It is comprised of eight legislators and five educational agency representatives (Office of the Governor, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, State Board of Education, Professional Educator Standards Board, & Department of Early Learning.) The QEC is required to annually report to the Legislature and the Governor.

Joint Select Committee on Education Accountability. The committee was created in statute in 2010 to examine accountability models in other states and identify options for a complete system of education accountability but is not to convene prior to May 1, 2012. It is comprised of eight legislators. The Committee must report to the Legislature and the Governor by September 1, 2012 and 2013.

Educational Opportunity Gap Oversight and Accountability Committee (EOGOAC). The EOGOAC was created to recommend policies and strategies to close the achievement gap. The partnership was created in 2009 and is tasked with determining the best methods of equipping students with the knowledge and skills they need to make decisions regarding their personal finances. The membership includes four legislators, four representatives from the private for-profit and nonprofit financial services sector, four teachers appointed by Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction with one each representing the elementary, middle, secondary, and postsecondary education sectors, a representative from the Department of Financial Institutions, and two representatives from OSPI.

PROJECT: Identifying Best Practices for Collaborative Public/Private Sector Trade Assistance

COMPLETION DATE: December 1, 2012

STAFF: Edward Redmond
786-7471

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: The Washington State Export Initiative, whose goal is to increase exports by 30 percent in five years, began in 2010 as a response to the National Export Initiative to double exports in the same time frame. In the 2011 legislative session, the state enacted various measures directed to meet this objective through trade promotion, training, and direct assistance to small and medium sized businesses (SMEs). The Community Economic Revitalization Board (CERB) received $3 million in state funding which the board awarded in the form of grants to various organizations to develop trade specific services for Washington State SMEs.

Due to budgetary restraints, there is increased interest in collaborating with private sector organizations to provide greater trade assistance to SMEs. Staff will (1) work with state agencies and trade organizations to identify the organizations and programs involved in the state's international trade efforts; (2) research best practices for government trade assistance services; and (3) provide a report to the Economic Development, Trade & Innovation committee regarding the findings of this research. Legislation will be drafted as appropriate.

Senate Energy, Natural Resources & Marine Waters Committee

Work Plan Summary – 2012 Interim

PROJECT: Fuel Mix Reports

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: William Bridges
786-7416

REFERENCES: SHB 1712 \(2012\), SHB 2783 \(2012\), SSB 5431\( 2012\), SSB 5510 \(2012\), SB 5809 \(2011\)

DESCRIPTION: In 2001, the Legislature started requiring each retail electric utility in the state to disclose its actual or imputed annual fuel mix used to generate electricity. Among other things, the disclosure must include the percentage attributable to each of the following generation sources: coal, hydroelectric, natural gas, nuclear, or other. The Department of Commerce (Commerce) administers the fuel mix reporting program.

During the 2011-12 legislative biennium, five bills were heard that would have amended the fuel mix reporting law: SHB 1712, SHB 2783, SSB 5431, SSB 5510, and SB 5809. Four of the bills concerned the reporting of null power, which is renewable electricity from which renewable energy credits have been separated. The remaining bill concerned the reporting of coal power that is generated from a plant that is transitioning to non-coal fuel. During the discussion of these bills, questions arose about the original purpose of the fuel mix reports and how the reports are currently used.

Senate committee staff will prepare a report on the fuel mix reporting program, which will examine the following: the legislative history of the law, previous evaluations of the program by Commerce, and how the collected fuel mix data is used by other agencies and entities.

PROJECT: Interconnection Standards

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: William Bridges
786-7416

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: In 2006, the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission (WUTC) adopted rules for interconnecting small electric generating projects to electrical systems owned by investor-owned utilities (IOUs). During the summer of 2011, the WUTC developed policy recommendations for promoting distributed generation in IOU service territories, including a recommendation that the WUTC initiate a rulemaking to consider changes to the interconnection rules. That rulemaking is now underway (WUTC Docket: UE-122133) and is focusing on reviewing rules to lower interconnection costs and accelerate the development of distributed generation systems, without unduly shifting costs between ratepayers or classes. Stakeholders have submitted comments on the proposed rules and the WUTC will hold workshops during the legislative interim to review and discuss the comments. The WUTC plans on issuing the final rules in December 2012. Senate committee staff will attend the workshops, monitor the progress of the rulemaking, and assist in the preparation of any draft legislation as directed.

PROJECT: Forest Fire and Health

For example, in 2007 SSB 6141 designated the Department of Natural Resources as the state lead in developing a comprehensive forest health program for the state and created a tiered advisory and regulatory system to address forest health issues. More recently, in November 2011 the Commissioner of Public Lands initiated a forest health hazard warning and convened a technical committee to provide recommendations on this threat and potential responses. Also, the 2012 supplemental operating budget initiated a study on mechanisms for reducing the amount of and variation in the state's fire suppression costs, including an examination of the state's fire suppression staffing costs and Oregon's fire suppression insurance program. Senate committee staff will monitor these and other relevant forest fire and health related activities and provide information, support, and drafting services to members as requested.

DESCRIPTION: A number of activities relating to marine waters issues will be ongoing during the 2012 interim. These include implementation of both 2SSB 6263 which modifies the framework for marine spatial planning as well as an associated 2012 operating budget proviso that provides an appropriation of $2.1 million for marine management planning. Activities under an interagency, public-private partnership established in December 2011 and known as the Washington Shellfish Initiative will continue, including work by the Ocean Acidification Blue Ribbon Panel. ## Work Plan Summary – 2012 Interim

PROJECT: Private Use of Global Positioning System (GPS) Devices

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Aldo Melchiori
786-7439

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: Several manufacturers produce GPS tracking devices for the use of private individuals. They can be placed on vehicles with or without the owner's or driver's knowledge. While the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that placement and use of these tracking devices by law enforcement constitutes a search, use by private individuals was not addressed. Staff will survey the other state's laws to determine whether and how these devices are regulated and whether the issue has been addressed by the courts. Legislation will be drafted as requested.

PROJECT: Body-Cameras and Sound Recordings by Law Enforcement

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Katherine Taylor
786-7434

REFERENCES: SB 6066 \(2012\)

DESCRIPTION: Currently, restrictions and requirements regarding intercepting, recording, or divulging private communication; intercepting private communication; intercepted communication in evidence; and violating the right to privacy do not apply to police, fire, emergency medical service, emergency communication center, and poison center personnel if the sound recordings correspond to video images recorded by video cameras mounted in law enforcement vehicles. A sound recording device that makes a recording must be operated simultaneously with the video camera when the operating system has been activated for an event.

Senate Bill 6066 (2012) provided that law enforcement officers may make sound recordings that correspond to video images recorded by video cameras actually worn by law enforcement officers (in uniform) in addition to those mounted in law enforcement vehicles. A question arose regarding a provision in the current statute that "no sound or video recording may be duplicated and made available to the public by a law enforcement agency until final disposition of any criminal or civil litigation which arises from the event or events which were recorded." It was unclear as to the extent to which this provision could prevent discovery (through the Public Disclosure Act or pretrial discovery) and possible use by an alleged victim of improper law enforcement action. In addition, clarification was sought regarding a recorded person's right to privacy in these situations.

Staff will survey the laws of other states and the federal law, as well as court decisions regarding the discovery and right to privacy issues. Legislation will be drafted as requested.

PROJECT: Child Access Prevention

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Aldo Melchiori
786-7439

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: There have been a number of instances in Washington where children have gained access to firearms stored in a manner that allowed the children to take them without the firearm owner's supervision. Approximately half of the states have child access prevention laws that hold adult firearm owners responsible when a child gains access to improperly stored weapons. Washington does not have a specific provision, but reckless endangerment charges have been successfully used in some circumstances. Staff will survey the specific child access prevention laws of other states and also research how the states without such laws address the issue. Legislation will be drafted as requested.

PROJECT: Cell Phone Tracking

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Aldo Melchiori
786-7439

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: Cell phones register their location with the network several times a minute and this function cannot be turned off while the phone is getting a wireless signal. Some cell phone companies store customers' location data for a period of time. For example, according to the U.S. Department of Justice, Sprint keeps location tracking records for 18-24 months, and AT&T holds onto them "since July 2008," suggesting they may be stored indefinitely. Yet none of the major cell phone providers disclose to their customers the length of time they keep their customers' cell tracking data. Some Washington law enforcement agencies have gained access to cell phone records for individuals without warrants. Some believe that requiring law enforcement to obtain a warrant before gaining access to cell phone records should be required, especially since the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in United States v. Jones, where a majority of the Supreme Court recently concluded that the government conducts a search under the Fourth Amendment when it attaches a GPS device to a car and tracks its movements. Staff will determine what current practice is in Washington and survey the applicable laws in other states and at the federal level. Legislation will be drafted as requested.

Work Plan Summary – 2012 Interim

PROJECT: Drayage Truck Drivers

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Edith Rice
786-7444

REFERENCES: SB 6461 \(2012\)

DESCRIPTION: Drayage truck drivers operating at Washington ports face a variety of challenges. Viewed as independent contractors by companies using their services they are often responsible for costly truck ownership, maintenance and operating expenses. These drivers do not benefit from coverage typically provided by employers for unemployment insurance, minimum wage standards, industrial safety and health standards or discrimination protection. For many drivers, the cost of being an independent contractor is not offset by adequate remuneration. Some view this as a misclassification of workers as independent contractors. Others view these drivers as independent contractors by choice - drivers who prefer the flexibility and independence that such work allows them. Other jurisdictions have attempted to address this disparity through legal challenges. Staff will research the unique elements which comprise this dilemma, related case law, and information about how other states have addressed such issues to provide background for legislators interested in addressing this issue.

---

PROJECT: Unemployment Insurance

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Mac Nicholson
786-7445

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: Washington's unemployment insurance (UI) system has provided significant benefits to Washington residents throughout the recent recession. However, due to changes in federal requirements and changes to employment indicators, the state's UI system will be distributing fewer benefits in the coming year and will need statutory changes to maintain federal conformity. Additionally, due to the length of the recession, thousands of residents have exhausted their UI benefits but are still unemployed or underemployed. The committee will work with the Employment Security Department and monitor development of policy to implement federal requirements and programs to serve residents who have exhausted their UI benefits.

PROJECT: Workers' Compensation

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Mac Nicholson
786-7445

REFERENCES: SSB 5801 \(2011\), EHB 2123 \(2011\)

DESCRIPTION: In 2011, the Legislature significantly reformed Washington's workers compensation system. Many new programs and policies took effect at the beginning of 2012, including the authority to use claims resolution structured settlement agreements. The committee will continue to monitor the implementation and use of the 2011 changes and work with the Department of Labor and Industries (L&I) and stakeholders to address unforeseen issues.

PROJECT: Self-Insured Employers

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Mac Nicholson
786-7445

REFERENCES: SB 5341 \(2012\)

DESCRIPTION: Qualified employers may self-insure for industrial insurance purposes. Self-insured employers typically contract with third party administrators (TPAs) to administer the employer's workers compensation system. The Ombudsman for Self-Insured Workers has repeatedly found that the failure of TPAs to timely pay authorized medical bills is a source of frustration for injured self-insured workers, as unpaid medical bills are sent to collection agencies. Legislation to address this issue was opposed by self-insured employers, who want to be sure they are paying only for authorized care, are concerned that medical providers may be billing the worker directly, and believe enforcement of current L&I policies would correct the problem. The committee will work with stakeholders to develop a solution to the issue of non-timely payment of medical bills by TPAs.

PROJECT: Liquor

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Edith Rice
786-7444

REFERENCES: I-1182, SHB 2959 \(2008\)

DESCRIPTION: Privatization. Privatization of the distribution and sale of liquor statewide is still in the implementation phase. Staff will provide an update on progress to date, as well as those aspects of privatization yet to be implemented or requiring legislative follow up.

In-state manufacturers (distilleries, wineries, breweries). Craft distillers of spirits have increased from zero to approximately forty in Washington State in the last four years. Some have compared craft distilleries' potential economic impact to that of the very successful Washington State wine industry. Staff will provide legislators with legal analysis around licensing issues relating to craft distillers.

Farmer's Markets - Legal definition of farmers market for purpose of sales or sampling of certain alcoholic beverages. Under current state law Washington wineries may offer wine samples and sell wine at certain farmers markets. Likewise, domestic breweries and microbreweries are permitted to sell their products at certain farmers markets. Not all farmers markets in Washington State meet the legal definition of a qualifying farmers market for the purpose of selling beer or wine. Although this issue is raised annually and the Liquor Control Board has suggested clarifying language, it remains unresolved. Staff will provide legislators with statutory and agency background and prepare legislative proposals as requested.

PROJECT: Collective Bargaining Processes in Washington

COMPLETION DATE: December 2012

STAFF: Ingrid Mungia
786-7423

REFERENCES: NA

DESCRIPTION: Committee staff will develop a primer to be distributed to committee members on public employee collective bargaining in Washington. The primer will cover the different federal and state collective bargaining laws and who bargains under them; what issues are able to be bargained; how the bargaining process works; how bargaining agreements are funded; how bargaining groups are created; and the Public Employment Relations Commissions' (PERC) role in collective bargaining.

PROJECT:                    Toll-Setting Governance Structure for Columbia River Crossing Project

COMPLETION DATE:    December 31, 2012

STAFF: Kim Johnson/Kelly Simpson
786-7472/786-7403

REFERENCES:            ESSB 6445 Sec. 4 \(2012\)

DESCRIPTION: During the 2012 regular session, the Legislature conditionally authorized tolls on the Interstate-5 Columbia River Crossing project (CRC project). As part of the authorizing legislation, the Washington Transportation Commission was permitted to enter into agreements with the Oregon Transportation Commission regarding the mutual or joint setting, adjustment, and review of toll rates for the CRC project. Given the construction and funding timelines published by the Washington State Department of Transportation, it is likely that the two state Commissions will engage in toll-setting governance discussions during the 2012 interim. Committee staff will monitor and report to legislators as necessary on the progress of the work of the two Commissions regarding proposed toll-setting structures. Additionally, STC staff will monitor the work of the Joint Transportation Committee's CRC project legislative oversight subcommittee as it relates to the toll-setting governance discussions.

PROJECT:                    Aviation Division Relocation and Search & Rescue Role Analysis

COMPLETION DATE:    December 2012

STAFF: Hayley Gamble
786-7452

REFERENCES:            [ESHB 2190-SEC. 204.5 & 212..2 \[vetoed\] \(2012\)](#)

DESCRIPTION: The 2011-2013 transportation budget directs the Joint Transportation Committee (JTC) to evaluate the most appropriate organization for the aviation search and rescue program, currently operating from the Department of Transportation's (DOT's) Aviation Division. Meetings will be held with individual stakeholders and all stakeholders will be invited to participate in group meetings in Olympia. The study will be supported by a staff workgroup comprised of staff from the JTC and House and Senate Transportation Committees. Additionally, although language directing DOT to submit a report on moving the Aviation Division headquarters from Arlington to Olympia was vetoed, a study and report on this issue are being conducted and will be completed prior to the next legislative session. Committee staff will participate in both the staff workgroup evaluating the search and rescue program and the review of the location of the Aviation Division headquarters, monitor these studies, and assist with draft legislation as appropriate.

PROJECT: REAL ID Act Compliance

COMPLETION DATE: January 01, 2013

STAFF: Kim Johnson
786-7472

REFERENCES: SSB 5087 \(2007\) C 85 L 07

DESCRIPTION: The REAL ID Act of 2005 (Act) prohibits Federal agencies from accepting a driver's license or personal identification card issued by a U.S. State for any official purpose unless the license or card has been issued by a state that meets the requirements set forth in the Act. The Act also authorizes the Secretary of Homeland Security to grant states extensions of time to meet the requirements of the Act if the state provides adequate justification for noncompliance. On January 29, 2008, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) promulgated a final rule implementing the requirements of the Act. The rule specifies what provisions must be in place in order for a state to be considered in "full compliance" with the Act and sets a deadline. DHS has extended the full compliance date a number of times since the Act passed. The current deadline is January 15, 2013. During some recent Congressional hearings, DHS indicated that it will not extend the full compliance date again. Washington is currently not in full compliance with the Act. Staff will monitor whether DHS or Congress takes any further actions to extend the full compliance deadline. Staff will also attend meetings and briefings by affected state agencies on REAL ID Act compliance. Staff will prepare any legislation requested by members to address compliance with the Act.
