligation of that sender to pay its payment order is excused if the funds transfer is not completed by acceptance by the beneficiary's bank of a payment order instructing payment to the beneficiary of that sender's payment order.

(4) If the sender of a payment order pays the order and was not obliged to pay all or part of the amount paid, the bank receiving payment is obliged to refund payment to the extent the sender was not obliged to pay. Except as provided in sections 4A-204 and 4A-304 of this act, interest is payable on the refundable amount from the date of payment.

(5) If a funds transfer is not completed as stated in this subsection and an intermediary bank is obliged to refund payment as stated in subsection (4) of this section but is unable to do so because not permitted by applicable law or because the bank suspends payments, a sender in the funds transfer that executed a payment order in compliance with an instruction, as stated in section 4A-302(1)(a) of this section, to route the funds transfer through that intermediary bank is entitled to receive or retain payment from the sender of the payment order that it accepted. The first sender in the funds transfer that issued an instruction requiring routing through that intermediary bank is subrogated to the right of the bank that paid the intermediary bank to refund as stated in subsection (4) of this section.

(6) The right of the sender of a payment order to be excused from the obligation to pay the order as stated in subsection (3) of this section or to receive refund under subsection (4) of this section may not be varied by agreement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-403. PAYMENT BY SENDER TO RECEIVING BANK. (1) Payment of the sender's obligation under section 4A-402 of this act to pay the receiving bank occurs as follows:

(a) If the sender is a bank, payment occurs when the receiving bank receives final settlement of the obligation through a federal reserve bank or through a funds-transfer system.

(b) If the sender is a bank and the sender (i) credited an account of the receiving bank with the sender, or (ii) caused an account of the receiving bank in another bank to be credited, payment occurs when the credit is withdrawn or, if not withdrawn, at midnight of the day on which the credit is withdrawable and the receiving bank learns of that fact.

(c) If the receiving bank debits an account of the sender with the receiving bank, payment occurs when the debit is made to the extent the debit is covered by a withdrawable credit balance in the account.

(2) If the sender and receiving bank are members of a funds-transfer system that nets obligations multilaterally among participants, the receiving bank receives final settlement when settlement is complete in accordance with the rules of the system. The obligation of the sender to pay the amount of a payment order transmitted through the funds-transfer system may be satisfied, to the extent permitted by the rules of the system, by setting off and applying against the sender's obligation the right of the sender to receive payment from the receiving bank of the amount of any other payment order transmitted to the sender by the receiving bank through the funds-transfer system. The aggregate balance of obligations owed by each sender to each receiving bank in the funds-transfer system may be satisfied, to the extent permitted by the rules of the system, by setting off and applying against that balance the aggregate balance of obligations owed to the sender by other members of the system. The aggregate balance is determined after the right of setoff stated in the second sentence of this subsection has been exercised.

(3) If two banks transmit payment orders to each other under an agreement that settlement of the obligations of each bank to the other under section 4A-402 of this act will be made at the end of the day or other period, the total amount owed with respect to all orders transmitted by one bank shall be set off against the total amount owed with respect to all orders transmitted by the other bank. To the extent of the setoff, each bank has made payment to the other.

(4) In a case not covered by subsection (1) of this section, the time when payment of the sender's obligation under section 4A-402 (2) or (3) of this act occurs is governed by applicable principles of law that determine when an obligation is satisfied.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-404. OBLIGATION OF BENEFICIARY'S BANK TO PAY AND GIVE NOTICE TO BENEFICIARY. (1) Subject to sections 4A-211(5), 4A-405(4), and 4A-405(5) of this act, if a beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order, the bank is obliged to pay the amount of the order to the beneficiary of the order. Payment is due on the payment date of the order, but if acceptance occurs on the payment date after the close of the funds-transfer business day of the bank, payment is due on the next funds-transfer business day. If the bank refuses to pay after demand by the beneficiary and receipt of notice of particular circumstances that will give rise to consequential damages as a result of nonpayment, the beneficiary may recover damages resulting from the refusal to pay to the extent the bank had notice of the damages, unless the bank proves that it did not pay because of a reasonable doubt concerning the right of the beneficiary to payment.

(2) If a payment order accepted by the beneficiary's bank instructs payment to an account of the beneficiary, the bank is obliged to notify the beneficiary of receipt of the order before midnight of the next funds-transfer business day following the payment date. If the payment order does not instruct payment to an account of the beneficiary, the bank is required to notify the beneficiary only if notice is required by the order. Notice may be given by first class mail or any other means reasonable in the circumstances. If the bank fails to give the required notice, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the beneficiary on the amount of the payment order from the day notice should have been given until the day the beneficiary learned of receipt of the payment order by the bank. No other damages are recoverable. Reasonable attorneys' fees are also recoverable if demand for interest is made and refused before an action is brought on the claim.

(3) The right of a beneficiary to receive payment and damages as stated in subsection (a) may not be varied by agreement or a funds-transfer system rule. The right of a beneficiary to be notified as stated in subsection (2) of this section may be varied by agreement of the beneficiary or by a funds-transfer system rule if the beneficiary is notified of the rule before initiation of the funds transfer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-405. PAYMENT BY BENEFICIARY'S BANK TO BENEFICIARY. (1) If the beneficiary's bank credits an account of the beneficiary of a payment order payment of the bank's obligation under section 4A-404(1) of this act occurs when and to the extent (a) the beneficiary is notified of the right to withdraw the credit, (b) the bank lawfully applies the credit to a debt of the beneficiary, or (c) funds with respect to the order are otherwise made available to the beneficiary by the bank.

(2) If the beneficiary's bank does not credit an account of the beneficiary of a payment order, the time when payment of the bank's obligation under section 4A-404(1) of this act occurs is governed by principles of law that determine when an obligation is satisfied.

(3) Except as stated in subsections (4) and (5) of this act, if the beneficiary's bank pays the beneficiary of a payment order under a condition to payment or agreement of the beneficiary giving the bank the right to recover payment from the beneficiary if the bank does not receive payment of the order, the condition to payment or agreement is not enforceable.

(4) A funds-transfer system rule may provide that payments made to beneficiaries of funds transfers made through the system are provisional until receipt of payment by the beneficiary's bank of the payment order it accepted. A beneficiary's bank that makes a payment that is provisional under the rule is entitled to refund from the beneficiary if (a) the rule requires that both the beneficiary and the originator be given notice of the provisional nature of the payment before the funds transfer is initiated, (b) the beneficiary, the beneficiary's bank and the originator's bank agreed to be bound by the rule, and (c) the beneficiary's bank did not receive payment of the payment order that it accepted. If the beneficiary is obliged to refund payment to the beneficiary's bank, acceptance of the payment order by the beneficiary's bank is nullified and no payment by the originator of the funds transfer to the beneficiary occurs under section 4A-406 of this act.

(5) This subsection applies to a funds transfer that includes a payment order transmitted over a funds-transfer system that (a) nets obligations multilaterally among participants, and (b) has in effect a loss-sharing agreement among participants for the purpose of providing funds necessary to complete settlement of the obligations of one or more participants that do not meet their settlement obligations. If the beneficiary's bank in the funds transfer accepts a payment order and the system fails to complete settlement pursuant to its rules with respect to any payment order in the funds transfer, (i) the acceptance by the beneficiary's bank is nullified and no person has any right or obligation based on the acceptance, (ii) the beneficiary's bank is entitled to recover payment from the beneficiary, (iii) no payment by the originator to the beneficiary occurs under section 4A-406 of this act, and (iv) subject to section 4A-402(5), each sender in the funds transfer is excused from its obligation to pay its payment order under section 4A-402(5), each sender in the funds transfer is excused from its obligation to pay its payment order under section 4A-402(3) of this act because the funds transfer has not been completed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-406. PAYMENT BY ORIGINATOR TO BENEFICIARY; DISCHARGE OF UNDERLYING OBLIGATION. (1) Subject to sections 4A-211(5), 4A-405(4), and 4A-405(5) of this act, the originator of a funds transfer pays the beneficiary of the originator's payment order (a) at the time a payment order for the benefit of the beneficiary is accepted by the beneficiary's bank in the funds transfer and (b) in an amount equal to the amount of the order accepted by the beneficiary's bank, but not more than the amount of the originator's order.

(2) If payment under subsection (1) of this section is made to satisfy an obligation, the obligation is discharged to the same extent discharge would result from payment to the beneficiary of the same amount in money, unless (a) the payment under subsection (1) of this section was made by a means prohibited by the contract of the beneficiary with respect to the obligation, (b) the beneficiary, within a reasonable time after receiving notice of receipt of the order by the beneficiary's bank, notified the originator of the beneficiary's refusal of the payment, (c) funds with respect to the order were not withdrawn by the beneficiary or applied to a debt of the beneficiary, and (d) the beneficiary would suffer a loss that could reasonably have been avoided if payment had been made by a means complying with the contract. If payment by the originator does not result in discharge under this section, the originator is subrogated to the rights of the beneficiary to receive payment from the beneficiary's bank under section 4A-404(1) of this act.

(3) For the purpose of determining whether discharge of an obligation occurs under subsection (2) of this section, if the beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order in an amount equal to the amount of the originator's payment order less charges of one or more receiving banks in the funds transfer, payment to the beneficiary is deemed to be in the amount of the originator's order unless upon demand by the beneficiary the originator does not pay the beneficiary the amount of the deducted charges.

(4) Rights of the originator or of the beneficiary of a funds transfer under this section may be varied only by agreement of the originator and the beneficiary.

"PART 5 MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS"

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-501. VARIATION BY AGREEMENT AND EFFECT OF FUNDS-TRANSFER SYSTEM RULE. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this Article, the rights and obligations of a party to a funds transfer may be varied by agreement of the affected party.

(2) "Funds-transfer system rule" means a rule of an association of banks (a) governing transmission of payment orders by means of a funds-transfer system of the association or rights and obligations with respect to those orders, or (b) to the extent the rule governs rights and obligations between banks that are parties to a funds transfer in which a federal reserve bank, acting as an intermediary bank, sends a payment order to the beneficiary's bank. Except as otherwise provided in this Article, a funds-transfer system rule governing rights and obligations between participating banks using the system may be effective even if the rule conflicts with the Article and indirectly affects another party to the funds transfer who does not consent to the rule. A funds-transfer system rule may also govern rights and obligations of parties other than participating banks using the system to the extent stated in sections 4A-404(3), 4A-405(4), and 4A-507(3) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-502. CREDITOR PROCESS SERVED ON RECEIVING BANK; SETOFF BY BENEFICIARY'S BANK. (1) As used in this section, "creditor process" means levy, attachment, garnishment, notice of lien, sequestration, or similar process issued by or on behalf of a creditor or other claimant with respect to an account.

(2) This subsection applies to creditor process with respect to an authorized account of the sender of a payment order if the creditor process is served on the receiving bank. For the purpose of determining rights with respect to the creditor process, if the receiving bank accepts the payment order the balance in the authorized account is deemed to be reduced by the amount of the payment order to the extent the bank did not otherwise receive payment of the order, unless the creditor process is served at the time and in a manner affording the bank a reasonable opportunity to act on it before the bank accepts the payment order.

(3) If a beneficiary's bank has received a payment order for payment to the beneficiary's account in the bank, the following rules apply:

(a) The bank may credit the beneficiary's account. The amount credited may be set off against an obligation owed by the beneficiary to the bank or may be applied to satisfy creditor process served on the bank with respect to the account.

(b) The bank may credit the beneficiary's account and allow withdrawal of the amount credited unless creditor process with respect to the account is served at the time and in a manner affording the bank a reasonable opportunity to act to prevent withdrawal.

(c) If creditor process with respect to the beneficiary's account has been served and the bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act on it, the bank may not reject the payment order except for a reason unrelated to the service of process.

(4) Creditor process with respect to a payment by the originator to the beneficiary pursuant to a funds transfer may be served only on the beneficiary's bank with respect to the debt owed by that bank to the beneficiary. Any other bank served with the creditor process is not obliged to act with respect to the process.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-503. INJUNCTION OR RESTRAINING ORDER WITH RESPECT TO FUNDS TRANSFER. For proper cause and in compliance with applicable law, a court may restrain (1) a person from issuing a payment order to initiate a funds transfer, (2) an originator's bank from executing the payment order of the originator, or (3) the beneficiary's bank from releasing funds to the beneficiary or the beneficiary from withdrawing the funds. A court may not otherwise restrain a person from issuing a payment order, paying or receiving payment of a payment order, or otherwise acting with respect to a funds transfer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-504. ORDER IN WHICH ITEMS AND PAYMENT ORDERS MAY BE CHARGED TO ACCOUNT; ORDER OF WITHDRAWALS FROM ACCOUNT. (1) If a receiving bank has received more than one payment order of the sender or one or more payment orders and other items that are payable from the sender's account, the bank may charge the sender's account with respect to the various orders and items in any sequence.

(2) In determining whether a credit to an account has been withdrawn by the holder of the account or applied to a debt of the holder of the account, credits first made to the account are first withdrawn or applied.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-505. PRECLUSION OF OBJECTION TO DEBIT OF CUSTOMER'S ACCOUNT. If a receiving bank has received payment from its customer with respect to a payment order issued in the name of the customer as sender and accepted by the bank, and the customer received notification reasonably identifying the order, the customer is precluded from asserting that the bank is not entitled to retain the payment unless the customer notifies the bank of the customer's objection to the payment within one year after the notification was received by the customer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4A-506. RATE OF INTEREST. (1) If, under this Article, a receiving bank is obliged to pay interest with respect to a payment order issued to the bank, the amount payable may be determined (a) by agreement of the sender and receiving bank, or (b) by a funds-transfer system rule if the payment order is transmitted through a funds-transfer system.
